EUROPE, having recovered from its war debauch, acts like a drunkard waking up next morning on the sawdust of the saloon floor. He looks reproachfully at the bartender and says: "You got all my money, now take care of me."

The bartender in the eyes of awakening Europe is old Uncle Sam. France and Germany are friends again. England and Germany are friends, but how they all hate this country!

H. G. WELLS' new book presents Englishmen of the Wells type striving in vain to solve the mystery of the American character, and "the queerness of the grayish-faced, slow-speaking Americans in gray who watch your face as they talk to you. They talk about themselves as we never do."

THEN hear D'Annunzio, always charming, replying to an American publisher who offered real money for the D'Annunzio autobiography.

First D'Annunzio tells how "the purgatory of myself exiled tortures my soul," then says he couldn't accept "an offer of gold, dazzling gold, jingling, vile gold, your American employers have authorized you to offer me in payment for the product of the soul of a poet.

"I say, never.

"Never will my writing be defiled by American gold."

That settles that, for the present,

WE NEED not take seriously a poet who says, "All Alpine peaks belong to me," while standing just now on the peak of foolishness.

But President Coolidge and others responsible for the welfare of the United States should know that the feeling of Europe generally is expressed accurately enough by D'Annunzio in these words:

"If I could interpret my feeling of hatred for America in terms of fire and flame, it would rise higher above ever the burning crater of the Vesuvius."

PROF. JEROME DAVIS of Yale reports an interesting talk with Stalin, the real ruler in Russia. Stalin says Russia is willing to pay the money that foolish American bankers lent to Kerensky. Stalin really should do nothing of the kind. Those childish bankers, grabbling at usurious interest rates and discounts, ought to digest that lesson.

They are now lending billions of the American people's money to various concerns in Europe. Many of those billions will never come back.

HOWEVER, that's another story. The important point made by Stalin is that it might pay the United States to be friendly with Russia. Stalin said "Russia now needs the United States. Possibly the day might come when the United States might need Russia's friendship."

HUGGINS, WITH BACK TO WALL, FIGHTS FOR TWO-ALL IN CLASSIC

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—As the Cardinals today held the one-game edge over the Yankees, betting odds took an overnight switch and St. Louis was on the heavy end of 4 to 3 to win the series. Plenty of local coin was in circulation at the bookies and in the hotels but the New Yorkers were reported to be taking up most of the bets offered.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Smiling skies, in thorough accord with the mood of all St. Louis this afternoon greeted the fourth game of the world series between the Cards and Yankees, an occasion that found the local larynx in excellent voice, and a knowing grin on every local face. The Cards, leading the series by two victories to one, seemed on the verge of achieving the goal of their heart's desire.

All they needed was an even break in the remaining four games to bring St. Louis its first and only world's title and odds of 1 to 3 freely offered and enthusiastically spurned, said they would do it.

So did the rampant, yammering crowd of 37,000. Having seen their Cardinals win the first world series game ever played in St. Louis, they were a bit inclined to wonder just how long this thing has been going on. After 38 years of pennantless baseball, it all seemed so absurdly simple now.

Hornsby Hints Reinhart.

In fact, the band best expressed the local idea when the Cards strolled out of their dugout at 11:45 o'clock. The musicians immediately burst a lusty lung on the strains of "I'm Sitting on Top of the World," and the boys were quite right. In fact, the only reservation the writer could suggest is that the world be made to include the New York Yankees. They had been thoroughly sat upon.

Fifteen hits had been their total in three games against Sherdel, Alexander and Haines and perhaps the end was not to be yet. Hornsby intimated early today that he was prepared to further befuddle the Yanks with Art Reinhart, a left-hander, although some of the intelligentsia were willing to wager that Hornsby really knew less about it than they did, which was all too little. They thought Flint Rhem would try to right-hand the situation and said so in that quiet, reserved tone mostly used by men selling fish.

Pennock Needs Rest.

Waite Hoyt was to be Miller Huggins' nominee, in spite of the fact that the young man yesterday pitched a ball game that will not appear on the records. He fought the bull, quiet, valiantly and well, down in the well-known pen, out along the right field lines.

However, Huggins' only alternative was to use Herb Pennock, winner of the series opener, and it was that Herbert felt the need of an extra day's repose. You know how it is; these young men bruise so easily.

The Cards made ready to receive Hoyt in the style to which he has become accustomed—at least this year—by using Vic Keen, a right-hand batter in batting practice. Hornsby greeted Victor with a sock into the left field bleachers.

Yanks Outsmarted.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Having done another Dempsey—that is to say, taken considerable punishment without a full count—the Yankees today face the necessity of rejuvenating themselves or passing out of the current world series ceremonies with brief dignity.

Plainly, the Yankees are on the ropes, they looked groggier than even the seasick Mr. Dempsey in those final innings yesterday. They did not exactly break out in a rash, in which Mr. Dempsey remains, Mr. Dempsey, alone and individual, but they might as well have.

Aside from Lazzeri and Joe Dugan, the Yanks lacked drive. They seemed to be waiting for the finishing punch. They went about their labors with lethargy in their manner and a far away look in their gentle young faces. There was little of the once dreaded murderers' row about them.

Supposed to be sure death to fast ball pitchers, they faced one of the fastest of fast ball pitchers and were outsmarted. They looked like they might have been facing the kind of fast ball pitching that makes great heroes and new home run kings in the one tube circuits—the kind of fast balling that is so called because they go back faster than they come up.

Jess Haines used his fast ball for one purpose—to waste it. His strikes were almost wholly knuckle balls and floaters, with a brisk curve slipped in here and there. When he used a fast ball, it was rarely in the alley. On the contrary, it was close to the noble forehead of some astonished Yankee, or safely out of range.

CAPITAL AND LABOR AT GRIPS IN BITTER FIGHT OVER OPEN SHOP IN INDUSTRIAL CITY OF DETROIT

DETROIT, Oct. 6.—With the Protestant churches and the Y. M. C. A. as the storm center, capital and labor were at grips today in their fight to determine whether this great industrial city shall continue as an open shop or become a unionized labor center.

This, the first storm to break the tranquility of the forty-sixth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor which convened here Monday, broke in its full fury last night when President William Green of the A. F. of L., openly charged that the churches of Detroit were dominated by the manufacturing interests of the community.

The fight to organize Detroit labor reached the convention floor today with the introduction of a resolution proposing the inauguration of a general organizing campaign in the automobile industry, 80 per cent of which is centered in and around this city. It was offered by James O'Connell of the metal trades department of the A. F. of L. It would authorize the federation officers to launch this drive "at the earliest possible date," calling a conference of all national and international unions to work out the plan of campaign. It went to the resolutions committee for report.

The storm has been brewing for three months or longer. It came to a head with the sudden closing of the church doors to spokesmen for organized labor, after they had been formally invited to occupy pulpits here next Sunday, and the calling off of a "progressive mass meeting for men" at which President Green was to speak under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon.

This action came close on the heels of President Green's opening convention address in which he declared war on "company unions" as the employers' substitute for trades unions and his assertion that the election of a union labor man as mayor of Detroit was evidence that the working people were not content with present labor conditions here.

Green's Attack.

Green's attack, taking the formal public statement, was inspired by published reports in Detroit earlier in the day that the invitations for the Sunday meeting had been recalled overnight. There had been no formal notification to labor leaders of this action. These "Labor Sunday" meetings, it was explained by federal spokesmen, had been arranged at the request and through the cooperation of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, carrying out a policy that had prevailed since the federation convention of 1921. The invitation to Green to address the Y. M. C. A. meeting was extended last July by L. M. Terrill, executive secretary of the local "Y" and reiterated within the last 10 days. The assignments of speakers for the church were ments of speakers for the churches were made by the federation of churches through the Detroit Ministerial association.

But throughout the summer and early fall the Detroit Board of Commerce, through its official organ "The Detroiter," has carried on a persistent campaign of publicity deprecating the coming of the labor convention to Detroit as a "disturber" of the "peaceful relations" prevailing here between employers and employes and charging that its real objective was to convert Detroit into a "closed shop" city.

Open Letter to Churchmen.

An open letter to churchmen of Detroit, promulgated through the Detroiter on Sept. 27, was released for newspaper publication by officials of the Board of Commerce as their reply to Green's statement. This letter called on churchmen to urge their ministers to close their doors to labor spokesmen or permit business men of the community to occupy the pulpits the following Sunday to rebut the labor arguments. The board of commerce, through its board of directors, declared:

"The industrial leaders of Detroit did not initiate this movement to bring their labor fight into Detroit's churches. We join with them in doubting the wisdom of making our churches debating grounds for such a subject."

Labor Chief's Statement.

Green in his statement asserted:

"It is surprising to learn that through the influence of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce and the Building Trades association the invitation to labor representatives to speak in

Pennock Needs Rest.

Waite Hoyt was to be Miller Huggins' nominee, in spite of the fact that the young man yesterday pitched a ball game that will not appear on the records. He fought the bull, quiet, valiantly and well, down in the well-known pen, out along the right field lines.

However, Huggins' only alternative was to use Herb Pennock, winner of the series opener, and it was that Herbert felt the need of an extra day's repose. You know how it is; these young men bruise so easily.

The Cards made ready to receive Hoyt in the style to which he has become accustomed—at least this year—by using Vic Keen, a right-hand batter in batting practice. Hornsby greeted Victor with a sock into the left field bleachers.

Yanks Outsmarted.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Having done another Dempsey—that is to say, taken considerable punishment without a full count—the Yankees today face the necessity of rejuvenating themselves or passing out of the current world series ceremonies with brief dignity.

Plainly, the Yankees are on the ropes, they looked groggier than even the seasick Mr. Dempsey in those final innings yesterday. They did not exactly break out in a rash, in which Mr. Dempsey remains, Mr. Dempsey, alone and individual, but they might as well have.

Aside from Lazzeri and Joe Dugan, the Yanks lacked drive. They seemed to be waiting for the finishing punch. They went about their labors with lethargy in their manner and a far away look in their gentle young faces. There was little of the once dreaded murderers' row about them.

Supposed to be sure death to fast ball pitchers, they faced one of the fastest of fast ball pitchers and were outsmarted. They looked like they might have been facing the kind of fast ball pitching that makes great heroes and new home run kings in the one tube circuits—the kind of fast balling that is so called because they go back faster than they come up.

Jess Haines used his fast ball for one purpose—to waste it. His strikes were almost wholly knuckle balls and floaters, with a brisk curve slipped in here and there. When he used a fast ball, it was rarely in the alley. On the contrary, it was close to the noble forehead of some astonished Yankee, or safely out of range.

CAPITAL AND LABOR AT GRIPS IN BITTER FIGHT OVER OPEN SHOP IN INDUSTRIAL CITY OF DETROIT

DETROIT, Oct. 6.—With the Protestant churches and the Y. M. C. A. as the storm center, capital and labor were at grips today in their fight to determine whether this great industrial city shall continue as an open shop or become a unionized labor center.

This, the first storm to break the tranquility of the forty-sixth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor which convened here Monday, broke in its full fury last night when President William Green of the A. F. of L., openly charged that the churches of Detroit were dominated by the manufacturing interests of the community.

The fight to organize Detroit labor reached the convention floor today with the introduction of a resolution proposing the inauguration of a general organizing campaign in the automobile industry, 80 per cent of which is centered in and around this city. It was offered by James O'Connell of the metal trades department of the A. F. of L. It would authorize the federation officers to launch this drive "at the earliest possible date," calling a conference of all national and international unions to work out the plan of campaign. It went to the resolutions committee for report.

The storm has been brewing for three months or longer. It came to a head with the sudden closing of the church doors to spokesmen for organized labor, after they had been formally invited to occupy pulpits here next Sunday, and the calling off of a "progressive mass meeting for men" at which President Green was to speak under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon.

This action came close on the heels of President Green's opening convention address in which he declared war on "company unions" as the employers' substitute for trades unions and his assertion that the election of a union labor man as mayor of Detroit was evidence that the working people were not content with present labor conditions here.

Green's Attack.

Green's attack, taking the formal public statement, was inspired by published reports in Detroit earlier in the day that the invitations for the Sunday meeting had been recalled overnight. There had been no formal notification to labor leaders of this action. These "Labor Sunday" meetings, it was explained by federal spokesmen, had been arranged at the request and through the cooperation of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, carrying out a policy that had prevailed since the federation convention of 1921. The invitation to Green to address the Y. M. C. A. meeting was extended last July by L. M. Terrill, executive secretary of the local "Y" and reiterated within the last 10 days. The assignments of speakers for the church were ments of speakers for the churches were made by the federation of churches through the Detroit Ministerial association.

But throughout the summer and early fall the Detroit Board of Commerce, through its official organ "The Detroiter," has carried on a persistent campaign of publicity deprecating the coming of the labor convention to Detroit as a "disturber" of the "peaceful relations" prevailing here between employers and employes and charging that its real objective was to convert Detroit into a "closed shop" city.

Open Letter to Churchmen.

An open letter to churchmen of Detroit, promulgated through the Detroiter on Sept. 27, was released for newspaper publication by officials of the Board of Commerce as their reply to Green's statement. This letter called on churchmen to urge their ministers to close their doors to labor spokesmen or permit business men of the community to occupy the pulpits the following Sunday to rebut the labor arguments. The board of commerce, through its board of directors, declared:

"The industrial leaders of Detroit did not initiate this movement to bring their labor fight into Detroit's churches. We join with them in doubting the wisdom of making our churches debating grounds for such a subject."

Labor Chief's Statement.

Green in his statement asserted:

"It is surprising to learn that through the influence of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce and the Building Trades association the invitation to labor representatives to speak in

MONTE BLUE IN BIG ROLE

In Warner Bros.' production of "Across the Pacific," directed by Roy Del Ruth, at the Ceramic theatre, Monte Blue plays one of the big, two-fisted, he-man roles in which he has gained such wide popularity.

Three dress-suit pictures followed "The Limited Mail" and "Hogan's Alley," and consequently Monte, who prefers the virile out-door work, was "rarin' to go" when the filming of "Across the Pacific" began.

The whole picture reflects his enthusiasm. Before it had been three days in production, that certain subtle something that presages a masterpiece was in the air. Frankly, it was turning out bigger than anyone had expected. In the first place, its theme is one of national interest and historical importance.

Adapted from the Charles D. Blaney story by Darry Zanuck, it tells with dramatic emphasis and sympathy the story of a Southern boy, divested of his estate and sweetheart, who enlists for the Spanish-American War. The greater part of the action occurs in the tropical setting of the Philippine Islands, where he is instrumental in ending the heroic insurrection of Aguinaldo.

Scenes of camp and campaign life alternate with his fight against the climate and the advances of a native girl to whom for strategic reasons he must finally make love in the face of his late betrothed.

Soul-struggles as mighty as the physical conflicts characterize this spectacle-melodrama, containing, in Charles Stevens, Myrna Loy, Jane Winton, Tom Wilson, Walter McGrail, Herbert Pryor, Ed Kennedy, Theodore Lorch, Sojin and others, the strongest supporting cast Blue has had.

TOWN TO HAVE ELASTIC PAVEMENTS; CAN BE ROLLED UP AND MOVED

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas.—Rolling up the pavements and putting them away for the night may be a joke in some parts of the country, but it will be a reality in this city, on the maturity of present paving plans, announced by C. Sam Robertson, manager.

Chicken wire pavements is the plan, and as the wire is laid a treatment of hot asphalt will be administered. Since the asphalt is elastic, if the necessity arise the pavement can be rolled up and removed.

Efficiency of the chicken wire paving was proven during the World War, when General Allenby moved his troops and transport trucks into Mesopotamia using this system of roads.

The chicken wire, with its asphalt covering, distributes the pressure of vehicles riding on it, and there is no possibility of a car sinking into the sand.

A strip about twenty mile long on the Padre Island reaches of the Ocean Beach driveway is to receive the treatment.

While there are more clerks than positions in Hawaii this season, there are fewer skilled workers than jobs.

The Love Thief

IT was only natural, perhaps, that Barbara's heart should beat a little quicker when she first met Norman Parish. To be sure, he told Barbara nothing about himself—but his brown eyes laughed so frankly, and he seemed so perfect a gentleman, that she had no suspicion he was not everything he seemed to be.

And then one night, when he came to her, his slow step and the wretched look in his eyes instantly told her that something was wrong. But she did not dream of the terrible drama that was about to unfold, and in which she was to play so tragic a part. Could Barbara have been warned in time, she might have been saved the crushing remorse and bitter sorrow that were to darken her life for many years to come.

Don't fail to read Barbara's story in the November issue of True Story Magazine. The story is complete, starting on page 31—and is only one of the 18 thrilling true-life narratives that appear in the November issue of this intensely interesting magazine.

Other Absorbing Features in November True Story Are:

"Cheaters"—A young wife, with too little to occupy her mind, Alice soon came to regard her search for diversion as a quite harmless but thrilling pastime. Certainly it was with no thought of wrong that she eagerly accepted the invitation of a woman acquaintance to take her to places of doubtful reputation where she could "see a little of life." But Alice's very eagerness was to lead her blindly into a most terrible situation, and was to teach her a lesson she can never forget. A powerful, thought-compelling true story.

Minister Praises True Story

If all publications that are now before the public received the careful scrutiny and thorough inspection that the Macfadden publications receive I am satisfied that there would soon be a great change for the better in home and community life. One of the greatest tasks of a rural minister's life is to combat the great evil that has been for years encroaching stealthily but surely upon the spiritual life of his people through the poisoning of the mind by indiscriminate reading.

May success attend your every effort for purer and cleaner living as you continue your good work of publishing the TRUTH.

Sincerely yours,
Rev. Walter E. Brooks
South Hamilton, Mass.

"Mad Love"—Like many another girl who is misled by the false glamour of a "movie" career, Ruth dreamed of the day when she would have the world at her feet. So with beauty and ambition as her sole capital, she set out to conquer fame in the studios. Of course, there could be only one result, and she might have profited by her defeat if she had not fallen madly in love with a popular screen idol. Today it is all like a terrible dream, which she feels will never be erased from her memory.

The Love Thief

IT was only natural, perhaps, that Barbara's heart should beat a little quicker when she first met Norman Parish. To be sure, he told Barbara nothing about himself—but his brown eyes laughed so frankly, and he seemed so perfect a gentleman, that she had no suspicion he was not everything he seemed to be.

And then one night, when he came to her, his slow step and the wretched look in his eyes instantly told her that something was wrong. But she did not dream of the terrible drama that was about to unfold, and in which she was to play so tragic a part. Could Barbara have been warned in time, she might have been saved the crushing remorse and bitter sorrow that were to darken her life for many years to come.

Don't fail to read Barbara's story in the November issue of True Story Magazine. The story is complete, starting on page 31—and is only one of the 18 thrilling true-life narratives that appear in the November issue of this intensely interesting magazine.

Other Absorbing Features in November True Story Are:

"Cheaters"—A young wife, with too little to occupy her mind, Alice soon came to regard her search for diversion as a quite harmless but thrilling pastime. Certainly it was with no thought of wrong that she eagerly accepted the invitation of a woman acquaintance to take her to places of doubtful reputation where she could "see a little of life." But Alice's very eagerness was to lead her blindly into a most terrible situation, and was to teach her a lesson she can never forget. A powerful, thought-compelling true story.

"Mad Love"—Like many another girl who is misled by the false glamour of a "movie" career, Ruth dreamed of the day when she would have the world at her feet. So with beauty and ambition as her sole capital, she set out to conquer fame in the studios. Of course, there could be only one result, and she might have profited by her defeat if she had not fallen madly in love with a popular screen idol. Today it is all like a terrible dream, which she feels will never be erased from her memory.

Minister Praises True Story

If all publications that are now before the public received the careful scrutiny and thorough inspection that the Macfadden publications receive I am satisfied that there would soon be a great change for the better in home and community life. One of the greatest tasks of a rural minister's life is to combat the great evil that has been for years encroaching stealthily but surely upon the spiritual life of his people through the poisoning of the mind by indiscriminate reading.

May success attend your every effort for purer and cleaner living as you continue your good work of publishing the TRUTH.

Sincerely yours,
Rev. Walter E. Brooks
South Hamilton, Mass.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1926.

Register Tomorrow

Thursday is registration day in East Liverpool, the only Columbiana county city which requires enrollment in order to qualify for a voice in the state, district and county election on Tuesday, Nov. 2.

Registration hours are: 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. and 5 to 10 P. M., city time.

Inasmuch as the enrollment on Sept. 30, the first day of registration, was comparatively light, registrars expect a busy day in the 21 precincts tomorrow.

Two more opportunities to register will be given. The other registration days are Oct. 15 and 16, but the wise voter will not defer the formality. If you are not qualified, place your name on the registration books tomorrow.

Canadian Smuggling

Smuggling between the United States and Canada is a two-way business. There may be more smuggling pressure in our direction, because our tariff rates are higher than Canada's, and there is always a special incentive for booze-running from the Dominion. But Canada herself has a tariff wall, however modest which she wants to maintain. Canada likewise seeks protection for her semi-arid provinces against American bootleg liquor.

So there is a "smuggling pact" being arranged between the two countries. Each will do its best to stop the evil at its source, interfering with the efforts of its own people to smuggle goods into the other country. There will be more careful scrutiny of bills of lading and slip clearance papers made out in Canada to protect the shipment of liquor across the border. There will be exchange of smuggling information. Patrol boats of either country may be permitted to chase rum runners in the other's waters. There may be a double border patrol.

There is no good reason why such a friendly arrangement cannot be made and carried out, between two countries which are probably the best international neighbors in the world. It should help both, in a practical way, while avoiding causes of friction and promoting their friendship.

Happy Tacoma

It is doubtful if the people of the Puget Sound region know what bad weather is, says the Tacoma Ledger. The day that Tacomans with a 40-degree temperature complained of cold, beyond the Cascades there was heavy snow. The Tacomans always have just enough rain to keep things fresh, without heavy downpours. The winter is cool enough to give nature a short rest, without damage to the plumbing.

"There are two things which sum up the attractions of Florida and California—scenery and climate. As a matter of fact, neither Florida nor California can ever approach Washington for scenery, while the Puget Sound region, with its absence of extremes of heat in summer and cold in winter, possesses a climate superior to that of either of its rivals.

"After all, may it not be possible that we are overlooking an important asset when we fail to tell the world what we have to offer in the way of scenic and climate-logical attractions?"

On a planet full of thunderbolts, cloudbursts, hurricanes and other forms of climatic turmoil, all, apparently seeking to do their worst, it is pleasant to know that somewhere people are not only at peace but happy about it. All right, Tacoma, we'll help you tell the world!

Lower Rents

In New York, where October first is moving day for thousands of people, there is great jubilation over the fact that rents are going down. True, they are only 2 per cent lower than this time last year, but every little helps.

In the country as a whole this 2 per cent average prevails. And the drop is six per cent since the peak of July, 1924. They are still, however, 75 per cent above pre-war figures. Whether this means the beginning of a definite decrease is hard to say. Possibly building has almost caught up in the cities which report the greatest decline in rent.

The home-owner does not have to worry about this phase of life a great deal, although if rents drop very much it means a corresponding depreciation in the value of his property. But the compensations of home-owning are great enough to offset that, when one considers the home as a setting for family life and not merely as a business investment. For the flat-dwellers, every drop is a boon.

The Thing To Study

Young people pondering in which branches of study to specialize, will do well to consider the foreign languages, especially French, Spanish, German and Italian.

The reason for this suggestion is that business interests in this country already are embarked upon a tremendous drive for foreign trade. Marked as the movement is, it is small in comparison to what will develop in the next few years. As a result there is already a demand for persons with some knowledge of foreign languages. The openings are many and varied. They will increase in number and variety as business expands.

It is a field as wide as the world, crowded with possibilities for interest, adventure and success. Happy the youth who fits himself to take advantage of it.

A SCANDAL IN THE FAMILY

A young Irishman whose family was scattered pretty well over the English-speaking portions of the globe emigrated to America. Soon after his arrival in New York he paid a visit to the Bronx zoo. He halted in front of a cage containing one of the largest kangaroos in captivity. After watching the curious creature for some time in an awed silence, he hailed a keeper.

"What's that thing?" he asked.

"That," said the keeper in his best professional manner, "is a marsupial mammal that carries its young in a pouch on its breast, lives on roots and herbs, can jump twenty feet at one leap, is able to knock a human being down with a kick from either hind leg, and is a native of Australia."

"For the love of Hiven!" cried the Irishman, bursting into tears, "Me sisther's married to wan of thim!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Something is happening to New York's serious drinkers. Even Broadway is tapering off. It may be fear of bad liquor or a sudden moral wave. Whatever it is the town is experiencing a spell of sobriety that is alarming bootleggers, the poor dears.

The supply is on hand, but takers are skittish. Dinner parties with no liquor are becoming common. A night club proprietor reports he has not seen a drunk in three weeks. He has been accustomed to "airing" a half dozen a night.

There has for some time been wild rumors of this boulevardier and that suddenly crumpling up in great agony to be rushed off to hospitals for serious operations. Also tales of girls found in a coma after a night's debauch.

Some of the stories are true and others are fiction, but apparently they have given the metropolis a serious fright. Within a very short time I have encountered four men who drank steadily and rather heavily who have been on the waggon for several months.

Three said "Doctor's orders." The fourth said he lost his job after a bad night. One historian accounts for it by explaining that most of the real hardy drinkers got their fill in Europe or Cuba this summer and are waiting the next jaunt.

Nobody seemed to think New York would slow up in its drinking of its own accord. There must, in their opinion, be some underlying cause. A gay time here is usually associated with popping corks and few seem to believe it could be accomplished without it.

It seems it has. A famous head waiter says diners are bringing less refreshments of a liquid nature. His explanation is that they are either slowing up or have run out of pre-war stuff. At any rate it is certain that all around town there is less drinking.

And comes news that one of the biggest executives in New York has a tea-urn on his desk in full view at all times. At four o'clock he brews himself a cup of tea and rests for ten minutes.

I never knew a man who had given up drinking who did not make himself a bit of nuisance with friends trying to influence them to join him in his dry pilgrimage. And when he falls from grace he is just as much a nuisance trying to get the same friends to join in his splash.

One man who quit drinking says he found no peace until he joined a new circle of associates. To them, when tempted, he would say: "I never drink," and afterward they never asked him.

Then there is the story of one stay-out who said to his companion of the evening: "It is a good thing our wives don't know where we were last night."

"It certainly is. Where were we?"

"I don't know."

Again I am told this imitation cider wine that bubbles to the top of delicately flanged glasses in supper clubs like champagne and is sold for $20 a bottle costs 28 cents a bottle in case lots. It has the potency of near beer but such is the power of suggestion that partakers grow thick tongued and staggery. And often promise chance ladies fur coats.

There is one thing a man enjoys more a little tipsy than sober. That is a recital of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." Slightly blotto it appears to be a mighty epic but cold sober—well, it seems terrible.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Economic Cost of British Coal Strike.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—Competent authorities have made careful studies of the effects and the economic cost of the British coal strike, one of the most thoroughly organized and intensively carried on strikes in the history of the English speaking people. Statements have been made to the effect that the cost of the strike will not be less than one billion dollars. In other words more than one fourth of the British war debt to the United States already has been cast aside in economic waste with no one apparently the better off for the extravagance and many much worse off.

But is is impossible to estimate with any even reasonable degree of accuracy the losses due to an extravagant expenditure by a single individual. A man may pay $75 for a suit of clothes when a $50 suit would have served his utilitarian purposes just as well. That difference of $25 conceivably might mean the difference between wealth and poverty. Saved, it might have enabled its owner to take advantage of some situation which would alter his economic and social life and status. Perhaps he might be found without railroad fare to seize an opportunity that would make him rich or happy or both. Such things have happened and will again.

Apply such a principle to a great number of people, in fact to a nation. The figures run much higher in such a case and also have an effect on the material well-being of every individual in the nation. The potentialities are more astounding and the certainty of loss is real. The individual may have conceivably been advantaged by the fact of his rich apparel. But a national expenditure which could have been avoided is a definite thing, an irretrievable loss.

This fascinating subject goes into many ramifications. It will be seen that had even a fraction of the loss to Great Britain as a nation, caused by the coal strike, been applied to payment on the loan due the United States, the American governmental financial condition would have been improved and the taxes of American citizens proportionately lowered.

Although political economy has as many sides as religion and as many opportunities for frank differences of opinion, many have the temerity to espouse the science and assert conclusions which usually must be guesses on account of the mutability and instability of human affairs. The miners state a strong humanitarian case. Conceivably the granting of all of their demands might produce condition of human contentment which could be regarded as worth the vast price paid.

Three highly important institutions have recently discussed the economic aspects of the British coal strike from, shall we say, the sidelines. They are the three largest banks in the world under private ownership and management: Barclays bank and the Midland bank, both of London, and the National City bank of New York; two British and one American.

Loss Not Merely Monetary.

The Midland bank declines to discuss in figures estimates of losses but contents itself with a sort of summary paragraph to its report saying:

"To start with a proposition to be proved, it may forthwith be laid down that the losses, leaving aside any psychological and similar effects, all resolve themselves into a wearing away of the standard of living of the population of this country, regarded as an economic unit, and that the reduction so effected may persist for a long period after a settlement has been reached. Indeed, it can truthfully be said that the standard of living may never be as high as it might have been had the effective relations between the miners and mine owners not been severed for so long a priod."

In its analysis the Midland bank asks how the cost of the World war could be figured and, in effect, if the enormity of the losses sustained could ever be even roughly estimated. The amounts of expenditures, paid out of loans and tax collections, are known but these presumably represent but a fraction of the true economic loss.

This analysis notes that four million persons are directly connected on the miners' side of the question. This does not include what mine owners lost through inability to meet the demand. Two million more of the working group of the nation are added to allow for employes of other industries which were required to suspend production entirely or sharply curtail it through inability to get coal or necessity of paying a high price for imported coal. All this is immediate loss and might in some crude manner be calculated within a few tens of millions. But the far greater loss is shown to be the potential one.

The statement invites attention to the fact that the business depression caused by the strike inevitably must curtail the revenues of the British government. This will mean a less favorable budget involving a slowing up of debt payment and a possible increase in taxation. Such an increase would fall less on the laboring men than on the middle salaried class who had nothing to do with the affair whatever. Further, it is pointed out, a reduction in investment of capital abroad is unavoidable because of the losses arising out of the strike. This will mean that what would have been a normal increase in the volume of interest income flowing back to Great Britain will not be realized. That must necessarily affect the balance of trade and slow up British efforts to add to her prosperity by expanding her overseas commerce. The bank goes on with arguments of special interest all to approximately the same effect.

Foreign Trade Affected.

Barclays bank takes up the foreign trade aspect ands hows that imports of raw materials in July last were 30,800,000 pounds sterling compared with 27,600,000 pounds sterling in July a year ago. This is shown to be accounted for by the strike. Great Britain had to pay out to other nations a greater sum of money because it was necessary to import coal and to import materials which could not be produced in adequate quantities at home because of the strike in the coal mines.

To this must be added that exports of British coal were negligible in July and coal has been one of the great iteems of British export bringing millions into the country from foreign countries and from ships touching at British ports and desiring bunker coal.

Barclays bank goes on to show the prostration of the great steel industry of the country. It states that in July there were but eleven blast furnaces in operation compared with 147 before the strike.

The National City bank suggests that probably one difficulty in the situation is that there are too many organizations on both the side of the miners and that of the mine owners. This American bank also says that there are too many mines and too many miners in Great Britain to make an harmonious industry easily possible. Incidentally, this is the opinion of many economists and government officials here regarding the American mining industry.

An interesting point is brought out by the statement that the necessity to import coal has diverted ships to that grade causing wasteful congestion in the shipment of the American grain crop abroad and in the shipment of other commodities to all parts of the world.

The National City bank does not attempt any estimate of the loss caused by the strike but does quote an illuminating figure. Tt shows that the injury to British trade is indicated by the fact that the gross earnings of the British railways have declined sixteen per cent since the strike began.

The bank philosophizes on the situation in the following terms:

"The common law of community life is that every one shall be self-supporting, adjusting himself to economic conditions from which the entire community is suffering, or to follow a course which aggravates those conditions, while deliberately leaving to others the task of safeguarding his own dependents from the effects."

The latter statement relates to the fact that millions have been sent by other nations for the relief of the miners' families.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1926.

Register Tomorrow

Thursday is registration day in East Liverpool, the only Columbiana county city which requires enrollment in order to qualify for a voice in the state, district and county election on Tuesday, Nov. 2.

Registration hours are: 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. and 5 to 10 P M., city time.

Inasmuch as the enrollment on Sept. 30, the first day of registration, was comparatively light, registrars expect a busy day in the 21 precincts tomorrow.

Two more opportunities to register will be given. The other registration days are Oct. 15 and 16, but the wise voter will not defer the formality. If you are not qualified, place your name on the registration books tomorrow.

Canadian Smuggling

Smuggling between the United States and Canada is a two-way business. There may be more smuggling pressure in our direction, because our tariff rates are higher than Canada's, and there is always a special incentive for booze-running from the Dominion. But Canada herself has a tariff wall, however modest which she wants to maintain. Canada likewise seeks protection for her semi-arid provinces against American bootleg liquor.

So there is a "smuggling pact" being arranged between the two countries. Each will do its best to stop the evil at its source, interfering with the efforts of its own people to smuggle goods into the other country. There will be more careful scrutiny of bills of lading and slip clearance papers made out in Canada to protect the shipment of liquor across the border. There will be exchange of smuggling information. Patrol boats of either country may be permitted to chase rum runners in the other's waters. There may be a double border patrol.

There is no good reason why such a friendly arrangement cannot be made and carried out, between two countries which are probably the best international neighbors in the world. It should help both, in a practical way, while avoiding causes of friction and promoting their friendship.

Happy Tacoma

It is doubtful if the people of the Puget Sound region know what bad weather is, says the Tacoma Ledger. The day that Tacomans with a 40-degree temperature complained of cold, beyond the Cascades there was heavy snow. The Tacomans always have just enough rain to keep things fresh, without heavy downpours. The winter is cool enough to give nature a short rest, without damage to the plumbing.

"There are two things which sum up the attractions of Florida and California—scenery and climate. As a matter of fact, neither Florida nor California can ever approach Washington for scenery, while the Puget Sound region, with its absence of extremes of heat in summer and cold in winter, possesses a climate superior to that of either of its rivals.

"After all, may it not be possible that we are overlooking an important asset when we fail to tell the world what we have to offer in the way of scenic and climate-logical attractions?"

On a planet full of thunderbolts, cloudbursts, hurricanes and other forms of climatic turmoil, all, apparently seeking to do their worst, it is pleasant to know that somewhere people are not only at peace but happy about it. All right, Tacoma, we'll help you tell the world!

Lower Rents

In New York, where October first is moving day for thousands of people, there is great jubilation over the fact that rents are going down. True, they are only 2 per cent lower than this time last year, but every little helps.

In the country as a whole this 2 per cent average prevails. And the drop is six per cent since the peak of July, 1924. They are still, however, 75 per cent above pre-war figures. Whether this means the beginning of a definite decrease is hard to say. Possibly building has almost caught up in the cities which report the greatest decline in rent.

The home-owner does not have to worry about this phase of life a great deal, although if rents drop very much it means a corresponding depreciation in the value of his property. But the compensations of home-owning are great enough to offset that, when one considers the home as a setting for family life and not merely as a business investment. For the flat-dwellers, every drop is a boon.

The Thing To Study

Young people pondering in which branches of study to specialize, will do well to consider the foreign languages, especially French, Spanish, German and Italian.

The reason for this suggestion is that business interests in this country already are embarked upon a tremendous drive for foreign trade. Marked as the movement is, it is small in comparison to what will develop in the next few years. As a result there is already a demand for persons with some knowledge of foreign languages. The openings are many and varied. They will increase in number and variety as business expands.

It is a field as wide as the world, crowded with possibilities for interest, adventure and success. Happy the youth who fits himself to take advantage of it.

A SCANDAL IN THE FAMILY

A young Irishman whose family was scattered pretty well over the English-speaking portions of the globe emigrated to America. Soon after his arrival in New York he paid a visit to the Bronx zoo. He halted in front of a cage containing one of the largest kangaroos in captivity. After watching the curious creature for some time in an awed silence, he hailed a keeper.

"What's that thing?" he asked.

"That," said the keeper in his best professional manner, "is a marsupial mammal that carries its young in a pouch on its breast, lives on roots and herbs, can jump twenty feet at one leap, is able to knock a human being down with a kick from either hind leg, and is a native of Australia."

"For the love of Hiven!" cried the Irishman, bursting into tears, "Me sisther's married to wan of thim!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Something is happening to New York's serious drinkers. Even Broadway is tapering off. It may be fear of bad liquor or a sudden moral wave. Whatever it is the town is experiencing a spell of sobriety that is alarming bootleggers, the poor dears.

The supply is on hand, but takers are skittish. Dinner parties with no liquor are becoming common. A night club proprietor reports he has not seen a drunk in three weeks. He has been accustomed to "airing" a half dozen a night.

There has for some time been wild rumors of this boulevardier and that suddenly crumpling up in great agony to be rushed off to hospitals for serious operations. Also tales of girls found in a coma after a night's debauch.

Some of the stories are true and others are fiction, but apparently they have given the metropolis a serious fright. Within a very short time I have encountered four men who drank steadily and rather heavily who have been on the waggon for several months.

Three said "Doctor's orders." The fourth said he lost his job after a bad night. One historian accounts for it by explaining that most of the real hardy drinkers got their fill in Europe or Cuba this summer and are waiting the next jaunt.

Nobody seemed to think New York would slow up in its drinking of its own accord. There must, in their opinion, be some underlying cause. A gay time here is usually associated with popping corks and few seem to believe it could be accomplished without it.

It seems it has. A famous head waiter says diners are bringing less refreshments of a liquid nature. His explanation is that they are either slowing up or have run out of pre-war stuff. At any rate it is certain that all around town there is less drinking. And comes news that one of the biggest executives in New York has a tea-urn on his desk in full view at all times. At four o'clock he brews himself a cup of tea and rests for ten minutes.

I never knew a man who had given up drinking who did not make himself a bit of nuisance with friends trying to influence them to join him in his dry pilgrimage. And when he falls from grace he is just as much a nuisance trying to get the same friends to join in his splash.

One man who quit drinking says he found no peace until he joined a new circle of associates. To them, when tempted, he would say: "I never drink," and afterward they never asked him.

Then there is the story of one stay-out who said to his companion of the evening: "It is a good thing our wives don't know where we were last night."

"It certainly is. Where were we?"

Again I am told this imitation cider wine that bubbles to the top of delicately flanged glasses in supper clubs like champagne and is sold for $20 a bottle costs 28 cents a bottle in case lots. It has the potency of near beer but such is the power of suggestion that partakers grow thick tongued and staggery. And often promise chance ladies fur coats.

There is one thing a man enjoys more a little tipsy than sober. That is a recital of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." Slightly blotto it appears to be a mighty epic but cold sober—well, it seems terrible.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Economic Cost of British Coal Strike.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—Competent authorities have made careful studies of the effects and the economic cost of the British coal strike, one of the most thoroughly organized and intensively carried on strikes in the history of the English speaking people. Statements have been made to the effect that the cost of the strike will not be less than one billion dollars. In other words more than one fourth of the British war debt to the United States already has been cast aside in economic waste with no one apparently the better off for the extravagance and many much worse off.

But is is impossible to estimate with any even reasonable degree of accuracy the losses due to an extravagant expenditure by a single individual. A man may pay $75 for a suit of clothes when a $50 suit would have served his utilitarian purposes just as well. That difference of $25 conceivably might mean the difference between wealth and poverty. Saved, it might have enabled its owner to take advantage of some situation which would alter his economic and social life and status. Perhaps he might be found without railroad fare to seize an opportunity that would make him rich or happy or both. Such things have happened and will again.

Apply such a principle to a great number of people, in fact to a nation. The figures run much higher in such a case and also have an effect on the material well-being of every individual in the nation. The potentialities are more astounding and the certainty of loss is real. The individual may have conceivably been advantaged by the fact of his rich apparel. But a national expenditure which could have been avoided is a definite thing, an irretrievable loss.

This fascinating subject goes into many ramifications. It will be seen that had even a fraction of the loss to Great Britain as a nation, caused by the coal strike, been applied to payment on the loan due the United States, the American governmental financial condition would have been improved and the taxes of American citizens proportionately lowered.

Although political economy has as many sides as religion and as many opportunities for frank differences of opinion, many have the temerity to espouse the science and assert conclusions which usually must be guesses on account of the mutability and instability of human affairs. The miners state a strong humanitarian case. Conceivably the granting of all of their demands might produce condition of human contentment which could be regarded as worth the vast price paid.

Three highly important institutions have recently discussed the economic aspects of the British coal strike from, shall we say, the sidelines. They are the three largest banks in the world under private ownership and management: Barclays bank and the Midland bank, both of London, and the National City bank of New York; two British and one American.

Loss Not Merely Monetary.

The Midland bank declines to discuss in figures estimates of losses but contents itself with a sort of summary paragraph to its report saying:

"To start with a proposition to be proved, it may forthwith be laid down that the losses, leaving aside any psychological and similar effects, all resolve themselves into a wearing away of the standard of living of the population of this country, regarded as an economic unit, and that the reduction so effected may persist for a long period after a settlement has been reached. Indeed, it can truthfully be said that the standard of living may never be as high as it might have been had the effective relations between the miners and mine owners not been severed for so long a priod."

In its analysis the Midland bank asks how the cost of the World war could be figured and, in effect, if the enormity of the losses sustained could ever be even roughly estimated. The amounts of expenditures, paid out of loans and tax collections, are known but these presumably represent but a fraction of the true economic loss.

This analysis notes that four million persons are directly connected on the miners' side of the question. This does not include what mine owners lost through inability to meet the demand. Two million more of the working group of the nation are added to allow for employes of other industries which were required to suspend production entirely or sharply curtail it through inability to get coal or necessity of paying a high price for imported coal. All this is immediate loss and might in some crude manner be calculated within a few tens of millions. But the far greater loss is shown to be the potential one.

The statement invites attention to the fact that the business depression caused by the strike inevitably must curtail the revenues of the British government. This will mean a less favorable budget involving a slowing up of debt payment and a possible increase in taxation. Such an increase would fall less on the laboring men than on the middle salaried class who had nothing to do with the affair whatever. Further, it is pointed out, a reduction in investment of capital abroad is unavoidable because of the losses arising out of the strike. This will mean that what would have been a normal increase in the volume of interest income flowing back to Great Britain will not be realized. That must necessarily affect the balance of trade and slow up British efforts to add to her prosperity by expanding her overseas commerce. The bank goes on with arguments of special interest all to approximately the same effect.

Foreign Trade Affected.

Barclays bank takes up the foreign trade aspect ands hows that imports of raw materials in July last were 30,800,000 pounds sterling compared with 27,600,000 pounds sterling in July a year ago. This is shown to be accounted for by the strike. Great Britain had to pay out to other nations a greater sum of money because it was necessary to import coal and to import materials which could not be produced in adequate quantities at home because of the strike in the coal mines.

To this must be added that exports of British coal were negligible in July and coal has been one of the great itsems of British export bringing millions into the country from foreign countries and from ships touching at British ports and desiring bunker coal.

Barclays bank goes on to show the prostration of the great steel industry of the country. It states that in July there were but eleven blast furnaces in operation compared with 147 before the strike.

The National City bank suggests that probably one difficulty in the situation is that there are too many organizations on both the side of the miners and that of the mine owners. This American bank also says that there are too many mines and too many miners in Great Britain to make an harmonious industry easily possible. Incidentally, this is the opinion of many economists and government officials here regarding the American mining industry.

An interesting point is brought out by the statement that the necessity to import coal has diverted ships to that grade causing wasteful congestion in the shipment of the American grain crop abroad and in the shipment of other commodities to all parts of the world.

The National City bank does not attempt any estimate of the loss caused by the strike but does quote an illuminating figure. Tt shows that the injury to British trade is indicated by the fact that the gross earnings of the British railways have declined sixteen per cent since the strike began.

The bank philosophizes on the situation in the following terms:

"The common law of community life is that every one shall be self-supporting, adjusting himself to economic conditions from which the entire community is suffering, or to follow a course which aggravates those conditions, while deliberately leaving to others the task of safeguarding his own dependents from the effects."

The latter statement relates to the fact that millions have been sent by other nations for the relief of the miners' families.

CITY OUTLINES LIGHT SYSTEM

Will Enter Into 10-year Contract With Company.

The city took its first step toward renewing its electric lighting system last night when council directed Safety-Service Director George P. Ashley to enter into a contract with the Ohio Power Co., for the installation of lights, subject to the approval of the board of control, and to include free lighting for the fire station, under existing arrangements.

The solons discussed lights and locations for nearly an hour, preparatory to outlining the proposed system.

"The people want light," Mayor W. L. Fogo told the solons," and they're entitled to it. They indicated, when they voted for a bond issue here not so long ago that they wanted light. The city owes the light company now only about $1,700 and when I first came in here, it was something like $12,000, so the city is in pretty good shape to go ahead with plans for extending our present system."

The power company's terms will call for a 10-year contract, with prices based on $50 annually for each 400 candlepower lamp, $40 for the 250 lamps and $25 for the 100 lamps.

Council, on the recommendation of the street and light committee, acted to notify property owners in Beech street to move holdings back off the street. In one instance, a garage is built into the street and on another property a fence extends out too far, solons said.

On a motion by Peters and Swearingen solons decided to call representatives of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., before the body to arrange for a franchise.

PATTON HEARING NEARING FINISH

Hearing of ouster proceedings against Mayor S. H. Patton, of Steubenville, alleged by 412 petitioners to have been lax in the performance of his duties, is expected to reach a conclusion late today when attorneys will lauch their final arguments.

Today's testimony was chiefly that of ministers and welfare workers who told of conducting private investigations into alleged illegal houses which they are seeking to prove were operated openly and with the permission of the mayor.

Another charge directed at the mayor was that he permitted an internationally known criminal to be discharged from custody before a case could be made against him.

Mayor Patton was expected to take the stand today and make a denial of all the charges.

MOTOR CRASHES INTO FARM WAGON

A Chandler touring car, driven by H. O. Means, this city, was badly damaged, and a farm wagon, driven by William Thorne, of Highlandtown, was partially demolished when the wagon was struck by the automobile last night at 7:30 o'clock, during a heavy rain, on the highway a short distance south of Highlandtown.

Means escaped unhurt although Thorne was bruised and shaken up. The latter was thrown from the wagon by the force of the collision and the wagon crashed against the horses.

Means was enroute to Salineville when the accident occurred. He asserted that the headlights of a machine approaching from the opposite direction temporarily caused him to lose sight of the road ahead, and, he claims, he was unable to perceive any lights on the wagon. When the latter vehicle came into his range of vision, he declares, he jerked on the brakes and skidded into the rear of the wagon.

WAGON TOPPLES OVER HILLSIDE

Floyd Warrick, Driver, Bruised and Shaken Up.

Floyd Warrick, 36 years old, of this city, narrowly escaped possible serious injury when he leaped from a rapidly moving milk wagon yesterday a few seconds before it toppled over the declevity at the top of the first turn in Highland avenue near the Whitacre residence.

Warrick was delivering milk for the Rosenberg Co., in the district and had left the horse and wagon in the street. The horse, for some reason, unknown, started off. It began to run and Warrick jumped onto the rear of the vehicle, grabbing the reins, in an effort to stop the horse. Realizing the possibility of a fall over the embankment, he leaped from the wagon, sustained injuries to his shoulder and bruises about his body and legs.

BOND ISSUE IS GIVEN O. K.

Solons Favor Passage of $45,000 Measure.

Wellsville city council last night went on record as unanimously approving the proposed $45,000 bond issue for the improvement of sewers and the purchase of a fire truck which will be put up to voters at the November election.

Councilmen were a unit in the opinion that the issue was one of the most needed in the city's history with conditions as they are at present.

The action followed a discussion of the conditions in the west end of the city where rain storms have played havoc with streets, sewers, and general property.

"Three thousand dollars will not touch that sewer work," asserted Councilman Nicholson, referring to improvements under way on the McQueen's Run job. "It's going to take lots of work and lots of money will be needed."

In a lengthy talk, Mayor Fogo described minutely progress that work crews, under his direction and that of Service Director Ashley, had made in their seven weeks' fight against the ravages of the storms.

Six weeks' work was washed away in the last of the heavy rainstorms, he said, the most destruction the city has ever experienced. McQueen's run sewer could have been kept open, he declared, by frequent cleanings in former years. He questioned whether the city had a right to go into property between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets to correct conditions there, but was advised by Solicitor Luccock that property owners in the locality would welcome relief measures.

Members of the O. N. O. club will be entertained on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. George Fassett, in Sixth street.

FIRE THWARTS MINE RESCUERS

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., Oct. 6.—Thwarted by fire and the danger of another explosion, rescue workers today admitted it may be days and even weeks before the bodies of 21 miners still remaining in the wrecked workings of the Roane Iron company's mine here can be recovered.

Although rescue crews worked steadily in two hour relays, no more bodies had been brought to the surface since early yesterday when six were recovered. The official death toll has been placed at 27 by company officials.

Owing to the danger of the fire said to be raging in the mine, the rescue crews were obliged to work slowly and cautiously.

Minneapolis Dry Men Make Great Record In Destroying Booze

Twenty-five distilleries, having two or more stills each were destroyed, while 5,411 gallons of moonshine were destroyed. Arrests by dry agents totalled 145, with seven made by state authorities, and 10 arrests by police on information given them by prohibition agents.

A total of 393 vats also were taken, together with 783 gallons of beer and 37 gallons of wine.

CITY OUTLINES LIGHT SYSTEM

Will Enter Into 10-year Contract With Company.

The city took its first step toward renewing its electric lighting system last night when council directed Safety-Service Director George P. Ashley to enter into a contract with the Ohio Power Co., for the installation of lights, subject to the approval of the board of control, and to include free lighting for the fire station, under existing arrangements.

The solons discussed lights and locations for nearly an hour, preparatory to outlining the proposed system.

"The people want light," Mayor W. L. Fogo told the solons," and they're entitled to it. They indicated, whe they voted for a bond issue here not so long ago that they wanted light. The city owes the light company now only about $1,700 and when I first came in here, it was something like $12,000, so the city is in pretty good shape to go ahead with plans for extending our present system."

The power company's terms will call for a 10-year contract, with prices based on $50 annually for each 400 candlepower lamp, $40 for the 250 lamps and $25 for the 100 lamps.

Council, on the recommendation of the street and light committee, acted to notify property owners in Beech street to move holdings back off the street. In one instance, a garage is built into the street and on another property a fence extends out too far, solons said.

On a motion by Peters and Swearingen solons decided to call representatives of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., before the body to arrange for a franchise.

PATTON HEARING NEARING FINISH

Hearing of ouster proceedings against Mayor S. H. Patton, of Steubenville, alleged by 412 petitioners to have been lax in the performance of his duties, is expected to reach a conclusion late today when attorneys will lauch their final arguments.

Today's testimony was chiefly that of ministers and welfare workers who told of conducting private investigations into alleged illegal houses which they are seeking to prove were operated openly and with the permission of the mayor.

Another charge directed at the mayor was that he permitted an internationally known criminal to be discharged from custody before a case could be made against him.

Mayor Patton was expected to take the stand today and make a denial of all the charges.

MOTOR CRASHES INTO FARM WAGON

A Chandler touring car, driven by H. O. Means, this city, was badly damaged, and a farm wagon, driven by William Thorne, of Highlandtown, was partially demolished when the wagon was struck by the automobile last night at 7:30 o'clock, during a heavy rain, on the highway a short distance south of Highlandtown.

Means escaped unhurt although Thorne was bruised and shaken up. The latter was thrown from the wagon by the force of the collision and the wagon crashed against the horses.

Means was enroute to Salineville when the accident occurred. He asserted that the headlights of a machine approaching from the opposite direction temporarily caused him to lose sight of the road ahead, and, he claims, he was unable to perceive any lights on the wagon. When the latter vehicle came into his range of vision, he declares, he jerked on the brakes and skidded into the rear of the wagon.

WAGON TOPPLES OVER HILLSIDE

Floyd Warrick, Driver, Bruised and Shaken Up.

Floyd Warrick, 36 years old, of this city, narrowly escaped possible serious injury when he leaped from a rapidly moving milk wagon yesterday a few seconds before it toppled over the declevity at the top of the first turn in Highland avenue near the Whitacre residence.

Warrick was delivering milk for the Rosenberg Co., in the district and had left the horse and wagon in the street. The horse, for some reason, unknown, started off. It began to run and Warrick jumped onto the rear of the vehicle, grabbing the reins, in an effort to stop the horse. Realizing the possibility of a fall over the embankment, he leaped from the wagon, sustained injuries to his shoulder and bruises about his body and legs.

BOND ISSUE IS GIVEN O. K.

Solons Favor Passage of $45,000 Measure.

Wellsville city council last night went on record as unanimously approving the proposed $45,000 bond issue for the improvement of sewers and the purchase of a fire truck which will be put up to voters at the November election.

Councilmen were a unit in the opinion that the issue was one of the most needed in the city's history with conditions as they are at present.

The action followed a discussion of the conditions in the west end of the city where rain storms have played havoc with streets, sewers, and general property.

"Three thousand dollars will not touch that sewer work," asserted Councilman Nicholson, referring to improvements under way on the McQueen's Run job. "It's going to take lots of work and lots of money will be needed."

In a lengthy talk, Mayor Fogo described minutely progress that work crews, under his direction and that of Service Director Ashley, had made in their seven weeks' fight against the ravages of the storms.

Six weeks' work was washed away in the last of the heavy rainstorms, he said, the most destruction the city has ever experienced. McQueen's run sewer could have been kept open, he declared, by frequent cleanings in former years. He questioned whether the city had a right to go into property between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets to correct conditions there, but was advised by Solicitor Luccock that property owners in the locality would welcome relief measures.

Will Entertain Club.

Visit in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Fred Lowary and Mrs. Faber Deemer, of First street, were Pittsburgh visitors yesterday.

FIRE THWARTS MINE RESCUERS

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., Oct. 6.—Thwarted by fire and the danger of another explosion, rescue workers today admitted it may be days and even weeks before the bodies of 21 miners still remaining in the wrecked workings of the Roane Iron company's mine here can be recovered.

Although rescue crews worked steadily in two hour relays, no more bodies had been brought to the surface since early yesterday when six were recovered. The official death toll has been placed at 27 by company officials.

Owing to the danger of the fire said to be raging in the mine, the rescue crews were obliged to work slowly and cautiously.

Minneapolis Dry Men Make Great Record In Destroying Booze

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—The Minneapolis prohibition department broke all records for activity in August when a total of 62,630 gallons of liquor mash was destroyed, according to an announcement by the prohibition administration enforcement chief here.

Twenty-five distilleries, having two or more stills each were destroyed, while 5,411 gallons of moonshine were destroyed. Arrests by dry agents totalled 145, with seven made by state authorities, and 10 arrests by police on information given them by prohibition agents.

A total of 393 vats also were taken, together with 783 gallons of beer and 37 gallons of wine.

Beware Warning Signals of Failing Glandular System

THOUSANDS of men and women are weak, worn-out, run down and exhausted, losing strength and losing weight, and fail to recognize the cause, which is often glandular insufficiency, or a weakened glandular system.

Glands exert a remarkable influence on normal health and vigor, according to eminent medical authorities, and when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Science now points a new way to vigorous health and vitality—glandular treatment. Now eminent physicians of this country and Europe prescribe glandular treatment for glandular insufficiency. Remarkable benefits result often in a short time.

If you are weak-worn-out and run down, week the thrill of vigorous health and vitality this new way.

"MEN OF STEEL" THRILL FILM

Milton Sills Stars in Picture at American.

Picture two men, helpless in a huge iron vat. High above them is a raving maniac manipulating the controls of a giant crane that is swinging a huge ladle filled with molten steel. He is swinging it slowly but surely toward the helpless men in the vat. His sole intent is to dump the molten mass on the heads of the two men who cannot escape. As the ladle approaches the men great masses of the liquid steel slop over and fall to the floor of the steel mill, spraying death to whoever steps in its path.

Milton Sills has the starring role in this picture. It is Sills and Victor McLaglen who are in the vat with death swing toward them.

"MEN OF STEEL" THRILL FILM

Milton Sills Stars in Picture at American.

Picture two men, helpless in a huge iron vat. High above them is a raving maniac manipulating the controls of a giant crane that is swinging a huge ladle filled with molten steel. He is swinging it slowly but surely toward the helpless men in the vat. His sole intent is to dump the molten mass on the heads of the two men who cannot escape. As the ladle approaches the men great masses of the liquid steel slop over and fall to the floor of the steel mill, spraying death to whoever steps in its path.

FORUM MEETING IS SCHEDULED

Wheeling presbytery will hold the first of the Educational Forum meetings planned by the board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian church of America in the First Presbyterian church of Moundsville, Tuesday, October 19.

The meeting will be attended by members of every Presbyterian church in the state. It will precede the annual state synodical to be held that evening in the Moundsville church. About 100 clergymen and elders from the three presbyteries of the state, Wheeling, Grafton and Parkersburg synods will be present at the all-day meeting.

The educational program to be launched at this meeting is considered the most forward step ever taken by the board of Christian Education and the committee on education of the presbytery. The religious education of young people from the primary classes through to those attending colleges and universities will be considered. Religious education has not advanced with secular education and the work to be inaugurated by the Presbyterian church marks a new era in the work of the church and will doubtlessly set the mark for all the other churches of America.

Rev. Charles H. McDonald, D. D., associate director of the department of men's work of the board of Christian Education, of Philadelphia will preside over the meeting and will deliver the opening address. A survey of the programs and needs of religious education in the churches of the Wheeling Presbytery is being made and will be an interesting part of the program of the session. The leading clergymen of the Presbyterian church in this state will be among the speakers.

PRIEST HITS SUNDAY GAMES

Rev. W. J. Sauer is Opposed to Football Fans' Plan.

Rev. W. J. Sauer, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic church, today in a communication to the Review-Tribune, declared against the playing of football here on Sunday. The communication follows:

"I always try to keep out of public disputes and I think my place for giving my opinion and making corrections is restricted to my pulpit, but, occasionally circumstances oblige me to make a public statement.

"A am quoted as being in favor of football on Sundays. I want to correct this error and before doing so I want to make clear my stand on games. I am not at all opposed to football and am not opposed to any game, private or public, as long as it is a clean game. Football on Sundays, I do not consider wrong in itself. It is what influence it has on people, I consider wrong. Any one interested in the game will have it in his mind, uppermost and, consequently, he has little or no time for the things that pertain to God and to the salvation of his soul. Christ said to His disciples, Matt. vi:24, 'No man can serve two masters for either he will hate one and love the other or he will cling to one and slight the other. Ye can not serve God and mammon.' Mammon means the worldly affairs.

"I do not belong to the Ministerial Association of Chester but I am with them absolutely in this matter and I shall do all in my power to prevent Chester from becoming a dumping place for things that desecrate the Lord's day. We work six days a week and one day is set aside for God and I believe in giving that day, undivided, to Him from whom we have everything that is good. I believe in a quiet Sunday in order to keep the minds of the people undisturbed and make them more apt to think of why man was created. I believe in working when it is time to work, play when it is time to play and give honor and glory to God on the day which was set aside by God Himself to receive honor and glory. I believe strongly in the word of Christ, 'Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's.'"

Christ said to His disciples, Matt. vi:24, 'No man can serve two masters for either he will hate one and love the other or he will cling to one and slight the other. Ye can not serve God and mammon.' Mammon means the worldly affairs.

"I do not belong to the Ministerial Association of Chester but I am with them absolutely in this matter and I shall do all in my power to prevent Chester from becoming a dumping place for things that desecrate the Lord's day. We work six days a week and one day is set aside for God and I believe in giving that day, undivided, to Him from whom we have everything that is good. I believe in a quiet Sunday in order to keep the minds of the people undisturbed and make them more apt to think of why man was created. I believe in working when it is time to work, play when it is time to play and give honor and glory to God on the day which was set aside by God Himself to receive honor and glory. I believe strongly in the word of Christ, 'Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's.'"

TENTS SHIPPED TO FLOOD ZONE IN ILLINOIS

Army Answers Call For Relief at Hillview.

LEVEES WRECKED

Rising River Sweeps Through Beardstown; 1,000 Homeless.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. — Army tents and stoves have been shipped to Hillview, Ill., for the relief of flood sufferers, the war department was advised today by Maj. Gen. William S. Graves, commanding general of the Sixth corps area with headquarters at Chicago.

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Oct. 6.—Streets of Beardstown today became swirling torrents as the water of the Illinois river swept with increased fury over the levees and into more than 90 per cent of the entire city. More than 1,000 persons are homeless. Beardstown is preparing for the worst flood in its history.

Fighting against time and the rising river, men labored through the night and early today, frantically loading and placing sand bags against the foundations, which have not as yet experienced the ravages of the 15-day rains.

Forecast More Rain.

Rain fell yesterday, last night and early today. The forecast is for more rain. A more disheartening spectacle has never been presented to the people here. Millions of dollars worth of property has been destroyed.

As a steady stream of homeless sought the headquarters of the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army, a call was sent out by Mayor M. H. Harris for additional tents and clothing supplies. Brig. Gen. John Andrews of the Peoria Salvation Army arrived today to take active charge of relief work.

Weather Forecaster Hayes of St. Louis stated that the water here would rise several inches above the height gained during the 1922 flood, which has served to prepare the city for a possible yearly visitation of water. The mark early today stood at 24.8 feet above normal.

Alleged Hit-skip Motorist Held for Death of Ohioan

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 6. — Lamont J. Kollar, 32, today was arrested and charged with having driven an automobile which killed Fred Steele, Monday, and causing injuries to Mrs. Steele which may result fatally.

Kollar did not stop when the accident occurred, police allege.

Stepdaughter Slain, Wife Wounded in Chicago Quarrel

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Michael Brennan, 55, was held in the county jail today following a domestic quarrel in the Brennan home during the course of which Brennan's stepdaughter was shot and killed and his wife probably fatally wounded. Brennan is charged with the shooting.

a number of the churches has been cancelled. It is difficult to believe that the churches in the city of Detroit would yield to such sinister influence. Neither the working people of this city nor the churches of this city can be free when they are subjected to the control of such selfish interests."

C. N. Van Dusen, president of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. admitted that the invitation to Green to address the "Y" meeting had been withdrawn. It was reported, though neither affirmed nor denied by "Y" officials, that this action followed a hurried board meeting after Green's speech on Monday. Included among the "Y" board members are former Senator Truman H. Newberry, Charles Beecher Warren, rejected by the U. S. senate for attorney general, because of his corporation connections; Howard Coffin, noted automotive and aircraft engineer and other Detroit leaders. President Van Dusen is general manager of the Kresge chain stores organization.

The church controversy today has overshadowed the work of the convention itself. While committees were working on their routine proceedings during the recess between noon yesterday and this morning, federation officials were centering their attention on this new problem that confronted them.

Because of the growth of motor busses in Assam, India, authorities there are considering the improvement of old roads which cannot withstand the present heavy traffic.

Two Autos Stolen; One Is Abandoned In Center Alley

Ford coupe, belonging to James O. Duffy, 821 Lincoln avenue, stolen while parked in front of his home last night, was found in Center alley near the playgrounds where it had been abandoned shortly befort noon today. today.

Carl Berg, Newell potter, notified police headquarters at 7 o'clock this morning that his Ford coupe had been stolen from its parking place near his home at 433 Thompson avenue, after midnight. It carried licenses plates number 244-286.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Stimulated by Judge Gary's forecast of an increase in incoming orders of the steel corporation and a continuation of good business in the country as a whole, the bulls in the stock market marked up prices two to three points on the representative railroad and industrial stocks in the first period today.

There was plenty of stock for sale at, or slightly under, the higher range of prices, and the buoyant opening movement did not carry very far. Steel common and General Motors received the most attention in the industrial list, while the Nickel Plate stocks and a few of the "investment rails" maintained a strong tone. Erie common and both issues of the preferred stock were heavy bought, on reports that the preferred stocks would be "taken care of" in the Van Sweringen merger.

Maintenance of the high rate of domestic business was shown by the report of car loadings for the week of September 25, a total of 1,182,940 cars having been loaded that week. The weekly crude oil production report of the Petroleum Institute was not favorable and oil stocks were again unsettled.

Continental Baking Class A, liberally offered by the professionals, declined five points to 56⅜ against the year's high at 95. The class B stock also reached a new low for the year at 9.

BISHOP BROWN AT MEET HERE

Galion Man Will Speak at Worker's Aid Rally.

Bishop William Montgomery Brown, Galion, who was expelled from the Episcopal church about a year ago on heresy charges, arrived here today for a meeting which will be held at the Ceramic Cafeteria hall, West Fifth street, at 8 o'clock tonight for the benefit of the striking English coal miners. His subject will be "Evolution and Revolution."

He will speak under the auspices of the East Liverpool branch of the International Workers' Aid, local labor organization. John Marshall, New York, who is visiting his former home in Leetonia, will preside at the meeting.

Bishop Brown came here from Salem, where he spoke last night. He said all funds collected at his meetings go to the relief of the English miners. Both men and women are invited to attend.

Trial of Bishop Brown, who was connected with the Episcopal church for approximately 44 years, upon charges of heresy attracted nation-wide attention. He said he had been recently consecrated as a bishop in the Old Catholic church.

The bishop will return to his home in Galion tomorrow to prepare for a speaking engagement which will take him to New York, Massachusetts and other eastern cities. Later he will tour Minnesota, Nebraska and other mid-western states.

Cesare Formichi, who will appear in the initial attraction, is a former member of the Chicago Civic Opera company. He began his career as a baritone soloist in the Lyric theatre in Milan. He next filled engagements in the principal opera houses in Italy, Barcelona, Madrid, Paris, Vienna and Buenos Aires. He is a versatile singer and his roles cover practically the entire range of opera.

His assistant, Miss Edith Mason, is also a former member of the Chicago Civic Opera company. She was a student at the Boston Conservatory, when she was called upon to take the place of the prima donna in a performance of "Pagliacci." Without previous rehearsal she sang the part with success.

Glenn Drake is a native of Iowa. While in college he was a leader in musical activities. In 1917 he enlisted with the United States army and served with distinction in France where he was known as "The Yankee Troubadour." He was discharged on European soil so that he might sing for the troops stationed in France.

He returned to the United States in 1920 and immediately entered the concert field.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK THREE—XIII.

He advanced into his room and took the thin stack of letters from the desk, skimming through them hopefully. He had reason to expect a check from home; that is to say, he had written beseeching one in a manner so fervent that he assured himself it could not fail of results. He read aloud, "Mr. Jock Hamill, Mr. Jock Hamill, Mr. Laurence Allen—from Sis, that won't help the poor and needy—Mr. Jock Hamill—"

He held this last missive off and surveyed it with truculence. It was unstamped, and bore no address. Just his roommate's name. The envelope was rimmed in black, and its flap had a black monogram—E B H in letters that caught hold of one another's toes like acrobats hanging from a trapeze.

"That dumb dame!" Bones grunted. "Why the devil won't she let him alone?" He brought the envelope to his nose and inhaled disgustedly. "All stink-o with perfume—"

He gave his own letter the cursory perusal young men invariably accord the communication of young ladies to whom they are related. Even Peg's declaration that she was contemplating matrimony failed to win from him more than a tolerant smile. Peg was always contemplating matrimony—merely contemplating. She had been engaged so many times during the course of her kaleidoscopic career that any such announcement had become as the ecelebrated cry of "Wolf! Wolf!"—and was so accepted by her family. "Of course," she wrote now, "you're saying, 'What, again?' and thinking this is just another laugh. But I'm serious. I really think it's going to take, this time. You don't know the victim, but he's Johnny Havens of New York and I learned about fiances from him" . . .

Bones tossed the scribbled sheets onto his chiffonier and began to disrobe. He wondered where Jock was. After a time he picked up the battered nickel alarm clock and leaned drunkenly against the caster of his bed and squinted at it. A relic, that alarm clock. One-legged, and with sketches and legends pock-marking its unglassed face. Just now one hand pointed to a lady with a corncob pipe in her mouth. The other pointed to "Andover 1918." This means that the hour lacked 15 minutes to 6.

Bones went to the door, his mouth opened wide to bellow his roommate's name. Encountering Pink Davis on the threshold, he closed it to the degree adapted to propinquity and said, "Seen Jock any place?"

"Not since noon," said Pink.

"Wonder where he is?"

"Still out with the streamline siren, I guess."

"The what? Who you talking about?"

"That's right, you didn't come in till afterward, did you?" Pink recollected. He sat down, hoisted his feet to a table and prepared for oratory "Say, you should have been here! We're all downstairs waiting for chow, when what should pull up out in front but Buckingham Palace on wheels containing a red-headed baby that would knock your eye out. In the midst of the riot that follows, Jock meanders in, takes one look, and dashes through the door like a bat out of hell. Seems she's a petting acquaintance of his, or what-have-you. Pretty soon he brings her back in with him, and a lot more redskins bite the dust. No foolin', Bones, she was bottled-in-bond stuff, and I don't mean maybe! She stayed a little while, talking to us, and then she and Jock rode off together. And nobody's seen him since."

Bones, who had been listening intently, now waggled a bent-back thumb in the direction of Yvonne's photograph. "That the one?"

"Oh, well, you knew how he is—mum's his middle name. He never said anything tto me either except to tell me her name—Yvonne Mountford—but he's certainly looked a bookfull.' Bones' eyes fell from the picture to the desk where the note from Eunice lay, a somehow flamboyant black-and-white square on the worn green blotter. "Humph!" he sneered as it under his breath.

A few minutes later Jock came in. They heard him approaching, whistling a tune—one of those modern tunes about blisses and kisses and happiness-this-is—and they winked jovially at one another. A college boy loves to tease, and here would be a rare distinguished opportunity. They rose simultaneously as Jock entered and they shook his hand with solemn and silent gusto.

"Gentlemen, I thank you," he said, equally solemn. "I do indeed. Your greeting warms the cockles of my heart, e'en while it bewilders me." He shrugged himself out of his coat and stood regarding them quizzically. "Have I been elected Dean of the college? I knew it was only a question of time—"

"Jock," interrupted Pink softly, "what kind of an afternoon did you have?"

Jock smiled, and rolled his eyes heavenward, over-emphasizing the rapture he felt to the point where it seemed caricature. "Ah!" he sighed. "You should ask me!"

"Where's the momma?" Bones wanted to know.

Pink burst into song. "'That red-head gal, la-de-da, la-de-da, she's got me worr-ried—'" He subsided, to add, "Ne'mind, Jock, I'm with you. You know how to pick 'em."

"Don't I, though?"

"I don't see how you do it," Pink continued. "I swear I don't. I was just saying to Bones before you came in, how does he do it, and Bones said, 'Why, it's his fatal beauty—"

Jock bowed his head approvingly to Bones. "Truest words you ever uttered, brother!" . . . Secretly he was restless and impatient, bored with this persiflage and the necessity of returning it in kind. He long to be by himself, alone with the new great glory that had risen in an hour from the ashes of an old ideal. He wanted to look into the mirror at the man whom Yvonne loved, and try to understand how she could. He wanted to think of the future. Of Yvonne belonging to him . . . not only saying that she would some day, but actually being his. It was a prospect to take the breath away like a keen wind in the face, to make his arms reach out suddenly and the blood leap and sing in the veins. . . . Maddening, to have to be facetious and light about it all for the sake of these two who watched eagle-eyed. Damn Pink Davis, anyway! "—that baby can use my toothbrush any time," Pink was now magnanimously declaring.

Jock sprawled in a chair and lit his pipe. "Any mail?" he inquired, to change the subject.

"Desk," said Bones succintly.

Two letters propped against the inkwell, and a third flat on the blotter. He picked this up and glowered, much as Bones had glowered at it some minutes earlier. "Now what?" he said to himself. He perceived that Bones was looking at him over his shoulder with eyes darkly round in a ruddy face. The eyes flickered meaningly toward Pink and back again. Jock, thus warned, pushed the note into his pocket, where it seemed to weigh heavily, with a weight amazing in such a flimsy thing.

Later, when Pink had departed, he took it out and slapped it thoughtfully against the palm of his hand. He could not have explained why, but he was loath to open it. "When did this come?" he asked.

"Found it when I got back from track," said Bones. He gesticulated with a hairbrush. "For criminy's sake, Jock, tell that female to lay off! How can you expect the chatter to pipe down as long as she calls up on the 'phone and sends you notes by special messenger?"

FORD RAILROAD PLAN ATTACKED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The plan of Henry Ford to consolidate the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad with the Detroit and Ironton was attacked today by minority stockholders of the former road in a brief filed with the interstate commerce commission. Examiners of the commission have already recommended that the plan be disapproved.

a number of the churches has been cancelled. It is difficult to believe that the churches in the city of Detroit would yield to such sinister influence. Neither the working people of this city nor the churches of this city can be free when they are subjected to the control of such selfish interests."

C. N. Van Dusen, president of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. admitted that the invitation to Green to address the "Y" meeting had been withdrawn. It was reported, though neither affirmed nor denied by "Y" officials, that this action followed a hurried board meeting after Green's speech on Monday. Included among the "Y" board members are former Senator Truman H. Newberry, Charles Beecher Warren, rejected by the U. S. senate for attorney general, because of his corporation connections; Howard Coffin, noted automotive and aircraft engineer and other Detroit leaders. REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Stimulated by Judge Gary's forecast of an increase in incoming orders of the steel corporation and a continuation of good business in the country as a whole, the bulls in the stock market marked up prices two to three points on the representative railroad and industrial stocks in the first period today.

There was plenty of stock for sale at, or slightly under, the higher range of prices, and the buoyant opening movement did not carry very far. Steel common and General Motors received the most attention in the industrial list, while the Nickel Plate stocks and a few of the "investment rails" maintained a strong tone. Erie common and both issues of the preferred stock were heavy bought, on reports that the preferred stocks would be "taken care of" in the Van Sweringen merger.

Maintenance of the high rate of domestic business was shown by the report of car loadings for the week of September 25, a total of 1,182,940 cars having been loaded that week. The weekly crude oil production report of the Petroleum Institute was not favorable and oil stocks were again unsettled.

Continental Baking Class A, liberally offered by the professionals, declined five points to 56⅜ against the year's high at 95. The class B stock also reached a new low for the year at 9.

BISHOP BROWN AT MEET HERE

Galion Man Will Speak at Worker's Aid Rally.

Bishop William Montgomery Brown, Galion, who was expelled from the Episcopal church about a year ago on heresy charges, arrived here today for a meeting which will be held at the Ceramic Cafeteria hall, West Fifth street, at 8 o'clock tonight for the benefit of the striking English coal miners. His subject will be "Evolution and Revolution."

He will speak under the auspices of the East Liverpool branch of the International Workers' Aid, local labor organization. John Marshall, New York, who is visiting his former home in Leetonia, will preside at the meeting.

Bishop Brown came here from Salem, where he spoke last night. He said all funds collected at his meetings go to the relief of the English miners. Both men and women are invited to attend.

Trial of Bishop Brown, who was connected with the Episcopal church for approximately 44 years, upon charges of heresy attracted nation-wide attention. He said he had been recently consecrated as a bishop in the Old Catholic church.

The bishop will return to his home in Galion tomorrow to prepare for a speaking engagement which will take him to New York, Massachusetts and other eastern cities. Later he will tour Minnesota, Nebraska and other mid-western states.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK THREE—XIII.

He advanced into his room and took the thin stack of letters from the desk, skimming through them hopefully. He had reason to expect a check from home; that is to say, he had written beseeching one in a manner so fervent that he assured himself it could not fail of results. He read aloud, "Mr. Jock Hamill, Mr. Jock Hamill, Mr. Laurence Allen—from Sis, that won't help the poor and needy—Mr. Jock Hamill—"

He held this last missive off and surveyed it with truculence. It was unstamped, and bore no address. Just his roommate's name. The envelope was rimmed in black, and its flap had a black monogram—E B H in letters that caught hold of one another's toes like acrobats hanging from a trapeze.

"That dumb dame!" Bones grunted. "Why the devil won't she let him alone?" He brought the envelope to his nose and inhaled disgustedly. "All stink-o with perfume—"

He gave his own letter the cursory perusal young men invariably accord the communication of young ladies to whom they are related. Even Peg's declaration that she was contemplating matrimony failed to win from him more than a tolerant smile. Peg was always contemplating matrimony—merely contemplating. She had been engaged so many times during the course of her kaleidoscopic career that any such announcement had become as the ecelebrated cry of "Wolf! Wolf!"—and was so accepted by her family. "Of course," she wrote now, "you're saying, 'What, again?' and thinking this is just another laugh. But I'm serious. I really think it's going to take, this time. You don't know the victim, but he's Johnny Havens of New York and I learned about fiances from him" . . .

Bones tossed the scribbled sheets onto his chiffonier and began to disrobe. He wondered where Jock was. After a time he picked up the battered nickel alarm clock and leaned drunkenly against the caster of his bed and squinted at it. A relic, that alarm clock. One-legged, and with sketches and legends pock-marking its unglassed face. Just now one hand pointed to a lady with a corncob pipe in her mouth. The other pointed to "Andover 1918." This means that the hour lacked 15 minutes to 6.

Bones went to the door, his mouth opened wide to bellow his roommate's name. Encountering Pink Davis on the threshold, he closed it to the degree adapted to propinquity and said, "Seen Jock any place?"

"Not since noon," said Pink.

"Wonder where he is?"

"Still out with the streamline siren, I guess."

"The what? Who you talking about?"

"That's right, you didn't come in till afterward, did you?" Pink recollected. He sat down, hoisted his feet to a table and prepared for oratory. "Say, you should have been here! We're all downstairs waiting for chow, when what should pull up out in front but Buckingham Palace on wheels containing a red-headed baby that would knock your eye out. In the midst of the riot that follows, Jock meanders in, takes one look, and dashes through the door like a bat out of hell. Seems she's a petting acquaintance of his, or what-have-you. Pretty soon he brings her back in with him, and a lot more redskins bite the dust. No foolin', Bones, she was bottled-in-bond stuff, and I don't mean maybe! She stayed a little while, talking to us, and then she and Jock rode off together. And nobody's seen him since."

Bones, who had been listening intently, now waggled a bent-back thumb in the direction of Yvonne's photograph. "That the one?"

"Oh, well, you knew how he is—mum's his middle name. He never said anything tto me either except to tell me her name—Yvonne Mountford—but he's certainly looked a bookfull.' Bones' eyes fell from the picture to the desk where the note from Eunice lay, a somehow flamboyant black-and-white square on the worn green blotter. "Humph!" he sneered as it under his breath.

A few minutes later Jock came in. They heard him approaching, whistling a tune—one of those modern tunes about blisses and kisses and happiness-this-is—and they winked jovially at one another. A college boy loves to tease, and here would be a rare distinguished opportunity. They rose simultaneously as Jock entered and they shook his hand with solemn and silent gusto.

"Gentlemen, I thank you," he said, equally solemn. "I do indeed. Your greeting warms the cockles of my heart, e'en while it bewilders me." He shrugged himself out of his coat and stood regarding them quizzically. "Have I been elected Dean of the college? I knew it was only a question of time—"

"Jock," interrupted Pink softly, "what kind of an afternoon did you have?"

Jock smiled, and rolled his eyes heavenward, over-emphasizing the rapture he felt to the point where it seemed caricature. "Ah!" he sighed. "You should ask me!"

"Where's the momma?" Bones wanted to know.

Pink burst into song. "'That red-head gal, la-de-da, la-de-da, she's got me worr-ried—'" He subsided, to add, "Ne'mind, Jock, I'm with you. You know how to pick 'em."

"Don't I, though?"

"I don't see how you do it," Pink continued. "I swear I don't. I was just saying to Bones before you came in, how does he do it, and Bones said, 'Why, it's his fatal beauty—'"

Jock bowed his head approvingly to Bones. "Truest words you ever uttered, brother!" . . . Secretly he was restless and impatient, bored with this persiflage and the necessity of returning it in kind. He long to be by himself, alone with the new great glory that had risen in an hour from the ashes of an old ideal. He wanted to look into the mirror at the man whom Yvonne loved, and try to understand how she could. He wanted to think of the future. Of Yvonne belonging to him . . . not only saying that she would some day, but actually being his. It was a prospect to take the breath away like a keen wind in the face, to make his arms reach out suddenly and the blood leap and sing in the veins. . . . Maddening, to have to be facetious and light about it all for the sake of these two who watched eagle-eyed. Damn Pink Davis, anyway! "—that baby can use my toothbrush any time," Pink was now magnanimously declaring.

Jock sprawled in a chair and lit his pipe. "Any mail?" he inquired, to change the subject.

"Desk," said Bones succintly.

Two letters propped against the inkwell, and a third flat on the blotter. He picked this up and glowered, much as Bones had glowered at it some minutes earlier. "Now what?" he said to himself. He perceived that Bones was looking at him over his shoulder with eyes darkly round in a ruddy face. The eyes flickered meaningly toward Pink and back again. Jock, thus warned, pushed the note into his pocket, where it seemed to weigh heavily, with a weight amazing in such a flimsy thing.

Later, when Pink had departed, he took it out and slapped it thoughtfully against the palm of his hand. He could not have explained why, but he was loath to open it. "When did this come?" he asked.

"Found it when I got back from track," said Bones. He gesticulated with a hairbrush. "For criminy's sake, Jock, tell that female to lay off! How can you expect the chatter to pipe down as long as she calls up on the 'phone and sends you notes by special messenger?"

Yank Bats Still In 'Hock' As Cards Become 2-1 Favorites

Breadon Won't Come Out Until Fans Forget Series Tickets

"Only 35,000" Could Get in Yesterday; "Umps" Hildebrand Makes Certain About Rain This Time; Shawkey Great Relief Pitcher—"Relief" to Yankees When He Leaves Game.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Remembering the general irritation that followed when last he had seen fit to call a world series game, Umpire Hildebrand sought counsel when he seemed necessary to halt proceedings in the fourth inning. He knew it was raining but the last time he thought he knew it was dark, so it was his desire not to appear over confident.

Haines just used that fast one often enough to show the boys that he had it. He didn't want them to be getting any false impressions.

Sam Breadon expects to appear on the public highways again some time after the first of the year. By that time, disappointed ticket seekers will be busy with something important, like trying to remember the name of the man who sang tenor at the grocers' picnic a year ago last August.

The half hour interruption might have done Haines' arm practically no good but the Yanks declined to investigate. They went after the first ball when play was resumed.

Shawkey has proved a great relief pitcher. It has been a great relief to the Cardinals every time he has left the pastime.

John McGraw spent the afternoon trying to radiate good cheer in the press box. It couldn't be done. Billy Southworth still was making base hits.

Huggins doesn't change his mind any more than an actor changes his clothes. First Hoyt warmed up, then Shawkey, next Thomas, then Shawkey again and finally Hoyt.

The Cardinals supplied souvenir score cards drafted for the benefit of Singer's Midgets. One could read the thing with great surety at a distance of 6¾ inches.

They waited with much patience and Koenig finally rewarded them by throwing one away. The young man owes himself at least three more.

Hornsby was not very worried about Haines when he passed Paschal to open the eighth. All Rogers did was to spend the next five minutes wondering whether he should shoot Haines or himself.

He finally arrived at the proper conclusion. He did neither.

St. Louis apparently can turn its civic emotion on and off like a faucet. It romps all over the place until 11:30 and then goes quietly and sanely to bed. A lot of smart men haven't learned that trick yet.

RAIN HOLDS UP CHICAGO SERIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The baseball championship of Chicago still hung in the balance today as the White Sox and Cubs, together with a host of breathless fans, were praying for fair weather and a chance to end the suspense.

The sixth game, scheduled for yesterday, was won by Jupe Pluvious who pitched a shutout. The rain spoiled the White Sox's chance to end the series. They have won three games and the Cubs have won two.

Today's game is scheduled for Comiskey park, home of the White Sox. If Collins' crew wins it will be all over but the "I told you sos."

HAS GOOD WORD FOR KOENIG

"Just Bad Break," Says Hug, Praising Shortstop.

By Ford C. Frick.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—To Waite Hoyt, veteran right-hander, will go the task of stopping the Cardinals in the fourth game of the series this afternoon, according to announcement made by Miller Huggins this morning. Hornsby is expected to counter with Flint Rhem, youthful right-hander, whose fast ball has become the talk of the National league.

"We lost yesterday because we're not hitting," Huggins said this morning. "We've made a total of 15 hits for 15 bases in three ball games. You can't win ball games on that sort of hitting.

"Our pitching has been good," Huggins continued. "Pennock turned in a masterpiece the first day. Shocker went well in the second game, when a single pitched ball robbed him of victory. And yesterday 'Dutch' Ruether was upset through no fault of his own, but because of an error that permitted three Cardinal runs in and when they should have been shut out."

Speaking of that error, Huggins had a good word for Mark Koenig. "It seems as though bad luck is following Koenig always," he said. "Mark has played great ball in this series—the best of any man on the club. And his error yesterday was no fault of his. He slipped in the mud when he pivoted and the wet, heavy ball slipped from his fingers. No man could have done better under the circumstances. It was just one of those breaks of baseball that determine winning and losing clubs."

The spirit of the Yankees was high this morning, despite their two defeats. All of the boys figure that they are due to start hitting soon.

TOP OF UPRIGHT SWING

New York's Clubbing Strength At Low Ebb As Fourth Tilt Looms

Rhem or Rinehart May be Sent Out to Pitch Against Easterners This Afternoon; Huggin's Choice it is Understood, May be Hoyt; 15 Hits Total Obtained by Yanks to Date.

By Davis J. Walsh.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Another seance of pernicious dementia seized this mad town by the scruff of the neck this morning and hurled it, gibbering and inarticulate, into the light of a new day to face the hardly credible fact that it was harboring not only a pennant winner in the National league but the prospective victor of the world's series as well.

The fourth game of that very pestiferous event will be played, weather willing, at Sportsman's park this afternoon and the Cardinals can save their town from the advanced stages of insanity only by losing it. If they win it, they will be out in front by three games to one over the New York Yankees and once that happens, they'll have to give the boys in town something to play with besides paper dolls and the idea that Napoleon lives in St. Louis.

The jolly, old citizens were imbued with the idea that it was all good clean fun, as long as the Cards continued to win, and the way they romped over the civic premises last night and this morning was enough to provide plenty of fresh material for towns that have been able to take their world series or let it alone. St. Louis admits that it is a competitive toper and is beginning to believe that the rest of the country doesn't know what it has missed all these years, certainly, any town that gets as much enjoyment out of its own ingenuity seems almost to rate as a permanent world series site.

Cards Young Team.

It might become semi-permanent, at that. The Cards are a comparatively young team and the odds today were all in favor of them faring forth, in the year of grace, 1927, as the champions of the world. All they needed to achieve this high estate was to break even on the remaining four games of the series.

Indeed, it looked so absolutely simple that the boys were out on the streets waving $3 to bet against $1 that the Cards would do it. They forgot, however, that the Yankees weren't able to hit a lonely lick through the first three games and that a slugging club that will do that is much overdue.

It may be that they will break out in an epidemic of hitting today. The understanding was that Hornsby will turn loose Flint Rhem for the first time during the series and somehow, the impression has become rampant that the young man will prove a great boon to New York. One can't prove it by his league record but fooling horseflies and baseball experts seems to be equally difficult. However, some of the master minds thought Art Reinhart would get the call and personally I think he is due.

May Try Hoyt.

It was understood, also, that Mr. Huggins had decided to stake his little all on Waite Hoyt, the manly mortician. Hoyt is practicing to be an embalmer in the off season, so it may be that the choice will be a happy one. Yankee hopes were dying fast when our Mr. Hoyt's name was mentioned.

The gentleman pitched nearly an entire ball game against a team of invisible hitters down along the right field foul line yesterday and this probably entitles him to go in there today. This may not sound exactly right to St. Louis but they figure things differently in New York, even though the element of logic may be lacking.

But as far as that went, it made little difference who pitched for the Yanks. What Huggins was very desirous of learning was who, if anyone, was going to do some hitting.

The Yanks have obliged with exactly 15 hits in three games, which according to my elementary mathematics makes exactly 5 per copy. You can't paint any fences with that kind of goulash.

Our Mr. Ruth, for example, had been expected to take issue with Mr. Hornsby as the leading exponent of the soulful sock. Neither has seen fit to be extremely prolific in this respect but George has been positively abstemious. He has hit two balls out of the infield and both have been singles. No Yankee, in fact, has hit for more than one base.

As for Meusel, he has made one hit and it hasn't been with Miller Huggins.

HOYT MAY FACE CARDS TODAY

If He Loses, Pennock's Rest May be Cut Short.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 6.—Wilful Waite Hoyt, the flatbush undertaker may lay a white lily on New York City's hope of another world baseball championship this afternoon.

Wilful Waite is slated to pitch for our Yankees in the fourth game of the current large currency series, and if he takes one on his dimpled chin it will be all over, because St. Louis has already done its shouting.

To be sure, there will still be Herbert Pennock, the silver fox fancier of Pennsylvania, but good as he undoubtedly is, Herbert is not winnin any world's series single handed a alone. About five full days of re is what Pennock needs and it is Miller Huggin's earnest wish that he get it.

Thus Hoyt becomes the last of the Moe-Huggins, and as he goes today will the Yankees. If he can check rush of the cocy Cardinal-cre Hornsboys, big towners will be on nearly even terms. We say ne even terms because, win or lose Louis will still have an edge in pitching department.

If this young fellow, Flint Rhem, of the Rhems of Rhems, S. C., can best the blond undertaker of Brooklyn this afternoon, Hornsby can come back with Arthur Reinhart on Thursday.

If Reinhart should win (there seems to be a lot of ifs creeping into this), St. Louis would have the distinction of having captured a world's series with five different pitchers on five different days. That illustrates pretty clearly just how flush Hornsby is with flinging talent.

Huggins is far from being so fortunate. Let Hoyt be beaten and we will have to let Pennock go with only four days in which to recover from his brilliant but tough game of Saturday.

Asks No Questions.

The business, of course, can be reckoned on a two-way basis. Either the Cardinal pitchers have been very good or the Yankee hitters have been quite bad. I suspect it has been a little bit of both.

Whatever the answer, St. Loui willing today to accept the with no questions asked. what appeared to be a super club win the first mod ries game ever to gr roundings and the man the victory was gained left the local imagination, which to be one of the most vivid American continent.

Yank Bats Still In 'Hock' As Cards Become 2-1 Favorites

Breadon Won't Come Out Until Fans Forget Series Tickets

"Only 35,000" Could Get in Yesterday; "Umps" Hildebrand Makes Certain About Rain This Time; Shawkey Great Relief Pitcher—"Relief" to Yankees When He Leaves Game.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Remembering the general irritation that followed when last he had seen fit to call a world series game, Umpire Hildebrand sought counsel when it seemed necessary to halt proceedings in the fourth inning. He knew it was raining but the last time he thought he knew it was dark, so it was his desire not to appear over confident.

Haines just used that fast one often enough to show the boys that he had it. He didn't want them to be getting any false impressions.

Sam Breadon expects to appear on the public highways again some time after the first of the year. By that time, disappointed ticket seekers will be busy with something important, like trying to remember the name of the man who sang tenor at the grocers' picnic a year ago last August.

The half hour interruption might have done Haines' arm practically no good but the Yanks declined to investigate. They went after the first ball when play was resumed.

Shawkey has proved a great relief pitcher. It has been a great relief to the Cardinals every time he has left the pastime.

John McGraw spent the afternoon trying to radiate good cheer in the press box. It couldn't be done. Billy Southworth still was making base hits.

Huggins doesn't change his mind any more than an actor changes his clothes. First Hoyt warmed up, then Shawkey, next Thomas, then Shawkey again and finally Hoyt.

The Cardinals supplied souvenir score cards drafted for the benefit of Singer's Midgets. One could read the thing with great surety at a distance of 6¾ inches.

They waited with much patience and Koenig finally rewarded them by throwing one away. The young man owes himself at least three more.

Hornsby was not very worried about Haines when he passed Paschal to open the eighth. All Rogers did was to spend the next five minutes wondering whether he should shoot Haines or himself.

He finally arrived at the proper conclusion. He did neither.

St. Louis apparently can turn its civic emotion on and off like a faucet. It romps all over the place until 11:30 and then goes quietly and sanely to bed. A lot of smart men haven't learned that trick yet.

RAIN HOLDS UP CHICAGO SERIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The baseball championship of Chicago still hung in the balance today as the White Sox and Cubs, together with a host of breathless fans, were praying for fair weather and a chance to end the suspense.

The sixth game, scheduled for yesterday, was won by Jupe Pluvious who pitched a shutout. The rain spoiled the White Sox's chance to end the series. They have won three games and the Cubs have won two.

Today's game is scheduled for Comiskey park, home of the White Sox. If Collins' crew wins it will be all over but the "I told you sos."

"Just Bad Break," Says Hug, Praising Shortstop.

By Ford C. Frick.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—To Waite Hoyt, veteran right-hander, will go the task of stopping the Cardinals in the fourth game of the series this afternoon, according to announcement made by Miller Huggins this morning. Hornsby is expected to counter with Flint Rhem, youthful right-hander, whose fast ball has become the talk of the National league.

"We lost yesterday because we're not hitting," Huggins said this morning. "We've made a total of 15 hits for 15 bases in three ball games. You can't win ball games on that sort of hitting.

"Our pitching has been good," Huggins continued. "Pennock turned in a masterpiece the first day. Shocker went well in the second game, when a single pitched ball robbed him of victory. And yesterday 'Dutch' Ruether was upset through no fault of his own, but because of an error that permitted three Cardinal runs in and when they should have been shut out."

Speaking of that error, Huggins had a good word for Mark Koenig. "It seems as though bad luck is following Koenig always," he said. "Mark has played great ball in this series—the best of any man on the club. And his error yesterday was no fault of his. He slipped in the mud when he pivoted and the wet, heavy ball slipped from his fingers. No man could have done better under the circumstances. It was just one of those breaks of baseball that determine winning and losing clubs."

The spirit of the Yankees was high this morning, despite their two defeats. All of the boys figure that they are due to start hitting soon.

Wilful Waite is slated to pitch for our Yankees in the fourth game of the current large currency series, and if he takes one on his dimpled chin it will be all over, because St. Louis has already done its shouting.

To be sure, there will still be Herbert Pennock, the silver fox fancier of Pennsylvania, but good as he undoubtedly is, Herbert is not winnin any world's series single handed a alone. About five full days of re is what Pennock needs and it is Miller Huggin's earnest wish that he get it.

Thus Hoyt becomes the last of the Moe-Huggins, and as he goes toda will the Yankees. If he can check rush of the cocy Cardinal-cre Hornsboys, big towners will be l on nearly even terms. We say ne even terms because, win or lose Louis will still have an edge in pitching department.

If this young fellow, Flint Rhem, o the Rhems of Rhems, S. C., can best the blond undertaker of Brooklyn this afternoon, Hornsby can come back with Arthur Reinhart on Thursday.

If Reinhart should win (there seems to be a lot of ifs creeping into this), St. Louis would have the distinction of having captured a world's series with five different pitchers on five different days. That illustrates pretty clearly just how flush Hornsby is with flinging talent.

Huggins is far from being so fortunate. Let Hoyt be beaten and we will have to let Pennock go with only four days in which to recover from his brilliant but tough game of Saturday.

Asks No Questions.

The business, of course, can be reckoned on a two-way basis. Either the Cardinal pitchers have been very good or the Yankee hitters have been quite bad. I suspect it has been a little bit of both.

Whatever the answer, St. Loui willing today to accept the with no questions asked. what appeared to be a super club win the first mode ries game ever to gr roundings and the man the victory was gained left the local imagination, which to be one of the most vivid American continent.

Show the local addicts a tea cardinal red that can outhit, ou outguess and outgame an opp and they will read you the futur a soap salesman reading his m The Cardinals may be able wrong during the rest of this s but they will have a hard time it.

HIGH IDLE; CHESTER AT FOLLANSBEE; DOVER AT WELLSVILLE

Klinck's Team Only District Eleven On Home Field Saturday

WITH Coach George Kidder's proteges idle and Chester in action on a "foreign" lot, scholastic gridiron fans of the district will turn their attention to Wellsville where the Orange and Black will entertain the strong Dover scholastic eleven.

The Wellsville-Dover tilt will be staged at Hammond park, a short distance north on the Salineville road, this year's contests having been taken there to escape the disadvantages of the seasonal rain and mud which have made Central park anything but a good gridiron.

The Blue and White will rest Saturday. It was originally planned to schedule Massillon, but the latter school signed up for a game before the locals could complete negotiations and it is just as well, in view of the condition of the squad following its defeat Saturday at the hands of Akron East.

Larkins, captain and center, will be out for several weeks, and his efforts should certainly be needed in a game with any eleven such as Massillon. Several other regulars are feeling the effects of bumps and bruises and can utilize the layoff.

Chester, following a 6 0 victory over Wellsville at Chester last Saturday, will go into action at Follansbee in their first road clash of the season.

Wilde's youngsters came through the Wellsville tilt in good shape and are prepared to give the Brooke countians a battle.

Dover has had an edge on Wellsville in games in recent years but Coach Klinck is confident his crew will be able to turn the tables during the coming week-end.

Mound City Is Mad City As Fans Raise-Well, A Lot of Racket To Celebrate End of 38-Year Wait

By KATHARINE BRUSH.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Do you remember the day the Armistice was signed and have you ever seen a mardi gras at New Orleans and can you imagine what a national convention of insane asylums would look like? Combine the three and you will have some slight idea of the state of affairs in the city of St. Louis.

Thirty-eight years the St. Louis fans have waited for a big league baseball pennant. Thirty-eight years and ne month since the first of Septemer, when the Cardinals last left own—they have waited to greet a ennant-winning ball team of their wn. Last night the endless wait ended. And if every fountain and cooler and cold water faucet in town had been dispensing wine instead of water all day long, the effect on the populace couldn't have been much worse.

"Man kills the thing he loves." So said Oscar Wilde, and the scene at the Washington street station when the Cardinals' special train pulled in and disgorged its freight of homecoming heroes proved conclusively that Oscar knew his oats. The Cardinals were not quite killed by the affectionate demonstrations of the throng of admirers assembled at the station to welcome them—but if the police had not intervened they probably would have been. All of them emerged torn of clothing and red of face and such bright particular stars as Rogers Hornsby, manager, Alexander the Great, who pitched the winning game against the Yanks of Sunday, and Bill Southworth, who, with the bat supported him in the manner to which he would like to be accustomed, were almost torn to pieces by the crowd.

Hornsby was presented with a shiny new special-built Lincoln sedan—the gift of St. Louis fans, thousands of whom contributed sums ranging from [illegible] cents to $250. In this, accom[illegible]d by his wife and tearful infant [illegible] he rode through the streaming [illegible] streets at the head of the [illegible] parade the town has seen [illegible] visit made here by President [illegible]ing several years ago.

[illegible]he parade lasted for about two [illegible]s. After that the Cardinals van[illegible]ed from sight—but the mobs and [illegible]e excitement did not. All evening [illegible]nd into the dawn the celebrants [illegible]ronged the downtown section, yell[illegible]g and whistling and blowing horns, [illegible]ending off toy bombs and snarling [illegible]p traffic. The Mound City—usually [illegible]taid and conservative, so I'm told—[illegible]was wide open. Crap games were held on street corners, and bibulous gentlemen sweetly slept in chairs in hotel lobbies. Taxicabs charged you a small fortune and moved you one foot, six inches, per hour. The police force was augmented by a few self-appointed traffic cops in more or less plain clothes, who did their share and more than their share toward the impediment of progress.

Flags and banners festooned the facades of every building. Assorted sizes of cardinal stickers, red birds perched proudly on base ball bats, were pasted everywhere. A three inch fall of torn paper littered the sidewalks for your feet to shuffle through like leaves in autumn. Every time you opened your mouth somebody tossed confetti into it. Automobiles trailed tin cans behind them and girls beat dish pans with hammers and men pulled solitary sausages along the sidewalks on strings calling them "fido" and humorists of both sexes shot you straight through your palpitating heart with pistols that were loaded with blank cartridges—though you never could be sure they were blank until afterwards.

There was also prevalent a horrible contrivance known as a swatter. A swatter when held in the hand looks like a rolled up newspaper but when applied with force to the human frame it hurts like mad. Your correspondent can speak with authority and eloquence on the subject of swatters. In the process of walking from a taxi cab across a sidewalk to the Statler hotel, she was, for no reason at all that she can think of, swatted unmercifully and most impolitely and with such vigor that today she is eating off the mantle piece.

About four in the morning things began to quiet down. People went to their homes or their hotels—if they had them. All the hotels are as crowded as Noah's Ark must have been. The one where I'm staying is so full that a dozen men are sleeping on cots in the basement, with Turkish bath and shaving at the brink of the swimming pool.

Everybody went to bed and slept a little, everybody, what is, except the street cleaners and the thousands of fans who waited in line all night for the bleacher seat ticket widow to open. But nobody overslept.

At half past one o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" rolled out of fifty brass horns over Sportsman's park every one who had a right to be there was there, doing his or her bit toward forming one of the most colorful crowds it has ever been my privilege to see at a sporting event, and one of the noisiest. The uproar of voices, hands, feet, little paper megaphones, cowbells and whistles abated only on the rare occasion when a Yank accidentally got on base and during the fifteen minute rainy intermission. The rest of the time you couldn't hear yourself think. When the Cardinals in the new Vanilla and cherry uniforms took the field, there was bedlam. When the first New York batsman was out at first, there was a hulllaballoo. When Hornsby came up, there was pandemonium, and when in due course of time, four runs were made by the Cardinals against no runs at all for the Yanks—but never mind. I have only a few good words meaning "noise" left over, and something tells me I'd better save those for tomorrow.

Brothers Aid Mount Eleven In Bid For Conference Fame

Dave Armstrong.

Lamar Armstrong.

ALLIANCE, Ohio, Oct. 6.—Two brothers, with widely diversified grid talents, are playing a bang-up game on the Mount Union varsity eleven this season.

Lamar Armstrong, younger of the pair, is captain of the Purple squad. He plays fullback and his vicious thrusts through the line, coupled with his highly educated toe are expected to prove factors in Mount's success on Ohio conference gridirons this year.

The Armstrongs hail from Youngstown.

Aerodrome High in Alps Planned for Continental Fliers

INNSBRUCK. — An aerodrome 2,000 meters above sea level will be built in a center of the Tyrolian Alps, near Innsbruck. The aerodrome will be built to allow a safe landing place for planes which must make the dangerous trip across the Alps.

With this new haven it is expected that new passenger routes will be established from Zurich to Vienna and from Milan to Berlin, for the Alps have heretofore been the only barrier to the establishment of such flights.

A new road will be built from Innsbruck to the flying field over which a regular automobile service will be maintained connecting all planes with trains.

Of the 225,000 radio receiving sets in Russia many are from the United States.

What They Get

You may wonder why Lucky Strike smokers are so completely satisfied.

You may think it's just a matter of habit.

Far from it!

Lucky Strike smokers are getting an extra enjoyment which they have never found before. They are getting the world's choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended—and something more.

They get extra goodness because of an added process—toasting—an added expense in manufacture.

Lucky Strikes offer you:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

Thus the toasting process is an addition. It adds a unique and distinct improvement to a cigarette that has already been made from the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. It is the reason millions prefer Lucky Strikes.

CERAMIC BOOKS STOCK COMPANY

Broadway Successes Will be Featured Next Week.

Kirk G. Smith, advance representative for the Chicago Stock Company, which will hold the stage at the Ceramic theatre all next week, arrived here today.

The Chicago Stock company, which has toured the East for the past 31 years, is the largest and most completely equipped organization of its type and offers a sufficient variety of amusements to satisfy the most blase theater-goer.

Every style of playwriting is included in their repertoire, from melodrama to farce, and capably acted and beautifully staged hits of last season are their specialty.

"The Best People," a comedy drama, from the pen of Avery Hopwood, will be their opening bill. It is a diverting story dealing with the elite of upper Fifth Avenue, as well as Broadway's famous gold diggers, and abounds in opportunity to give every member of the cast a chance to display their histrionic ability.

Following this celebrated play the company will stage "Applesauce." As the title indicates, it is a snappy slangy story of the day and the whole wide world will love it.

The thriller of the week will be offered in "The Gorilla" from the pen of Ralph Spence and it has already enjoyed long runs in New York and Chicago as well as all the larger cities of the United States, and is full of the most amusing and thrilling situations imaginable.

A daring expose of the jazz life of today will be found in Martha Stanley's play, "Dance Mad," which the company will also produce. It is a tale of "Flaming Youth" and how a dance-mad flapper falls madly in love with a young Portugese.

"Puppy Love" is another corking comedy from the pen of the famous Ann Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose," "Puppy Love" tells of the trials and tribulations of two kids who go through everything but war before the culmination of their romance. It had a long run at the 48th street theater in New York.

The sixth and final production to be offered will be "Mama Loves Papa," which had Alice Brady as its star during its Broadway run at the Ritz theater. As the title implies, it is an up-to-the-minute farce.

An American firm is to dredge the mouth of the Magdalena river to permit steamers to dock at the city of Barranquilla, Colombia, instead of discharging cargo eighteen miles away as at present.

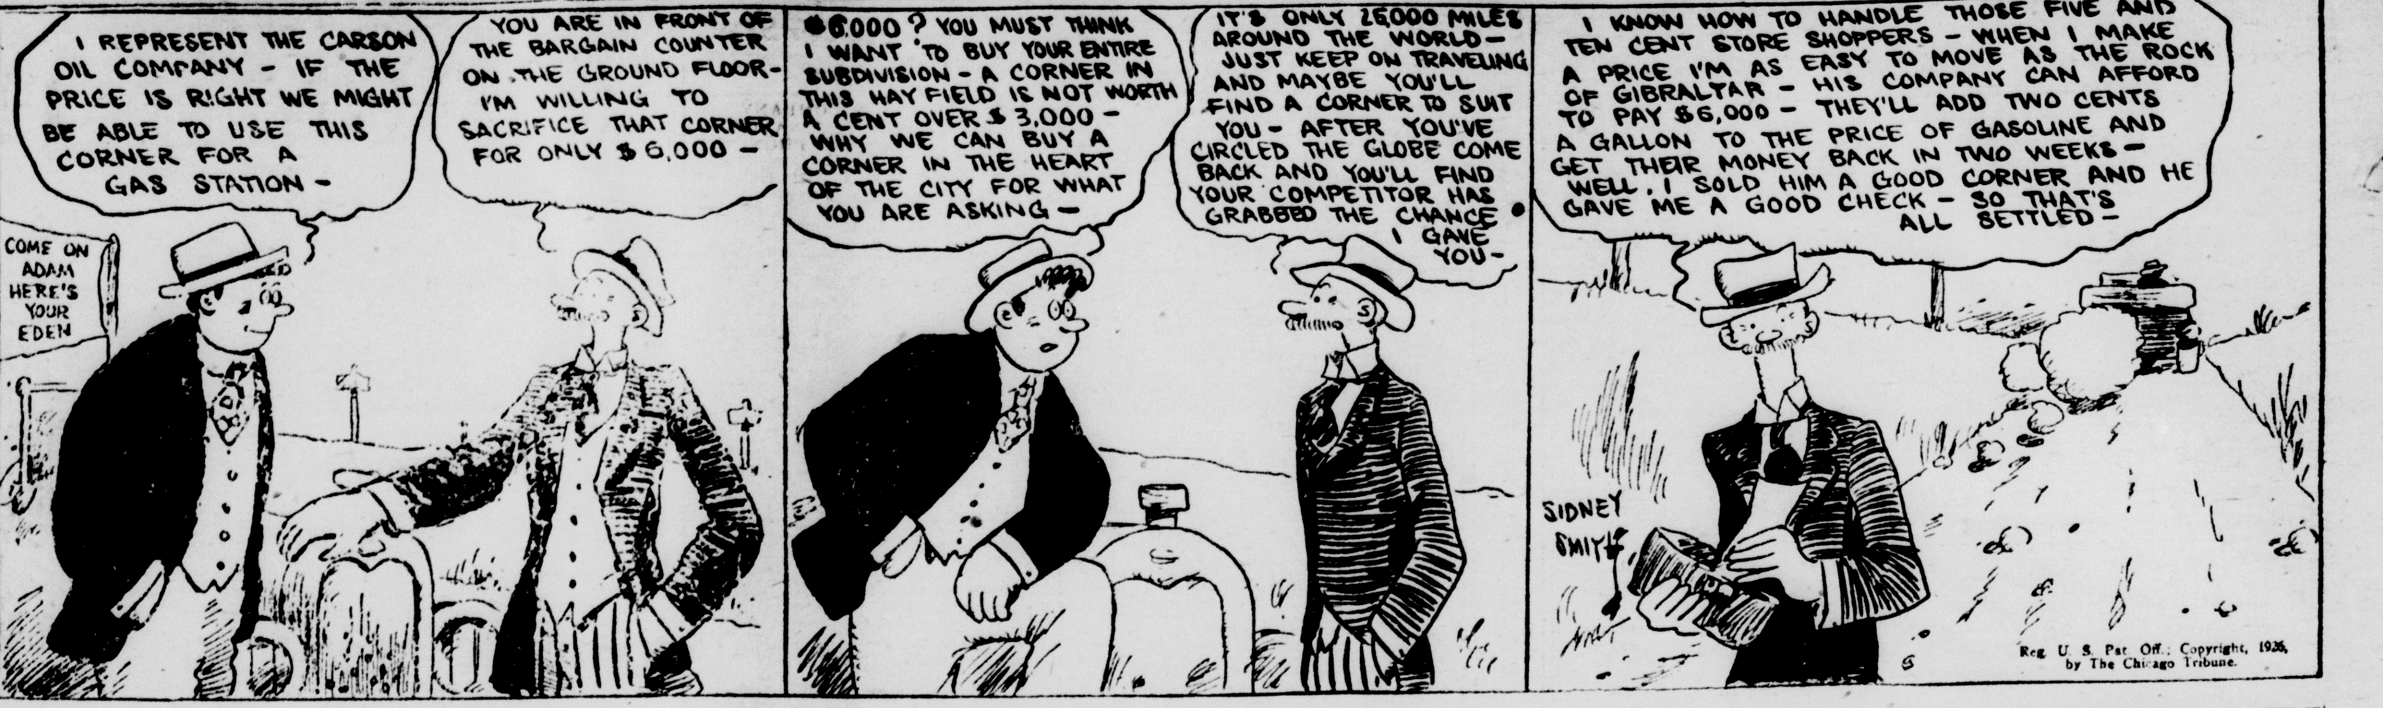
The Gumps By Sidney Smith



I REPRESENT THE CARSON OIL COMPANY - IF THE PRICE IS RIGHT WE MIGHT BE ABLE TO USE THIS CORNER FOR A GAS STATION -
COME ON ADAM HERE'S YOUR EDEN
$6,000? YOU MUST THINK I WANT TO BUY YOUR ENTIRE SUBDIVISION - A CORNER IN THIS HAY FIELD IS NOT WORTH A CENT OVER $3,000 - WHY WE CAN BUY A CORNER IN THE HEART OF THE CITY FOR WHAT YOU ARE ASKING -
IT'S ONLY 25000 MILES AROUND THE WORLD - JUST KEEP ON TRAVELING AND MAYBE YOU'LL FIND A CORNER TO SUIT YOU - AFTER YOU'VE CIRCLED THE GLOBE COME BACK AND YOU'LL FIND YOUR COMPETITOR HAS GRABBED THE CHANCE I GAVE YOU -
I KNOW HOW TO HANDLE THOSE FIVE AND TEN CENT STORE SHOPPERS - WHEN I MAKE A PRICE I'M AS EASY TO MOVE AS THE ROCK OF GIBRALTAR - HIS COMPANY CAN AFFORD TO PAY $6,000 - THEY'LL ADD TWO CENTS A GALLON TO THE PRICE OF GASOLINE AND GET THEIR MONEY BACK IN TWO WEEKS - WELL, I SOLD HIM A GOOD CORNER AND HE GAVE ME A GOOD CHECK - SO THAT'S ALL SETTLED -

CERAMIC BOOKS STOCK COMPANY

Broadway Successes Will be Featured Next Week.

Kirk G. Smith, advance representative for the Chicago Stock Company, which will hold the stage at the Ceramic theatre all next week, arrived here today.

The Chicago Stock company, which has toured the East for the past 31 years, is the largest and most completely equipped organization of its type and offers a sufficient variety of amusements to satisfy the most blase theater-goer.

Every style of playwriting is included in their repertoire, from melodrama to farce, and capably acted and beautifully staged hits of last season are their specialty.

"The Best People," a comedy drama, from the pen of Avery Hopwood, will be their opening bill. It is a diverting story dealing with the elite of upper Fifth Avenue, as well as Broadway's famous gold diggers, and abounds in opportunity to give every member of the cast a chance to display their histrionic ability.

Following this celebrated play the company will stage "Applesauce." As the title indicates, it is a snappy slangy story of the day and the whole wide world will love it.

The thriller of the week will be offered in "The Gorilla" from the pen of Ralph Spence and it has already enjoyed long runs in New York and Chicago as well as all the larger cities of the United States, and is full of the most amusing and thrilling situations imaginable.

A daring expose of the jazz life of today will be found in Martha Stanley's play, "Dance Mad," which the company will also produce. It is a tale of "Flaming Youth" and how a dance-mad flapper falls madly in love with a young Portugese.

"Puppy Love" is another corking comedy from the pen of the famous Ann Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose," "Puppy Love" tells of the trials and tribulations of two kids who go through everything but war before the culmination of their romance. It had a long run at the 48th street theater in New York.

The sixth and final production to be offered will be "Mama Loves Papa," which had Alice Brady as its star during its Broadway run at the Ritz theater. As the title implies, it is an up-to-the-minute farce.

An American firm is to dredge the mouth of the Magdalena river to permit steamers to dock at the city of Barranquilla, Colombia, instead of discharging cargo eighteen miles away as at present.

Correct this sentence: "She lets you describe your pains," said the gossip, "and never comes back with a description of her own."—Youngstown Vindicator.

SURE WAY TO STOP NIGHT COUGHING

Relief in 15 Minutes—or No Cost

Persistent night coughing is usually due to causes which ordinary cough mixtures do not touch. A remarkable new prescription known as Thoxine, working on an entirely different principle, goes direct to the cause, stops the stubbornest cough within 15 minutes. One swallow is all that's needed. If it fails get your money back. Equally good for sore throat for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Excellent for children's sore throat and coughs. 35c., 60c. and $1.00. At all good druggists.

New Globe Trotting Record Established By U. S. Sailor

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—A globe trotting record to be envied by the most inveterate traveler has been piled up by F. R. Raleigh, of this city, enlisted ... in the United States Navy attached to the U. S. S. Cleveland, now home on furlough.

Raleigh in the last year visited Panama, San Bas Islands, Arica, Chile, Carategena, Columbia, Bluefields, El Buff, Nicaragua, Puerta Cortez, Puerta Castilla, Honduras, Frontena, Progressa, Mexico, Port Limon, San Jose, Costa Rica and made eight trips through the Panama Canal.

Marketing of Grapes Halted by New Rule Of U. S. Government

CLEVELAND, O.—More than 100 carloads of California grapes are standing on Cleveland railroad sidings awaiting a purchaser. But no purchaser sufficiently brave to defy a federal edict has come forth.

Halt on expected sales is caused by a notice posted by Federal authorities saying that permits to manufacture 200 gallons of grape juice per year for each family have been rescinded and the manufacture must stop.

This order has struck a death blow at the grape market and brokers are offering the fruit at from 75 to 90 cents a crate, after paying between 62 and 65 cents a crate for freight.

New Globe Trotting Record Established By U. S. Sailor

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—A globe trotting record to be envied by the most inveterate traveler has been piled up by F. R. Raleigh, of this city, enlisted man in the United States Navy attached to the U. S. S. Cleveland, now home on furlough.

Raleigh in the last year visited Panama, San Bas Islands, Arica, Chile, Caratagena, Columbia, Bluefields, El Buff, Nicaragua, Puerta Cortez, Puerta Castilla, Honduras, Frontena, Progressa, Mexico, Port Limon, San Jose, Costa Rica and made eight trips through the Panama Canal.

Marketing of Grapes Halted by New Rule Of U. S. Government

CLEVELAND, O.—More than 100 carloads of California grapes are standing on Cleveland railroad sidings awaiting a purchaser. But no purchaser sufficiently brave to defy a federal edict has come forth.

Halt on expected sales is caused by a notice posted by Federal authorities saying that permits to manufacture 200 gallons of grape juice per year for each family have been rescinded and the manufacture must stop.

This order has struck a death blow at the grape market and brokers are offering the fruit at from 75 to 90 cents a crate, after paying between 62 and 65 cents a crate for freight.

CERAMIC BOOKS STOCK COMPANY

Broadway Successes Will be Featured Next Week.

Kirk G. Smith, advance representative for the Chicago Stock Company, which will hold the stage at the Ceramic theatre all next week, arrived here today.

The Chicago Stock company, which has toured the East for the past 31 years, is the largest and most completely equipped organization of its type and offers a sufficient variety of amusements to satisfy the most blase theater-goer.

Every style of playwriting is included in their repertoire, from melodrama to farce, and capably acted and beautifully staged hits of last season are their specialty.

"The Best People," a comedy drama, from the pen of Avery Hopwood, will be their opening bill. It is a diverting story dealing with the elite of upper Fifth Avenue, as well as Broadway's famous gold diggers, and abounds in opportunity to give every member of the cast a chance to display their histrionic ability.

Following this celebrated play the company will stage "Applesauce." As the title indicates, it is a snappy slangy story of the day and the whole wide world will love it.

The thriller of the week will be offered in "The Gorilla" from the pen of Ralph Spence and it has already enjoyed long runs in New York and Chicago as well as all the larger cities of the United States, and is full of the most amusing and thrilling situations imaginable.

A daring expose of the jazz life of today will be found in Martha Stanley's play, "Dance Mad," which the company will also produce. It is a tale of "Flaming Youth" and how a dance-mad flapper falls madly in love with a young Portugese.

"Puppy Love" is another corking comedy from the pen of the famous Ann Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose," "Puppy Love" tells of the trials and tribulations of two kids who go through everything but war before the culmination of their romance. It had a long run at the 48th street theater in New York.

The sixth and final production to be offered will be "Mama Loves Papa," which had Alice Brady as its star during its Broadway run at the Ritz theater. As the title implies, it is an up-to-the-minute farce.

An American firm is to dredge the mouth of the Magdalena river to permit steamers to dock at the city of Barranquilla, Colombia, instead of discharging cargo eighteen miles away as at present.

Correct this sentence: "She lets you describe your pains," said the gossip, "and never comes back with a description of her own."—Youngstown Vindicator.

SURE WAY TO STOP NIGHT COUGHING

Relief in 15 Minutes—or No Cost

Persistent night coughing is usually due to causes which ordinary cough mixtures do not touch. A remarkable new prescription known as Thoxine, working on an entirely different principle, goes direct to the cause, stops the stubbornest cough within 15 minutes. One swallow is all that's needed. If it fails get your money back. Equally good for sore throat for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Excellent for children's sore throat and coughs. 35c., 60c. and $1.00. At all good druggists.

New Globe Trotting Record Established By U. S. Sailor

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—A globe trotting record to be envied by the most inveterate traveler has been piled up by F. R. Raleigh, of this city, enlisted [illegible] in the United States Navy attached to the U. S. S. Cleveland, now home on furlough.

Raleigh in the last year visited Panama, San Bas Islands, Arica, Chile, Caratgena, Columbia, Bluefields, El Buff, Nicaragua, Puerta Cortez, Puerta Castilla, Honduras, Frontena, Progressa, Mexico, Port Limon, San Jose, Costa Rica and made eight trips through the Panama Canal.

Marketing of Grapes Halted by New Rule Of U. S. Government

CLEVELAND, O.—More than 100 carloads of California grapes are standing on Cleveland railroad sidings awaiting a purchaser. But no purchaser sufficiently brave to defy a federal edict has come forth.

Halt on expected sales is caused by a notice posted by Federal authorities saying that permits to manufacture 200 gallons of grape juice per year for each family have been rescinded and the manufacture must stop.

This order has struck a death blow at the grape market and brokers are offering the fruit at from 75 to 90 cents a crate, after paying between 62 and 65 cents a crate for freight.

New Globe Trotting Record Established By U. S. Sailor

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—A globe trotting record to be envied by the most inveterate traveler has been piled up by F. R. Raleigh, of this city, enlisted man in the United States Navy attached to the U. S. S. Cleveland, now home on furlough.

Raleigh in the last year visited Panama, San Bas Islands, Arica, Chile, Caratgena, Columbia, Bluefields, El Buff, Nicaragua, Puerta Cortez, Puerta Castilla, Honduras, Frontena, Progressa, Mexico, Port Limon, San Jose, Costa Rica and made eight trips through the Panama Canal.

Marketing of Grapes Halted by New Rule Of U. S. Government

CLEVELAND, O.—More than 100 carloads of California grapes are standing on Cleveland railroad sidings awaiting a purchaser. But no purchaser sufficiently brave to defy a federal edict has come forth.

Halt on expected sales is caused by a notice posted by Federal authorities saying that permits to manufacture 200 gallons of grape juice per year for each family have been rescinded and the manufacture must stop.

This order has struck a death blow at the grape market and brokers are offering the fruit at from 75 to 90 cents a crate, after paying between 62 and 65 cents a crate for freight.

Almost Touched Bottom

"The past 4 years I have been going down, down, down with catarrh of the stomach and had to give up work a year ago because of my weakened condition. I suffered terribly from bloating and colic attacks. MAYR'S was recommended to me. I took a course of it and am now feeling fine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists everywhere.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 20 years of study.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes sold yearly. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

No more RHEUMATISM

But rheumatism will bring pain and misery to your joints and muscles just as long as you are without plenty of rich, red blood in your system.

It's the red-blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build that drive out of your system the impurities that cause rheumatism. And until you do build up your blood to where it is pure and rich and red, you simply can't get rid of rheumatism.

S. S. S. means millions of red-blood-cells—means health all over. No more rheumatism. Nights of rest—days of joy, filled with the happiness of accomplishment — made possible by a body brimful of red blooded life, energy and vitality.

S.S.S.

That's what the end of rheumatism means—that's what S. S. S. brings to you. Get S. S. S. from your druggist. The larger bottle is more economical.

First!

In most everything in this wide world somebody or something just must be FIRST, if you don't believe it just read on thru this advertisement.

* * * * * * * * * * *

For example, take the recent mixup down Philly way, you'll remember, (especially if you bet) that when the smoke had cleared away that Gene Tunney was FIRST.

* * * * * * * * * * *

Another instance that comes to our mind is the Little World Series as played by Chester and Laughlins. Remember how Chester battled away? But it wasn't their day and Laughlin's were FIRST.

* * * * * * * * * * *

Take our home town and think how much pottery is produced elsewhere yet East Liverpool is FIRST by miles and miles when quality and quantity manufacture of dishes is considered.

* * * * * * * * * * *

And so it goes, case after case, instance after instance, somebody is always FIRST, even in gasoline because it has been proven that MARATHON is FIRST when measured by results and quality.

* * * * * * * * * * *

We will be pleased to tell you about the various tests that have been made which have proven conclusively that MARATHON is FIRST.

How They Hate Us.

Russia's Friendship.

EUROPE, having recovered from its war debauch, acts like a drunkard waking up next morning on the sawdust of the saloon floor. He looks reproachfully at the bartender and says: "You got all my money, now take care of me."

The bartender in the eyes of awakening Europe is old Uncle Sam. France and Germany are friends again. England and Germany are friends, but how they all hate this country!

H. G. WELLS' new book presents Englishmen of the Wells type striving in vain to solve the mystery of the American character, and "the queerness of the grayish-faced, slow-speaking Americans in gray who watch your face as they talk to you. They talk about themselves as we never do."

THEN hear D'Annunzio, always charming, replying to an American publisher who offered real money for the D'Annunzio autobiography.

First D'Annunzio tells how "the purgatory of myself exiled tortures my soul," then says he couldn't accept "an offer of gold, dazzling gold, jingling, vile gold, your American employers have authorized you to offer me in payment for the product of the soul of a poet.

"I say, never.

"Never will my writing be defiled by American gold."

That settles that, for the present,

WE NEED not take seriously a poet who says, "All Alpine peaks belong to me," while standing just now on the peak of foolishness.

But President Coolidge and others responsible for the welfare of the United States should know that the feeling of Europe generally is expressed accurately enough by D'Annunzio in these words:

"If I could interpret my feeling of hatred for America in terms of fire and flame, it would rise higher above ever the burning crater of the Vesuvius."

PROF. JEROME DAVIS of Yale reports an interesting talk with Stalin, the real ruler in Russia. Stalin says Russia is willing to pay the money that foolish American bankers lent to Kerensky. Stalin really should do nothing of the kind. Those childish bankers, grabbling at usurious interest rates and discounts, ought to digest that lesson.

They are now lending billions of the American people's money to various concerns in Europe. Many of those billions will never come back.

HOWEVER, that's another story. The important point made by Stalin is that it might pay the United States to be friendly with Russia. Stalin said "Russia now needs the United States. Possibly the day might come when the United States might need Russia's friendship."

HUGGINS, WITH BACK TO WALL, FIGHTS FOR TWO-ALL IN CLASSIC

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—As the Cardinals today held the one-game edge over the Yankees, betting odds took an overnight switch and St. Louis was on the heavy end of 4 to 3 to win the series. Plenty of local coin was in circulation at the bookies and in the hotels but the New Yorkers were reported to be taking up most of the bets offered.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Smiling skies, in thorough accord with the mood of all St. Louis this afternoon greeted the fourth game of the world series between the Cards and Yankees, an occasion that found the local larynx in excellent voice, and a knowing grin on every local face. The Cards, leading the series by two victories to one, seemed on the verge of achieving the goal of their heart's desire.

All they needed was an even break in the remaining four games to bring St. Louis its first and only world's title and odds of 1 to 3 freely offered and enthusiastically spurned, said they would do it.

So did the rampant, yammering crowd of 37,000. Having seen their Cardinals win the first world series game ever played in St. Louis, they were a bit inclined to wonder just how long this thing has been going on. After 38 years of pennantless baseball, it all seemed so absurdly simple now.

Hornsby Hints Reinhart.

In fact, the band best expressed the local idea when the Cards strolled out of their dugout at 11:45 o'clock. The musicians immediately burst a lusty lung on the strains of "I'm Sitting on Top of the World," and the boys were quite right. In fact, the only reservation the writer could suggest is that the world be made to include the New York Yankees. They had been thoroughly sat upon.

Fifteen hits had been their total in three games against Sherdel, Alexander and Haines and perhaps the end was not to be yet. Hornsby intimated early today that he was prepared to further befuddle the Yanks with Art Reinhart, a left-hander, although some of the intelligentsia were willing to wager that Hornsby really knew less about it than they did, which was all too little. They thought Flint Rhem would try to right-hand the situation and said so in that quiet, reserved tone mostly used by men selling fish.

Pennock Needs Rest.

Waite Hoyt was to be Miller Huggins' nominee, in spite of the fact that the young man yesterday pitched a ball game that will not appear on the records. He fought the bull, quiet, valiantly and well, down in the well-known pen, out along the right field lines.

However, Huggins' only alternative was to use Herb Pennock, winner of the series opener, and it was that Herbert felt the need of an extra day's repose. You know how it is; these young men bruise so easily.

The Cards made ready to receive Hoyt in the style to which he has become accustomed—at least this year—by using Vic Keen, a right-hand batter in batting practice. Hornsby greeted Victor with a sock into the left field bleachers.

Yanks Outsmarted.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Having done another Dempsey—that is to say, taken considerable punishment without a full count—the Yankees today face the necessity of rejuvenating themselves or passing out of the current world series ceremonies with brief dignity.

Plainly, the Yankees are on the ropes, they looked groggier than even the seasick Mr. Dempsey in those final innings yesterday. They did not exactly break out in a rash, in which Mr. Dempsey remains, Mr. Dempsey, alone and individual, but they might as well have.

Aside from Lazzeri and Joe Dugan, the Yanks lacked drive. They seemed to be waiting for the finishing punch. They went about their labors with lethargy in their manner and a far away look in their gentle young faces. There was little of the once dreaded murderers' row about them.

Supposed to be sure death to fast ball pitchers, they faced one of the fastest of fast ball pitchers and were outsmarted. They looked like they might have been facing the kind of fast ball pitching that makes great heroes and new home run kings in the one tube circuits—the kind of fast balling that is so called because they go back faster than they come up.

Jess Haines used his fast ball for one purpose—to waste it. His strikes were almost wholly knuckle balls and floaters, with a brisk curve slipped in here and there. When he used a fast ball, it was rarely in the alley. On the contrary, it was close to the noble forehead of some astonished Yankee, or safely out of range.

CAPITAL AND LABOR AT GRIPS IN BITTER FIGHT OVER OPEN SHOP IN INDUSTRIAL CITY OF DETROIT

DETROIT, Oct. 6.—With the Protestant churches and the Y. M. C. A. as the storm center, capital and labor were at grips today in their fight to determine whether this great industrial city shall continue as an open shop or become a unionized labor center.

This, the first storm to break the tranquility of the forty-sixth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor which convened here Monday, broke in its full fury last night when President William Green of the A. F. of L., openly charged that the churches of Detroit were dominated by the manufacturing interests of the community.

The fight to organize Detroit labor reached the convention floor today with the introduction of a resolution proposing the inauguration of a general organizing campaign in the automobile industry, 80 per cent of which is centered in and around this city. It was offered by James O'Connell of the metal trades department of the A. F. of L. It would authorize the federation officers to launch this drive "at the earliest possible date," calling a conference of all national and international unions to work out the plan of campaign. It went to the resolutions committee for report.

The storm has been brewing for three months or longer. It came to a head with the sudden closing of the church doors to spokesmen for organized labor, after they had been formally invited to occupy pulpits here next Sunday, and the calling off of a "progressive mass meeting for men" at which President Green was to speak under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon.

This action came close on the heels of President Green's opening convention address in which he declared war on "company unions" as the employers' substitute for trades unions and his assertion that the election of a union labor man as mayor of Detroit was evidence that the working people were not content with present labor conditions here.

Green's Attack.

Green's attack, taking the formal public statement, was inspired by published reports in Detroit earlier in the day that the invitations for the Sunday meeting had been recalled overnight. There had been no formal notification to labor leaders of this action. These "Labor Sunday" meetings, it was explained by federal spokesmen, had been arranged at the request and through the cooperation of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, carrying out a policy that had prevailed since the federation convention of 1921. The invitation to Green to address the Y. M. C. A. meeting was extended last July by L. M. Terrill, executive secretary of the local "Y" and reiterated within the last 10 days. The assignments of speakers for the church were ments of speakers for the churches were made by the federation of churches through the Detroit Ministerial association.

But throughout the summer and early fall the Detroit Board of Commerce, through its official organ "The Detroiter," has carried on a persistent campaign of publicity deprecating the coming of the labor convention to Detroit as a "disturber" of the "peaceful relations" prevailing here between employers and employes and charging that its real objective was to convert Detroit into a "closed shop" city.

Open Letter to Churchmen.

An open letter to churchmen of Detroit, promulgated through the Detroiter on Sept. 27, was released for newspaper publication by officials of the Board of Commerce as their reply to Green's statement. This letter called on churchmen to urge their ministers to close their doors to labor spokesmen or permit business men of the community to occupy the pulpits the following Sunday to rebut the labor arguments. The board of commerce, through its board of directors, declared:

"The industrial leaders of Detroit did not initiate this movement to bring their labor fight into Detroit's churches. We join with them in doubting the wisdom of making our churches debating grounds for such a subject."

Labor Chief's Statement.

Green in his statement asserted:

"It is surprising to learn that through the influence of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce and the Building Trades association the invitation to labor representatives to speak in

MONTE BLUE IN BIG ROLE

In Warner Bros.' production of "Across the Pacific," directed by Roy Del Ruth, at the Ceramic theatre, Monte Blue plays one of the big, two-fisted, he-man roles in which he has gained such wide popularity.

Three dress-suit pictures followed "The Limited Mail" and "Hogan's Alley," and consequently Monte, who prefers the virile out-door work, was "rarin' to go" when the filming of "Across the Pacific" began.

The whole picture reflects his enthusiasm. Before it had been three days in production, that certain subtle something that presages a masterpiece was in the air. Frankly, it was turning out bigger than anyone had expected. In the first place, its theme is one of national interest and historical importance.

Adapted from the Charles D. Blaney story by Darry Zanuck, it tells with dramatic emphasis and sympathy the story of a Southern boy, divested of his estate and sweetheart, who enlists for the Spanish-American War. The greater part of the action occurs in the tropical setting of the Philippine Islands, where he is instrumental in ending the heroic insurrection of Aguinaldo.

Scenes of camp and campaign life alternate with his fight against the climate and the advances of a native girl to whom for strategic reasons he must finally make love in the face of his late betrothed.

Soul-struggles as mighty as the physical conflicts characterize this spectacle-melodrama, containing, in Charles Stevens, Myrna Loy, Jane Winton, Tom Wilson, Walter McGrail, Herbert Pryor, Ed Kennedy, Theodore Lorch, Sojin and others, the strongest supporting cast Blue has had.

TOWN TO HAVE ELASTIC PAVEMENTS; CAN BE ROLLED UP AND MOVED

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas.—Rolling up the pavements and putting them away for the night may be a joke in some parts of the country, but it will be a reality in this city, on the maturity of present paving plans, announced by C. Sam Robertson, manager.

Chicken wire pavements is the plan, and as the wire is laid a treatment of hot asphalt will be administered. Since the asphalt is elastic, if the necessity arise the pavement can be rolled up and removed

Efficiency of the chicken wire paving was proven during the World War, when General Allenby moved his troops and transport trucks into Mesopotamia using this system of roads.

The chicken wire, with its asphalt covering, distributes the pressure of vehicles riding on it, and there is no possibility of a car sinking into the sand.

A strip about twenty mile long on the Padre Island reaches of the Ocean Beach driveway is to receive the treatment.

THREE DAY COLDS THREATEN LUNGS

A cough or cold that hangs on after the third day is a threat.

Do something! Don't wait until the cold has run its course—from your head to your throat — from throat to chest or bronchial tubes. Break up your cold before it settles in this "danger zone"; for inflammation spreads, and your bronchial tubes lead directly into your lungs.

A TUB That's Different

Another reason for choosing the NEW GAINADAY

Two years' time and $100,000 cash went into the perfecting of the NEW GAINADAY Tub. The result is an efficiency and safety unequalled by any other washer.

Tub is operated by new type silent friction clutch. No moving shafts enter tub. Not a moving part inside tub to wear, tear or stretch sheerest fabrics.

The tub is pressed out of 33-oz. drawn copper, nickel-tinned inside. It's all in one piece—no moving parts inside. The baffles cannot break loose. They are part of the tub.

The New Gainaday Electric Washer

THE new type tub deserves most of the credit for the remarkable success of the NEW GAINADAY. Women who see it wash for the first time are amazed at the speed and thoroughness of the washing process. The tub is the reason. It is a new development and obsoletes other makes.

The Love Thief

IT was only natural, perhaps, that Barbara's heart should beat a little quicker when she first met Norman Parish. To be sure, he told Barbara nothing about himself—but his brown eyes laughed so frankly, and he seemed so perfect a gentleman, that she had no suspicion he was not everything he seemed to be.

And then one night, when he came to her, his slow step and the wretched look in his eyes instantly told her that something was wrong. But she did not dream of the terrible drama that was about to unfold, and in which she was to play so tragic a part. Could Barbara have been warned in time, she might have been saved the crushing remorse and bitter sorrow that were to darken her life for many years to come.

Don't fail to read Barbara's story in the November issue of True Story Magazine. The story is complete, starting on page 31—and is only one of the 18 thrilling true-life narratives that appear in the November issue of this intensely interesting magazine.

Other Absorbing Features in November True Story Are:

"Cheaters"—A young wife, with too little to occupy her mind, Alice soon came to regard her search for diversion as a quite harmless but thrilling pastime. Certainly it was with no thought of wrong that she eagerly accepted the invitation of a woman acquaintance to take her to places of doubtful reputation where she could "see a little of life." But Alice's very eagerness was to lead her blindly into a most terrible situation, and was to teach her a lesson she can never forget. A powerful, thought-compelling true story.

"Mad Love"—Like many another girl who is misled by the false glamour of a "movie" career, Ruth dreamed of the day when she would have the world at her feet. So with beauty and ambition as her sole capital, she set out to conquer fame in the studios. Of course, there could be only one result, and she might have profited by her defeat if she had not fallen madly in love with a popular screen idol. Today it is all like a terrible dream, which she feels will never be erased from her memory.

Minister Praises True Story

If all publications that are now before the public received the careful scrutiny and thorough inspection that the Macfadden publications receive I am satisfied that there would soon be a great change for the better in home and community life. One of the greatest tasks of a rural minister's life is to combat the great evil that has been for years encroaching stealthily but surely upon the spiritual life of his people through the poisoning of the mind by indiscriminate reading.

May success attend your every effort for purer and cleaner living as you continue your good work of publishing the TRUTH.

Sincerely yours,
Rev. Walter E. Brooks

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1926.

Register Tomorrow

Thursday is registration day in East Liverpool, the only Columbiana county city which requires enrollment in order to qualify for a voice in the state, district and county election on Tuesday, Nov. 2.

Registration hours are: 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. and 5 to 10 P M., city time.

Inasmuch as the enrollment on Sept. 30, the first day of registration, was comparatively light, registrars expect a busy day in the 21 precincts tomorrow.

Two more opportunities to register will be given. The other registration days are Oct. 15 and 16, but the wise voter will not defer the formality. If you are not qualified, place your name on the registration books tomorrow.

Canadian Smuggling

Smuggling between the United States and Canada is a two-way business. There may be more smuggling pressure in our direction, because our tariff rates are higher than Canada's, and there is always a special incentive for booze-running from the Dominion. But Canada herself has a tariff wall, however modest which she wants to maintain. Canada likewise seeks protection for her semi-arid provinces against American bootleg liquor.

So there is a "smuggling pact" being arranged between the two countries. Each will do its best to stop the evil at its source, interfering with the efforts of its own people to smuggle goods into the other country. There will be more careful scrutiny of bills of lading and slip clearance papers made out in Canada to protect the shipment of liquor across the border. There will be exchange of smuggling information. Patrol boats of either country may be permitted to chase rum runners in the other's waters. There may be a double border patrol.

There is no good reason why such a friendly arrangement cannot be made and carried out, between two countries which are probably the best international neighbors in the world. It should help both, in a practical way, while avoiding causes of friction and promoting their friendship.

Happy Tacoma

It is doubtful if the people of the Puget Sound region know what bad weather is, says the Tacoma Ledger. The day that Tacomans with a 40-degree temperature complained of cold, beyond the Cascades there was heavy snow. The Tacomans always have just enough rain to keep things fresh, without heavy downpours. The winter is cool enough to give nature a short rest, without damage to the plumbing.

"There are two things which sum up the attractions of Florida and California—scenery and climate. As a matter of fact, neither Florida nor California can ever approach Washington for scenery, while the Puget Sound region, with its absence of extremes of heat in summer and cold in winter, possesses a climate superior to that of either of its rivals.

"After all, may it not be possible that we are overlooking an important asset when we fail to tell the world what we have to offer in the way of scenic and climate-logical attractions?"

On a planet full of thunderbolts, cloudbursts, hurricanes and other forms of climatic turmoil, all, apparently seeking to do their worst, it is pleasant to know that somewhere people are not only at peace but happy about it. All right, Tacoma, we'll help you tell the world!

Lower Rents

In New York, where October first is moving day for thousands of people, there is great jubilation over the fact that rents are going down. True, they are only 2 per cent lower than this time last year, but every little helps.

In the country as a whole this 2 per cent average prevails. And the drop is six per cent since the peak of July, 1924. They are still, however, 75 per cent above pre-war figures. Whether this means the beginning of a definite decrease is hard to say. Possibly building has almost caught up in the cities which report the greatest decline in rent.

The home-owner does not have to worry about this phase of life a great deal, although if rents drop very much it means a corresponding depreciation in the value of his property. But the compensations of home-owning are great enough to offset that, when one considers the home as a setting for family life and not merely as a business investment. For the flat-dwellers, every drop is a boon.

The Thing To Study

Young people pondering in which branches of study to specialize, will do well to consider the foreign languages, especially French, Spanish, German and Italian.

The reason for this suggestion is that business interests in this country already are embarked upon a tremendous drive for foreign trade. Marked as the movement is, it is small in comparison to what will develop in the next few years. As a result there is already a demand for persons with some knowledge of foreign languages. The openings are many and varied. They will increase in number and variety as business expands.

It is a field as wide as the world, crowded with possibilities for interest, adventure and success. Happy the youth who fits himself to take advantage of it.

A SCANDAL IN THE FAMILY

A young Irishman whose family was scattered pretty well over the English-speaking portions of the globe emigrated to America. Soon after his arrival in New York he paid a visit to the Bronx zoo. He halted in front of a cage containing one of the largest kangaroos in captivity. After watching the curious creature for some time in an awed silence, he hailed a keeper.

"What's that thing?" he asked.

"That," said the keeper in his best professional manner, "is a marsupial mammal that carries its young in a pouch on its breast, lives on roots and herbs, can jump twenty feet at one leap, is able to knock a human being down with a kick from either hind leg, and is a native of Australia."

"For the love of Hiven!" cried the Irishman, bursting into tears, "Me sisther's married to wan of thim!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Something is happening to New York's serious drinkers. Even Broadway is tapering off. It may be fear of bad liquor or a sudden moral wave. Whatever it is the town is experiencing a spell of sobriety that is alarming bootleggers, the poor dears.

The supply is on hand, but takers are skittish. Dinner parties with no liquor are becoming common. A night club proprietor reports he has not seen a drunk in three weeks. He has been accustomed to "airing" a half dozen a night.

There has for some time been wild rumors of this boulevardier and that suddenly crumpling up in great agony to be rushed off to hospitals for serious operations. Also tales of girls found in a coma after a night's debauch.

Some of the stories are true and others are fiction, but apparently they have given the metropolis a serious fright. Within a very short time I have encountered four men who drank steadily and rather heavily who have been on the waggon for several months.

Three said "Doctor's orders." The fourth said he lost his job after a bad night. One historian accounts for it by explaining that most of the real hardy drinkers got their fill in Europe or Cuba this summer and are waiting the next jaunt.

Nobody seemed to think New York would slow up in its drinking of its own accord. There must, in their opinion, be some underlying cause. A gay time here is usually associated with popping corks and few seem to believe it could be accomplished without it.

It seems it has. A famous head waiter says diners are bringing less refreshments of a liquid nature. His explanation is that they are either slowing up or have run out of pre-war stuff. At any rate it is certain that all around town there is less drinking.

And comes news that one of the biggest executives in New York has a tea-urn on his desk in full view at all times. At four o'clock he brews himself a cup of tea and rests for ten minutes.

I never knew a man who had given up drinking who did not make himself a bit of nuisance with friends trying to influence them to join him in his dry pilgrimage. And when he falls from grace he is just as much a nuisance trying to get the same friends to join in his splash.

One man who quit drinking says he found no peace until he joined a new circle of associates. To them, when tempted, he would say: "I never drink," and afterward they never asked him.

Then there is the story of one stay-out who said to his companion of the evening: "It is a good thing our wives don't know where we were last night."

Again I am told this imitation cider wine that bubbles to the top of delicately flanged glasses in supper clubs like champagne and is sold for $20 a bottle costs 28 cents a bottle in case lots. It has the potency of near beer but such is the power of suggestion that partakers grow thick tongued and staggery. And often promise chance ladies fur coats.

There is one thing a man enjoys more a little tipsy than sober. That is a recital of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." Slightly blotto it appears to be a mighty epic but cold sober—well, it seems terrible.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Economic Cost of British Coal Strike.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—Competent authorities have made careful studies of the effects and the economic cost of the British coal strike, one of the most thoroughly organized and intensively carried on strikes in the history of the English speaking people. Statements have been made to the effect that the cost of the strike will not be less than one billion dollars. In other words more than one fourth of the British war debt to the United States already has been cast aside in economic waste with no one apparently the better off for the extravagance and many much worse off.

But is is impossible to estimate with any even reasonable degree of accuracy the losses due to an extravagant expenditure by a single individual. A man may pay $75 for a suit of clothes when a $50 suit would have served his utilitarian purposes just as well. That difference of $25 conceivably might mean the difference between wealth and poverty. Saved, it might have enabled its owner to take advantage of some situation which would alter his economic and social life and status. Perhaps he might be found without railroad fare to seize an opportunity that would make him rich or happy or both. Such things have happened and will again.

Apply such a principle to a great number of people, in fact to a nation. The figures run much higher in such a case and also have an effect on the material well-being of every individual in the nation. The potentialities are more astounding and the certainty of loss is real. The individual may have conceivably been advantaged by the fact of his rich apparel. But a national expenditure which could have been avoided is a definite thing, an irretrievable loss.

This fascinating subject goes into many ramifications. It will be seen that had even a fraction of the loss to Great Britain as a nation, caused by the coal strike, been applied to payment on the loan due the United States, the American governmental financial condition would have been improved and the taxes of American citizens proportionately lowered.

Although political economy has as many sides as religion and as many opportunities for frank differences of opinion, many have the temerity to espouse the science and assert conclusions which usually must be guesses on account of the mutability and instability of human affairs. The miners state a strong humanitarian case. Conceivably the granting of all of their demands might produce condition of human contentment which could be regarded as worth the vast price paid.

Three highly important institutions have recently discussed the economic aspects of the British coal strike from, shall we say, the sidelines. They are the three largest banks in the world under private ownership and management: Barclays bank and the Midland bank, both of London, and the National City bank of New York; two British and one American.

Loss Not Merely Monetary.

The Midland bank declines to discuss in figures estimates of losses but contents itself with a sort of summary paragraph to its report saying:

"To start with a proposition to be proved, it may forthwith be laid down that the losses, leaving aside any psychological and similar effects, all resolve themselves into a wearing away of the standard of living of the population of this country, regarded as an economic unit, and that the reduction so effected may persist for a long period after a settlement has been reached. Indeed, it can truthfully be said that the standard of living may never be as high as it might have been had the effective relations between the miners and mine owners not been severed for so long a priod."

In its analysis the Midland bank asks how the cost of the World war could be figured and, in effect, if the enormity of the losses sustained could ever be even roughly estimated. The amounts of expenditures, paid out of loans and tax collections, are known but these presumably represent but a fraction of the true economic loss.

This analysis notes that four million persons are directly connected on the miners' side of the question. This does not include what mine owners lost through inability to meet the demand. Two million more of the working group of the nation are added to allow for employes of other industries which were required to suspend production entirely or sharply curtail it through inability to get coal or necessity of paying a high price for imported coal. All this is immediate loss and might in some crude manner be calculated within a few tens of millions. But the far greater loss is shown to be the potential one.

The statement invites attention to the fact that the business depression caused by the strike inevitably must curtail the revenues of the British government. This will mean a less favorable budget involving a slowing up of debt payment and a possible increase in taxation. Such an increase would fall less on the laboring men than on the middle salaried class who had nothing to do with the affair whatever. Further, it is pointed out, a reduction in investment of capital abroad is unavoidable because of the losses arising out of the strike. This will mean that what would have been a normal increase in the volume of interest income flowing back to Great Britain will not be realized. That must necessarily affect the balance of trade and slow up British efforts to add to her prosperity by expanding her overseas commerce. The bank goes on with arguments of special interest all to approximately the same effect.

Foreign Trade Affected.

Barclays bank takes up the foreign trade aspect ands hows that imports of raw materials in July last were 30,800,000 pounds sterling compared with 27,600,000 pounds sterling in July a year ago. This is shown to be accounted for by the strike. Great Britain had to pay out to other nations a greater sum of money because it was necessary to import coal and to import materials which could not be produced in adequate quantities at home because of the strike in the coal mines.

To this must be added that exports of British coal were negligible in July and coal has been one of the great itsems of British export bringing millions into the country from foreign countries and from ships touching at British ports and desiring bunker coal.

Barclays bank goes on to show the prostration of the great steel industry of the country. It states that in July there were but eleven blast furnaces in operation compared with 147 before the strike.

The National City bank suggests that probably one difficulty in the situation is that there are too many organizations on both the side of the miners and that of the mine owners. This American bank also says that there are too many mines and too many miners in Great Britain to make an harmonious industry easily possible. Incidentally, this is the opinion of many economists and government officials here regarding the American mining industry.

An interesting point is brought out by the statement that the necessity to import coal has diverted ships to that grade causing wasteful congestion in the shipment of the American grain crop abroad and in the shipment of other commodities to all parts of the world.

The National City bank does not attempt any estimate of the loss caused by the strike but does quote an illuminating figure. Tt shows that the injury to British trade is indicated by the fact that the gross earnings of the British railways have declined sixteen per cent since the strike began.

The bank philosophizes on the situation in the following terms:

"The common law of community life is that every one shall be self-supporting, adjusting himself to economic conditions from which the entire community is suffering, or to follow a course which aggravates those conditions, while deliberately leaving to others the task of safeguarding his own dependents from the effects."

The latter statement relates to the fact that millions have been sent by other nations for the relief of the miners' families.

CITY OUTLINES LIGHT SYSTEM

Will Enter Into 10-year Contract With Company.

The city took its first step toward renewing its electric lighting system last night when council directed Safety-Service Director George P. Ashley to enter into a contract with the Ohio Power Co., for the installation of lights, subject to the approval of the board of control, and to include free lighting for the fire station, under existing arrangements.

The solons discussed lights and locations for nearly an hour, preparatory to outlining the proposed system.

"The people want light," Mayor W. L. Fogo told the solons," and they're entitled to it. They indicated, whe[illegible] they voted for a bond issue here not so long ago that they wanted light. The city owes the light company now only about $1,700 and when I first came in here, it was something like $12,000, so the city is in pretty good shape to go ahead with plans for extending our present system."

The power company's terms will call for a 10-year contract, with prices based on $50 annually for each 400 candlepower lamp, $40 for the 250 lamps and $25 for the 100 lamps.

Council, on the recommendation of the street and light committee, acted to notify property owners in Beech street to move holdings back off the street. In one instance, a garage is built into the street and on another property a fence extends out too far, solons said.

PATTON HEARING NEARING FINISH

Hearing of ouster proceedings against Mayor S. H. Patton, of Steubenville, alleged by 412 petitioners to have been lax in the performance of his duties, is expected to reach a conclusion late today when attorneys will lauch their final arguments.

Today's testimony was chiefly that of ministers and welfare workers who told of conducting private investigations into alleged illegal houses which they are seeking to prove were operated openly and with the permission of the mayor.

Another charge directed at the mayor was that he permitted an internationally known criminal to be discharged from custody before a case could be made against him.

Mayor Patton was expected to take the stand today and make a denial of all the charges.

Mrs. Grover Bibbee will be hostess to members of the Gleaners' Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church Friday evening at her home in Washington avenue. The monthly business meeting will be held.

MOTOR CRASHES INTO FARM WAGON

A Chandler touring car, driven by H. O. Means, this city, was badly damaged, and a farm wagon, driven by William Thorne, of Highlandtown, was partially demolished when the wagon was struck by the automobile last night at 7:30 o'clock, during a heavy rain, on the highway a short distance south of Highlandtown.

Means escaped unhurt although Thorne was bruised and shaken up. The latter was thrown from the wagon by the force of the collision and the wagon crashed against the horses.

Means was enroute to Salineville when the accident occurred. He asserted that the headlights of a machine approaching from the opposite direction temporarily caused him to lose sight of the road ahead, and, he claims, he was unable to perceive any lights on the wagon. When the latter vehicle came into his range of vision, he declares, he jerked on the brakes and skidded into the rear of the wagon.

WAGON TOPPLES OVER HILLSIDE

Floyd Warrick, 36 years old, of this city, narrowly escaped possible serious injury when he leaped from a rapidly moving milk wagon yesterday a few seconds before it toppled over the declevity at the top of the first turn in Highland avenue near the Whitacre residence.

Warrick was delivering milk for the Rosenberg Co., in the district and had left the horse and wagon in the street. The horse, for some reason, unknown, started off. It began to run and Warrick jumped onto the rear of the vehicle, grabbing the reins, in an effort to stop the horse. Realizing the possibility of a fall over the embankment, he leaped from the wagon, sustained injuries to his shoulder and bruises about his body and legs.

BOND ISSUE IS GIVEN O. K.

Solons Favor Passage of $45,000 Measure.

Wellsville city council last night, went on record as unanimously approving the proposed $45,000 bond issue for the improvement of sewers and the purchase of a fire truck which will be put up to voters at the November election.

Councilmen were a unit in the opinion that the issue was one of the most needed in the city's history with conditions as they are at present.

The action followed a discussion of the conditions in the west end of the city where rain storms have played havoc with streets, sewers, and general property.

"Three thousand dollars will not touch that sewer work," asserted Councilman Nicholson, referring to improvements under way on the McQueen's Run job. "It's going to take lots of work and lots of money will be needed."

In a lengthy talk, Mayor Fogo described minutely progress that work crews, under his direction and that of Service Director Ashley, had made in their seven weeks' fight against the ravages of the storms.

Six weeks' work was washed away in the last of the heavy rainstorms, he said, the most destruction the city has ever experienced. McQueen's run sewer could have been kept open, he declared, by frequent cleanings in former years. He questioned whether the city had a right to go into property between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets to correct conditions there, but was advised by Solicitor Luccock that property owners in the locality would welcome relief measures.

Beware Warning Signals of Failing Glandular System

THOUSANDS of men and women are weak, worn-out, run down and exhausted, losing strength and losing weight, and fail to recognize the cause, which is often glandular insufficiency, or a weakened glandular system.

Glands exert a remarkable influence on normal health and vigor, according to eminent medical authorities, and when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Science now points a new way to vigorous health and vitality—glandular treatment. Now eminent physicians of this country and Europe prescribe glandular treatment for glandular insufficiency. Remarkable benefits result often in a short time.

If you are weak-worn-out and run down, week the thrill of vigorous health and vitality this new way.

FIRE THWARTS MINE RESCUERS

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., Oct. 6.—Thwarted by fire and the danger of another explosion, rescue workers today admitted it may be days and even weeks before the bodies of 21 miners still remaining in the wrecked workings of the Roane Iron company's mine here can be recovered.

Although rescue crews worked steadily in two hour relays, no more bodies had been brought to the surface since early yesterday when six were recovered. The official death toll has been placed at 27 by company officials.

Owing to the danger of the fire said to be raging in the mine, the rescue crews were obliged to work slowly and cautiously.

"MEN OF STEEL" THRILL FILM

Milton Sills Stars in Picture at American.

Picture two men, helpless in a huge iron vat. High above them is a raving maniac manipulating the controls of a giant crane that is swinging a huge ladle filled with molten steel. He is swinging it slowly but surely toward the helpless men in the vat. His sole intent is to dump the molten mass on the heads of the two men who cannot escape. As the ladle approaches the men great masses of the liquid steel slop over and fall to the floor of the steel mill, spraying death to whoever steps in its path.

FORUM MEETING IS SCHEDULED

Wheeling Presbytery to Launch Educational Program.

Wheeling presbytery will hold the first of the Educational Forum meetings planned by the board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian church of America in the First Presbyterian church of Moundsville, Tuesday, October 19.

The meeting will be attended by members of every Presbyterian church in the state. It will precede the annual state synodical to be held that evening in the Moundsville church. About 100 clergymen and elders from the three presbyteries of the state, Wheeling, Grafton and Parkersburg synods will be present at the all-day meeting.

The educational program to be launched at this meeting is considered the most forward step ever taken by the board of Christian Education and the committee on education of the presbytery. The religious education of young people from the primary classes through to those attending colleges and universities will be considered. Religious education has not advanced with secular education and the work to be inaugurated by the Presbyterian church marks a new era in the work of the church and will doubtlessly set the mark for all the other churches of America.

Rev. Charles H. McDonald, D. D., associate director of the department of men's work of the board of Christian Education, of Philadelphia will preside over the meeting and will deliver the opening address. A survey of the programs and needs of religious education in the churches of the Wheeling Presbytery is being made and will be an interesting part of the program of the session. The leading clergymen of the Presbyterian church in this state will be among the speakers.

PRIEST HITS SUNDAY GAMES

Rev. W. J. Sauer, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic church, today in a communication to the Review-Tribune, declared against the playing of football here on Sunday. The communication follows:

"I always try to keep out of public disputes and I think my place for giving my opinion and making corrections is restricted to my pulpit, but, occasionally circumstances oblige me to make a public statement.

"A am quoted as being in favor of football on Sundays. I want to correct this error and before doing so I want to make clear my stand on games. I am not at all opposed to football and am not opposed to any game, private or public, as long as it is a clean game. Football on Sundays, I do not consider wrong in itself. It is what influence it has on people, I consider wrong. Any one interested in the game will have it in his mind, uppermost and, consequently, he has little or no time for the things that pertain to God and to the salvation of his soul. Christ said to His disciples, Matt. vi:24, 'No man can serve two masters for either he will hate one and love the other or he will cling to one and slight the other. Ye can not serve God and mammon.' Mammon means the worldly affairs.

"I do not belong to the Ministerial Association of Chester but I am with them absolutely in this matter and I shall do all in my power to prevent Chester from becoming a dumping place for things that desecrate the Lord's day. We work six days a week and one day is set aside for God and I believe in giving that day, undivided, to Him from whom we have everything that is good. I believe in a quiet Sunday in order to keep the minds of the people undisturbed and make them more apt to think of why man was created. I believe in working when it is time to work, play when it is time to play and give honor and glory to God on the day which was set aside by God Himself to receive honor and glory. I believe strongly in the word of Christ, 'Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's.'"

TENTS SHIPPED TO FLOOD ZONE IN ILLINOIS

LEVEES WRECKED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. — Army tents and stoves have been shipped to Hillview, Ill., for the relief of flood sufferers, the war department was advised today by Maj. Gen. William S. Graves, commanding general of the Sixth corps area with headquarters at Chicago.

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Oct. 6.—Streets of Beardstown today became swirling torrents as the water of the Illinois river swept with increased fury over the levees and into more than 90 per cent of the entire city. More than 1,000 persons are homeless. Beardstown is preparing for the worst flood in its history.

Fighting against time and the rising river, men labored through the night and early today, frantically loading and placing sand bags against the foundations, which have not as yet experienced the ravages of the 15-day rains.

Forecast More Rain.

Rain fell yesterday, last night and early today. The forecast is for more rain. A more disheartening spectacle has never been presented to the people here. Millions of dollars worth of property has been destroyed.

As a steady stream of homeless sought the headquarters of the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army, a call was sent out by Mayor M. H. Harris for additional tents and clothing supplies. Brig. Gen. John Andrews of the Peoria Salvation Army arrived today to take active charge of relief work.

Weather Forecaster Hayes of St. Louis stated that the water here would rise several inches above the height gained during the 1922 flood, which has served to prepare the city for a possible yearly visitation of water. The mark early today stood at 24.8 feet above normal.

Alleged Hit-skip Motorist Held for Death of Ohioan

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 6. — Lamont J. Kollar, 32, today was arrested and charged with having driven an automobile which killed Fred Steele, Monday, and causing injuries to Mrs. Steele which may result fatally.

Stepdaughter Slain, Wife Wounded in Chicago Quarrel

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Michael Brennan, 55, was held in the county jail today following a domestic quarrel in the Brennan home during the course of which Brennan's stepdaughter was shot and killed and his wife probably fatally wounded. Brennan is charged with the shooting.

Capital and Labor

a number of the churches has been cancelled. It is difficult to believe that the churches in the city of Detroit would yield to such sinister influence. Neither the working people of this city nor the churches of this city can be free when they are subjected to the control of such selfish interests."

C. N. Van Dusen, president of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. admitted that the invitation to Green to address the "Y" meeting had been withdrawn. It was reported, though neither affirmed nor denied by "Y" officials, that this action followed a hurried board meeting after Green's speech on Monday. Included among the "Y" board members are former Senator Truman H. Newberry, Charles Beecher Warren, rejected by the U. S. senate for attorney general, because of his corporation connections; Howard Coffin, noted automotive and aircraft engineer and other Detroit leaders. President Van Dusen is general manager of the Kresge chain stores organization.

The church controversy today has overshadowed the work of the convention itself. While committees were working on their routine proceedings during the recess between noon yesterday and this morning, federation officials were centering their attention on this new problem that confronted them.

Because of the growth of motor busses in Assam, India, authorities there are considering the improvement of old roads which cannot withstand the present heavy traffic.

Two Autos Stolen; One Is Abandoned In Center Alley

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Stimulated by Judge Gary's forecast of an increase in incoming orders of the steel corporation and a continuation of good business in the country as a whole, the bulls in the stock market marked up prices two to three points on the representative railroad and industrial stocks in the first period today.

There was plenty of stock for sale at, or slightly under, the higher range of prices, and the buoyant opening movement did not carry very far. Steel common and General Motors received the most attention in the industrial list, while the Nickel Plate stocks and a few of the "investment rails" maintained a strong tone. Erie common and both issues of the preferred stock were heavy bought, on reports that the preferred stocks would be "taken care of" in the Van Sweringen merger.

Maintenance of the high rate of domestic business was shown by the report of car loadings for the week of September 25, a total of 1,182,940 cars having been loaded that week. The weekly crude oil production report of the Petroleum Institute was not favorable and oil stocks were again unsettled.

Continental Baking Class A, liberally offered by the professionals, declined five points to 56⅜ against the year's high at 95. The class B stock also reached a new low for the year at 9.

BISHOP BROWN AT MEET HERE

Galion Man Will Speak at Worker's Aid Rally.

Bishop William Montgomery Brown, Galion, who was expelled from the Episcopal church about a year ago on heresy charges, arrived here today for a meeting which will be held at the Ceramic Cafeteria hall, West Fifth street, at 8 o'clock tonight for the benefit of the striking English coal miners. His subject will be "Evolution and Revolution."

He will speak under the auspices of the East Liverpool branch of the International Workers' Aid, local labor organization. John Marshall, New York, who is visiting his former home in Leetonia, will preside at the meeting.

Bishop Brown came here from Salem, where he spoke last night. He said all funds collected at his meetings go to the relief of the English miners. Both men and women are invited to attend.

Trial of Bishop Brown, who was connected with the Episcopal church for approximately 44 years, upon charges of heresy attracted nation-wide attention. He said he had been recently consecrated as a bishop in the Old Catholic church.

The bishop will return to his home in Galion tomorrow to prepare for a speaking engagement which will take him to New York, Massachusetts and other eastern cities. Later he will tour Minnesota, Nebraska and other mid-western states.

Civic Music Concert

when the plans for the season were discussed.

Cesare Formichi, who will appear in the initial attraction, is a former member of the Chicago Civic Opera company. He began his career as a baritone soloist in the Lyric theatre in Milan. He next filled engagements in the principal opera houses in Italy, Barcelona, Madrid, Paris, Vienna and Buenos Aires. He is a versatile singer and his roles cover practically the entire range of opera.

His assistant, Miss Edith Mason, is also a former member of the Chicago Civic Opera company. She was a student at the Boston Conservatory, when she was called upon to take the place of the prima donna in a performance of "Pagliacci." Without previous rehearsal she sang the part with success.

Glenn Drake is a native of Iowa. While in college he was a leader in musical activities. In 1917 he enlisted with the United States army and served with distinction in France where he was known as "The Yankee Troubadour." He was discharged on European soil so that he might sing for the troops stationed in France.

He returned to the United States in 1920 and immediately entered the concert field.

BOOK THREE—XIII.

He advanced into his room and took the thin stack of letters from the desk, skimming through them hopefully. He had reason to expect a check from home; that is to say, he had written beseeching one in a manner so fervent that he assured himself it could not fail of results. He read aloud, "Mr. Jock Hamill, Mr. Jock Hamill, Mr. Laurence Allen—from Sis, that won't help the poor and needy—Mr. Jock Hamill—"

He held this last missive off and surveyed it with truculence. It was unstamped, and bore no address. Just his roommate's name. The envelope was rimmed in black, and its flap had a black monogram—E B H in letters that caught hold of one another's toes like acrobats hanging from a trapeze.

"That dumb dame!" Bones grunted. "Why the devil won't she let him alone?" He brought the envelope to his nose and inhaled disgustedly. "All stink-o with perfume—"

He gave his own letter the cursory perusal young men invariably accord the communication of young ladies to whom they are related. Even Peg's declaration that she was contemplating matrimony failed to win from him more than a tolerant smile. Peg was always contemplating matrimony—merely contemplating. She had been engaged so many times during the course of her kaleidoscopic career that any such announcement had become as the celebrated cry of "Wolf! Wolf!"—and was so accepted by her family. "Of course," she wrote now, "you're saying, 'What, again?' and thinking this is just another laugh. But I'm serious. I really think it's going to take, this time. You don't know the victim, but he's Johnny Havens of New York and I learned about fiances from him" . . .

Bones tossed the scribbled sheets onto his chiffonier and began to disrobe. He wondered where Jock was. After a time he picked up the battered nickel alarm clock and leaned drunkenly against the caster of his bed and squinted at it. A relic, that alarm clock. One-legged, and with sketches and legends pock-marking its unglassed face. Just now one hand pointed to a lady with a corncob pipe in her mouth. The other pointed to "Andover 1918." This means that the hour lacked 15 minutes to 6.

Bones went to the door, his mouth opened wide to bellow his roommate's name. Encountering Pink Davis on the threshold, he closed it to the degree adapted to propinquity and said, "Seen Jock any place?"

"Not since noon," said Pink.

"Wonder where he is?"

"Still out with the streamline siren, I guess."

"The what? Who you talking about?"

"That's right, you didn't come in till afterward, did you?" Pink recollected. He sat down, hoisted his feet to a table and prepared for oratory "Say, you should have been here! We're all downstairs waiting for chow, when what should pull up out in front but Buckingham Palace on wheels containing a red-headed baby that would knock your eye out. In the midst of the riot that follows, Jock meanders in, takes one look, and dashes through the door like a bat out of hell. Seems she's a petting acquaintance of his, or what-have-you. Pretty soon he brings her back in with him, and a lot more redskins bite the dust. No foolin', Bones, she was bottled-in-bond stuff, and I don't mean maybe! She stayed a little while, talking to us, and then she and Jock rode off together. And nobody's seen him since."

Bones, who had been listening intently, now waggled a bent-back thumb in the direction of Yvonne's photograph. "That the one?"

"Oh, well, you knew how he is—mum's his middle name. He never said anything tto me either except to tell me her name—Yvonne Mountford—but he's certainly looked a bookfull.' Bones' eyes fell from the picture to the desk where the note from Eunice lay, a somehow flamboyant black-and-white square on the worn green blotter. "Humph!" he sneered as it under his breath.

A few minutes later Jock came in. They heard him approaching, whistling a tune—one of those modern tunes about blisses and kisses and happiness-this-is—and they winked jovially at one another. A college boy loves to tease, and here would be a rare distinguished opportunity. They rose simultaneously as Jock entered and they shook his hand with solemn and silent gusto.

"Gentlemen, I thank you," he said, equally solemn. "I do indeed. Your greeting warms the cockles of my heart, e'en while it bewilders me." He shrugged himself out of his coat and stood regarding them quizzically. "Have I been elected Dean of the college? I knew it was only a question of time—"

"Jock," interrupted Pink softly, "what kind of an afternoon did you have?"

Jock smiled, and rolled his eyes heavenward, over-emphasizing the rapture he felt to the point where it seemed caricature. "Ah!" he sighed. "You should ask me!"

"Where's the momma?" Bones wanted to know.

Pink burst into song. "'That red-head gal, la-de-da, la-de-da, she's got me worr-ried—'" He subsided, to add, "Ne'mind, Jock, I'm with you. You know how to pick 'em."

"Don't I, though?"

"I don't see how you do it," Pink continued. "I swear I don't. I was just saying to Bones before you came in, how does he do it, and Bones said, 'Why, it's his fatal beauty—"

Jock bowed his head approvingly to Bones. "Truest words you ever uttered, brother!" . . . Secretly he was restless and impatient, bored with this persiflage and the necessity of returning it in kind. He long to be by himself, alone with the new great glory that had risen in an hour from the ashes of an old ideal. He wanted to look into the mirror at the man whom Yvonne loved, and try to understand how she could. He wanted to think of the future. Of Yvonne belonging to him . . . not only saying that she would some day, but actually being his. It was a prospect to take the breath away like a keen wind in the face, to make his arms reach out suddenly and the blood leap and sing in the veins. . . . Maddening, to have to be facetious and light about it all for the sake of these two who watched eagle-eyed. Damn Pink Davis, anyway! "—that baby can use my toothbrush any time," Pink was now magnanimously declaring.

Jock sprawled in a chair and lit his pipe. "Any mail?" he inquired, to change the subject.

"Desk," said Bones succintly.

Two letters propped against the inkwell, and a third flat on the blotter. He picked this up and glowered, much as Bones had glowered at it some minutes earlier. "Now what?" he said to himself. He perceived that Bones was looking at him over his shoulder with eyes darkly round in a ruddy face. The eyes flickered meaningly toward Pink and back again. Jock, thus warned, pushed the note into his pocket, where it seemed to weigh heavily, with a weight amazing in such a flimsy thing.

Later, when Pink had departed, he took it out and slapped it thoughtfully against the palm of his hand. He could not have explained why, but he was loath to open it. "When did this come?" he asked.

"Found it when I got back from track," said Bones. He gesticulated with a hairbrush. "For criminy's sake, Jock, tell that female to lay off! How can you expect the chatter to pipe down as long as she calls up on the 'phone and sends you notes by special messenger?"

Hupmobile Six a Leader, Also, In Complete, Modern Equipment

What goes into a motor car is vastly more important than what goes on it. You will not buy, of course, on mere externals and non-essentials, but on proven performance, dependability, long life, and low cost of maintenance. To superiority in these fundamentals, however, the Hupmobile Six also joins the latest and most complete equipment to be found on any car in its price class.

Sedan, five-passenger, four-door, $1385. Coupe, two-passenger, with rumble seat, $1385. Touring, five-passenger, $1385. Equipment includes 30 x 5.25 balloon tires, four-wheel brakes.

All prices f. o. b. Detroit, plus revenue tax.

Our used cars are good buys—not only because they are bargains, but also because they are sold with your complete satisfaction first in mind.

The premium of 10% that Hupmobile spends to insure better materials, more thorough inspection and closer, more accurate measurements, pays handsome returns to the Hupmobile Six owner.

For as the direct result of such scrupulous attention to engineering and manufacturing detail, the Hupmobile owner may expect an addition of at least 25% to the useful life of his car.

That Hupmobile actually delivers this extra value is proved by the number of Hupmobiles driven long after the majority of moderately priced cars are traded in.

Hupmobile today maintains the same high standards in building its Six that it has rigidly adhered to in 18 years of quality manufacture.

The Six is not merely outstanding in smoothness, in power and in acceleration, but it is built to retain those characteristics through the years.

It is a new Six in the sense that it is a development of the past two years—designed without regard to outworn precedents, and constructed to deliver a new type of more brilliant and lasting performance.

You will note on the Hupmobile Six advanced features that you would expect only on cars of much higher price, such as thermostatic control of the cooling system, vibration damper, four-wheel brakes, gasoline filter, oil filter, etc.

But you will find such features added, not as sales points, but engineered into and part of the thorough-going quality that makes up the value-appeal of this fine car.

A telephone call will bring the Six model you wish to inspect to your door—the roomy, family-size five-passenger Sedan or the attractive two-passenger Coupe with handy rumble seat for two extra people. See the Hupmobile Six by all means before investing money in any car.

Yank Bats Still In 'Hock' As Cards Become 2-1 Favorites.

Breadon Won't Come Out Until Fans Forget Series Tickets

"Only 35,000" Could Get in Yesterday; "Umps" Hildebrand Makes Certain About Rain This Time; Shawkey Great Relief Pitcher—"Relief" to Yankees When He Leaves Game.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Remembering the general irritation that followed when last he had seen fit to call a world series game, Umpire Hildebrand sought counsel when it seemed necessary to halt proceedings in the fourth inning. He knew it was raining but the last time he thought he knew it was dark, so it was his desire not to appear over confident.

Haines just used that fast one often enough to show the boys that he had it. He didn't want them to be getting any false impressions.

Sam Breadon expects to appear on the public highways again some time after the first of the year. By that time, disappointed ticket seekers will be busy with something important, like trying to remember the name of the man who sang tenor at the grocers' picnic a year ago last August.

The half hour interruption might have done Haines' arm practically no good but the Yanks declined to investigate. They went after the first ball when play was resumed.

Shawkey has proved a great relief pitcher. It has been a great relief to the Cardinals every time he has left the pastime.

John McGraw spent the afternoon trying to radiate good cheer in the press box. It couldn't be done. Billy Southworth still was making base hits.

Huggins doesn't change his mind any more than an actor changes his clothes. First Hoyt warmed up, then Shawkey, next Thomas, then Shawkey again and finally Hoyt.

The Cardinals supplied souvenir score cards drafted for the benefit of Singer's Midgets. One could read the thing with great surety at a distance of 6¾ inches.

They waited with much patience and Koenig finally rewarded them by throwing one away. The young man owes himself at least three more.

Hornsby was not very worried about Haines when he passed Paschal to open the eighth. All Rogers did was to spend the next five minutes wondering whether he should shoot Haines or himself.

He finally arrived at the proper conclusion. He did neither.

St. Louis apparently can turn its civic emotion on and off like a faucet. It romps all over the place until 11:30 and then goes quietly and sanely to bed. A lot of smart men haven't learned that trick yet.

RAIN HOLDS UP CHICAGO SERIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The baseball championship of Chicago still hung in the balance today as the White Sox and Cubs, together with a host of breathless fans, were praying for fair weather and a chance to end the suspense.

The sixth game, scheduled for yesterday, was won by Jupe Pluvious who pitched a shutout. The rain spoiled the White Sox's chance to end the series. They have won three games and the Cubs have won two.

Today's game is scheduled for Comiskey park, home of the White Sox. If Collins' crew wins it will be all over but the "I told you sos."

"Just Bad Break," Says Hug, Praising Shortstop.

By Ford C. Frick.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—To Waite Hoyt, veteran right-hander, will go the task of stopping the Cardinals in the fourth game of the series this afternoon, according to announcement made by Miller Huggins this morning. Hornsby is expected to counter with Flint Rhem, youthful right-hander, whose fast ball has become the talk of the National league.

"We lost yesterday because we're not hitting," Huggins said this morning. "We've made a total of 15 hits for 15 bases in three ball games. You can't win ball games on that sort of hitting.

"Our pitching has been good," Huggins continued. "Pennock turned in a masterpiece the first day. Shocker went well in the second game, when a single pitched ball robbed him of victory. And yesterday 'Dutch' Ruether was upset through no fault of his own, but because of an error that permitted three Cardinal runs in and when they should have been shut out."

Speaking of that error, Huggins had a good word for Mark Koenig. "It seems as though bad luck is following Koenig always," he said. "Mark has played great ball in this series—the best of any man on the club. And his error yesterday was no fault of his. He slipped in the mud when he pivoted and the wet, heavy ball slipped from his fingers. No man could have done better under the circumstances. It was just one of those breaks of baseball that determine winning and losing clubs."

The spirit of the Yankees was high this morning, despite their two defeats. All of the boys figure that they are due to start hitting soon.

FAIR AND COOLER IS WEATHER TIP

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Bright, cloudless skies and a slight breeze, which carried a tang of autumn, greeted this baseball-mad town today as it arose for the fourth game of the world's series.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Although Jess Haines officially leads the world's series batters with two hits in three times at bat, the leader among the regulars is Billy Southworth, Cardinal outfielder, whose average is .455.

Combs and Dugan, still tied at .333, lead the Yankees. By raising his mark to a modest .200, Babe Ruth gained a slight advantage over Rogers Hornsby, who is hitting only .182.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The difference between the flat swing, which is simple, and the upright swing, which is a better swing but somewhat complicated, is that in the upper right the plane of the shoulders differs from the plane of the club-head. In the up-right the shoulders are turned, with the body held largely to its address position, until the shoulders are approximately at right angles to the direction line. Meantime the club is elevated with the arms, almost directly upward. As the club goes up the left shoulder is forced somewhat down under the right, this being because of the stoop of the body. Care should be taken not to let the left shoulder droop and to keep the left side as a whole in the plane of the orignal address stoop. Some weight is kept on the left foot for balancing purposes in the upright swing.

New York's Clubbing Strength At Low Ebb As Fourth Tilt Looms

Rhem or Rinehart May be Sent Out to Pitch Against Easterners This Afternoon; Huggin's Choice it is Understood, May be Hoyt; 15 Hits Total Obtained by Yanks to Date.

By Davis J. Walsh.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Another seance of pernicious dementia seized this mad town by the scruff of the neck this morning and hurled it, gibbering and inarticulate, into the light of a new day to face the hardly credible fact that it was harboring not only a pennant winner in the National league but the prospective victor of the world's series as well.

The fourth game of that very pestiferous event will be played, weather willing, at Sportsman's park this afternoon and the Cardinals can save their town from the advanced stages of insanity only by losing it. If they win it, they will be out in front by three games to one over the New York Yankees and once that happens, they'll have to give the boys in town something to play with besides paper dolls and the idea that Napoleon lives in St. Louis.

The jolly, old citizens were imbued with the idea that it was all good clean fun, as long as the Cards continued to win, and the way they romped over the civic premises last night and this morning was enough to provide plenty of fresh material for towns that have been able to take their world series or let it alone. St. Louis admits that it is a competitive toper and is beginning to believe that the rest of the country doesn't know what it has missed all these years, certainly, any town that gets as much enjoyment out of its own ingenuity seems almost to rate as a permanent world series site.

Cards Young Team.

It might become semi-permanent, at that. The Cards are a comparatively young team and the odds today were all in favor of them faring forth, in the year of grace, 1927, as the champions of the world. All they needed to achieve this high estate was to break even on the remaining four games of the series.

Indeed, it looked so absolutely simple that the boys were out on the streets waving $3 to bet against $1 that the Cards would do it. They forgot, however, that the Yankees weren't able to hit a lonely lick through the first three games and that a slugging club that will do that is much overdue.

It may be that they will break out in an epidemic of hitting today. The understanding was that Hornsby will turn loose Flint Rhem for the first time during the series and somehow, the impression has become rampant that the young man will prove a great boon to New York. One can't prove it by his league record but fooling horseflies and baseball experts seems to be equally difficult. However, some of the master minds thought Art Reinhart would get the call and personally I think he is due.

May Try Hoyt.

It was understood, also, that Mr. Huggins had decided to stake his little all on Waite Hoyt, the manly mortician. Hoyt is practicing to be an embalmer in the off season, so it may be that the choice will be a happy one. Yankee hopes were dying fast when our Mr. Hoyt's name was mentioned.

The gentleman pitched nearly an entire ball game against a team of invisible hitters down along the right field foul line yesterday and this probably entitles him to go in there today. This may not sound exactly right to St. Louis but they figure things differently in New York, even though the element of logic may be lacking.

But as far as that went, it made little difference who pitched for the Yanks. What Huggins was very desirous of learning was who, if anyone, was going to do some hitting.

The Yanks have obliged with exactly 15 hits in three games, which according to my elementary mathematics makes exactly 5 per copy. You can't paint any fences with that kind of goulash.

Our Mr. Ruth, for example, had been expected to take issue with Mr. Hornsby as the leading exponent of the soulful sock. Neither has seen fit to be extremely prolific in this respect but George has been positively abstemious. He has hit two balls out of the infield and both have been singles. No Yankee, in fact, has hit for more than one base.

As for Meusel, he has made one hit and it hasn't been with Miller Huggins.

If He Loses, Pennock's Rest May be Cut Short.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 6.—Wilful Waite Hoyt, the flatbush undertaker may lay a white lily on New York City's hope of another world baseball championship this afternoon.

Wilful Waite is slated to pitch for our Yankees in the fourth game of the current large currency series, and if he takes one on his dimpled chin it will be all over, because St. Louis has already done its shouting.

To be sure, there will still be Herbert Pennock, the silver fox fancier of Pennsylvania, but good as he undoubtedly is, Herbert is not winnin any world's series single handed a alone. About five full days of re is what Pennock needs and it is Miller Huggin's earnest wish that he get it.

Thus Hoyt becomes the last of the Moe-Huggins, and as he goes today will the Yankees. If he can check rush of the cocy Cardinal-cre Hornsboys, big towners will be on nearly even terms. We say ne even terms because, win or lose, Louis will still have an edge in pitching department.

If this young fellow, Flint Rhem, of the Rhems of Rhems, S. C., can best the blond undertaker of Brooklyn this afternoon, Hornsby can come back with Arthur Reinhart on Thursday.

If Reinhart should win (there seems to be a lot of ifs creeping into this), St. Louis would have the distinction of having captured a world's series with five different pitchers on five different days. That illustrates pretty clearly just how flush Hornsby is with flinging talent.

Huggins is far from being so fortunate. Let Hoyt be beaten and we will have to let Pennock go with only four days in which to recover from his brilliant but tough game of Saturday.

Asks No Questions.

The business, of course, can be reckoned on a two-way basis. Either the Cardinal pitchers have been very good or the Yankee hitters have been quite bad. I suspect it has been a little bit of both.

Whatever the answer, St. Loui willing today to accept the with no questions asked. what appeared to be a super club win the first mode ries game ever to gr roundings and the man the victory was gained left the local imagination, which to be one of the most vivid American continent.

Show the local addicts a tea cardinal red that can outhit, ou outguess and outgame an opp and they will read you the futur a soap salesman reading his m The Cardinals may be able wrong during the rest of this but they will have a hard time it.

WITH Coach George Kidder's proteges idle and Chester in action on a "foreign" lot, scholastic gridiron fans of the district will turn their attention to Wellsville where the Orange and Black will entertain the strong Dover scholastic eleven.

The Wellsville-Dover tilt will be staged at Hammond park, a short distance north on the Salineville road, this year's contests having been taken there to escape the disadvantages of the seasonal rain and mud which have made Central park anything but a good gridiron.

The Blue and White will rest Saturday. It was originally planned to schedule Massillon, but the latter school signed up for a game before the locals could complete negotiations and it is just as well, in view of the condition of the squad following its defeat Saturday at the hands of Akron East.

Larkins, captain and center, will be out for several weeks, and his efforts should certainly be needed in a game with any eleven such as Massillon. Several other regulars are feeling the effects of bumps and bruises and can utilize the layoff.

Dover has had an edge on Wellsville in games in recent years but Coach Klinck is confident his crew will be able to turn the tables during the coming week-end.

Mound City Is Mad City As Fans Raise-Well, A Lot of Racket To Celebrate End of 38-Year Wait

By KATHARINE BRUSH.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Do you remember the day the Armistice was signed and have you ever seen a mardi gras at New Orleans and can you imagine what a national convention of insane asylums would look like? Combine the three and you will have some slight idea of the state of affairs in the city of St. Louis.

Thirty-eight years the St. Louis fans have waited for a big league baseball pennant. Thirty-eight years and one month since the first of September, when the Cardinals last left town—they have waited to greet a pennant-winning ball team of their own. Last night the endless wait ended. And if every fountain and cooler and cold water faucet in town had been dispensing wine instead of water all day long, the effect on the populace couldn't have been much worse.

"Man kills the thing he loves." So said Oscar Wilde, and the scene at the Washington street station when the Cardinals' special train pulled in and disgorged its freight of homecoming heroes proved conclusively that Oscar knew his oats. The Cardinals were not quite killed by the affectionate demonstrations of the throng of admirers assembled at the station to welcome them—but if the police had not intervened they probably would have been. All of them emerged torn of clothing and red of face and such bright particular stars as Rogers Hornsby, manager, Alexander the Great, who pitched the winning game against the Yanks of Sunday, and Bill Southworth, who, with the bat supported him in the manner to which he would like to be accustomed, were almost torn to pieces by the crowd.

Hornsby was presented with a shiny new special-built Lincoln sedan—the gift of St. Louis fans, thousands of whom contributed sums ranging from [illegible] cents to $250. In this, accom[illegible]l by his wife and tearful infant [illegible] he rode through the streaming, [illegible] streets at the head of the [illegible] parade the town has seen [illegible] visit made here by President [illegible] several years ago.

The parade lasted for about two [illegible]s. After that the Cardinals vanished from sight—but the mobs and the excitement did not. All evening and into the dawn the celebrants thronged the downtown section, yelling and whistling and blowing horns, sending off toy bombs and snarling up traffic. The Mound City—usually staid and conservative, so I'm told—was wide open. Crap games were held on street corners, and bibulous gentlemen sweetly slept in chairs in hotel lobbies. Taxicabs charged you a small fortune and moved you one foot, six inches, per hour. The police force was augmented by a few self-appointed traffic cops in more or less plain clothes, who did their share and more than their share toward the impediment of progress.

Flags and banners festooned the facades of every building. Assorted sizes of cardinal stickers, red birds perched proudly on base ball bats, were pasted everywhere. A three inch fall of torn paper littered the sidewalks for your feet to shuffle through like leaves in autumn. Every time you opened your mouth somebody tossed confetti into it. Automobiles trailed tin cans behind them and girls beat dish pans with hammers and men pulled solitary sausages along the sidewalks on strings calling them "fido" and humorists of both sexes shot you straight through your palpitating heart with pistols that were loaded with blank cartridges—though you never could be sure they were blank until afterwards.

There was also prevalent a horrible contrivance known as a swatter. A swatter when held in the hand looks like a rolled up newspaper but when applied with force to the human frame it hurts like mad. Your correspondent can speak with authority and eloquence on the subject of swatters. In the process of walking from a taxicab across a sidewalk to the Statler hotel, she was, for no reason at all that she can think of, swatted unmercifully and most impolitely and with such vigor that today she is eating off the mantle piece.

About four in the morning things began to quiet down. People went to their homes or their hotels—if they had them. All the hotels are as crowded as Noah's Ark must have been. The one where I'm staying is so full that a dozen men are sleeping on cots in the basement, with Turkish bath and shaving at the brink of the swimming pool.

Everybody went to bed and slept a little, everybody, what is, except the street cleaners and the thousands of fans who waited in line all night for the bleacher seat ticket widow to open. But nobody overslept.

At half past one o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" rolled out of fifty brass horns over Sportsman's park every one who had a right to be there was there, doing his or her bit toward forming one of the most colorful crowds it has ever been my privilege to see at a sporting event, and one of the noisiest. The uproar of voices, hands, feet, little paper megaphones, cowbells and whistles abated only on the rare occasion when a Yank accidentally got on base and during the fifteen minute rainy intermission. The rest of the time you couldn't hear yourself think. When the Cardinals in the new Vanilla and cherry uniforms took the field, there was bedlam. When the first New York batsman was out at first, there was a hulllaballoo. When Hornsby came up, there was pandemonium, and when in due course of time, four runs were made by the Cardinals against no runs at all for the Yanks—but never mind. I have only a few good words meaning "noise" left over, and something tells me I'd better save those for tomorrow.

Brothers Aid Mount Eleven In Bid For Conference Fame

Dave Armstrong.

Lamar Armstrong.

ALLIANCE, Ohio, Oct. 6.—Two brothers, with widely diversified grid talents, are playing a bang-up game on the Mount Union varsity eleven this season.

Lamar Armstrong, younger of the pair, is captain of the Purple squad. He plays fullback and his vicious thrusts through the line, coupled with his highly educated toe are expected to prove factors in Mount's success on Ohio conference gridirons this year.

Aerodrome High in Alps Planned for Continental Fliers

INNSBRUCK. — An aerodrome 2,000 meters above sea level will be built in a center of the Tyrolian Alps, near Innsbruck. The aerodrome will be built to allow a safe landing place for planes which must make the dangerous trip across the Alps.

With this new haven it is expected that new passenger routes will be established from Zurich to Vienna and from Milan to Berlin, for the Alps have heretofore been the only barrier to the establishment of such flights.

A new road will be built from Innsbruck to the flying field over which a regular automobile service will be maintained connecting all planes with trains.

Of the 225,000 radio receiving sets in Russia many are from the United States.

LUCKY STRIKE "IT'S TOASTED" CIGARETTES

What They Get

You may wonder why Lucky Strike smokers are so completely satisfied.

You may think it's just a matter of habit.

Lucky Strike smokers are getting an extra enjoyment which they have never found before. They are getting the world's choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended—and something more.

They get extra goodness because of an added process—toasting—an added expense in manufacture.

Lucky Strikes offer you:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

Thus the toasting process is an addition. It adds a unique and distinct improvement to a cigarette that has already been made from the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. It is the reason millions prefer Lucky Strikes.

CERAMIC BOOKS STOCK COMPANY

Broadway Successes Will be Featured Next Week.

Kirk G. Smith, advance representative for the Chicago Stock Company, which will hold the stage at the Ceramic theatre all next week, arrived here today.

The Chicago Stock company, which has toured the East for the past 31 years, is the largest and most completely equipped organization of its type and offers a sufficient variety of amusements to satisfy the most blase theater-goer.

Every style of playwriting is included in their repertoire, from melodrama to farce, and capably acted and beautifully staged hits of last season are their specialty.

"The Best People," a comedy drama, from the pen of Avery Hopwood, will be their opening bill. It is a diverting story dealing with the elite of upper Fifth Avenue, as well as Broadway's famous gold diggers, and abounds in opportunity to give every member of the cast a chance to display their histrionic ability.

Following this celebrated play the company will stage "Applesauce." As the title indicates, it is a snappy slangy story of the day and the whole wide world will love it.

The thriller of the week will be offered in "The Gorilla" from the pen of Ralph Spence and it has already enjoyed long runs in New York and Chicago as well as all the larger cities of the United States, and is full of the most amusing and thrilling situations imaginable.

A daring expose of the jazz life of today will be found in Martha Stanley's play, "Dance Mad," which the company will also produce. It is a tale of "Flaming Youth" and how a dance-mad flapper falls madly in love with a young Portugese.

"Puppy Love" is another corking comedy from the pen of the famous Ann Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose," "Puppy Love" tells of the trials and tribulations of two kids who go through everything but war before the culmination of their romance. It had a long run at the 48th street theater in New York.

The sixth and final production to be offered will be "Mama Loves Papa," which had Alice Brady as its star during its Broadway run at the Ritz theater. As the title implies, it is an up-to-the-minute farce.

An American firm is to dredge the mouth of the Magdalena river to permit steamers to dock at the city of Barranquilla, Colombia, instead of discharging cargo eighteen miles away as at present.

SURE WAY TO STOP NIGHT COUGHING

Relief in 15 Minutes—or No Cost

Persistent night coughing is usually due to causes which ordinary cough mixtures do not touch. A remarkable new prescription known as Thoxine, working on an entirely different principle, goes direct to the cause, stops the stubbornest cough within 15 minutes. One swallow is all that's needed. If it fails get your money back. Equally good for sore throat for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Excellent for children's sore throat and coughs. 35c., 60c. and $1.00. At all good druggists.

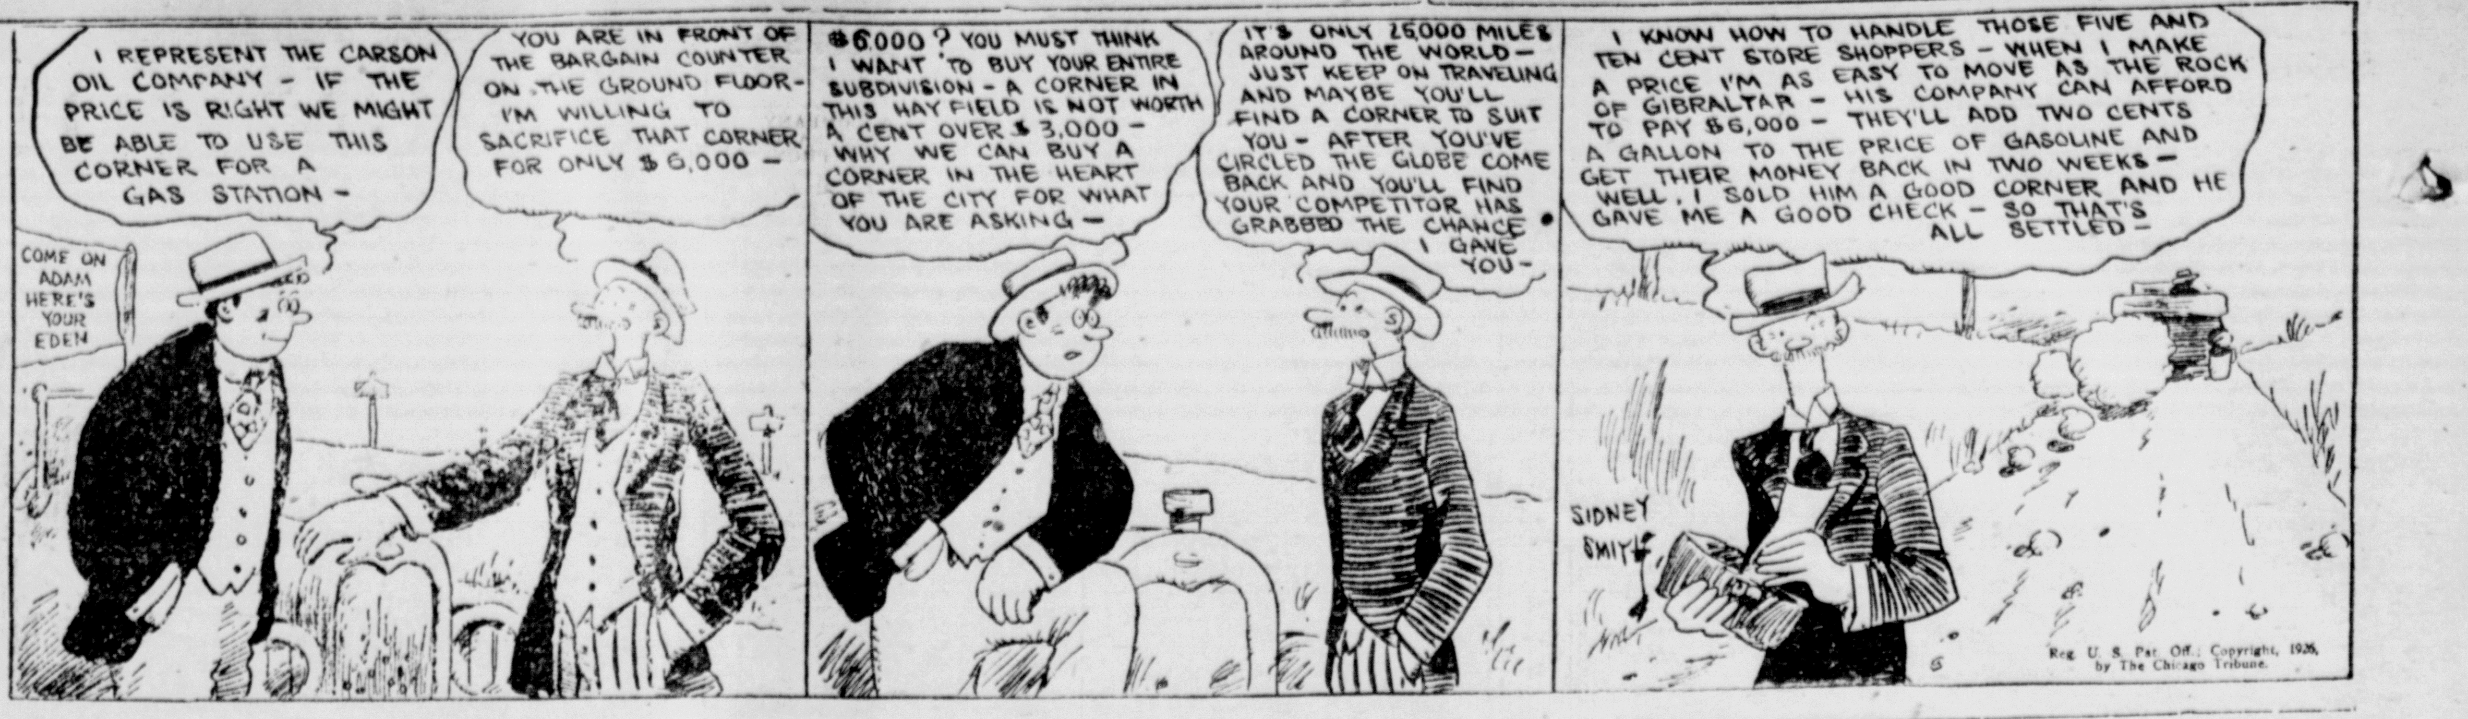
The Gumps

By Sidney Smith



I REPRESENT THE CARSON OIL COMPANY - IF THE PRICE IS RIGHT WE MIGHT BE ABLE TO USE THIS CORNER FOR A GAS STATION -
COME ON ADAM HERE'S YOUR EDEN
$6,000? YOU MUST THINK I WANT TO BUY YOUR ENTIRE SUBDIVISION - A CORNER IN THIS HAY FIELD IS NOT WORTH A CENT OVER $3,000 - WHY WE CAN BUY A CORNER IN THE HEART OF THE CITY FOR WHAT YOU ARE ASKING -
IT'S ONLY 25,000 MILES AROUND THE WORLD - JUST KEEP ON TRAVELING AND MAYBE YOU'LL FIND A CORNER TO SUIT YOU - AFTER YOU'VE CIRCLED THE GLOBE COME BACK AND YOU'LL FIND YOUR COMPETITOR HAS GRABBED THE CHANCE I GAVE YOU -
I KNOW HOW TO HANDLE THOSE FIVE AND TEN CENT STORE SHOPPERS - WHEN I MAKE A PRICE I'M AS EASY TO MOVE AS THE ROCK OF GIBRALTAR - HIS COMPANY CAN AFFORD TO PAY $6,000 - THEY'LL ADD TWO CENTS A GALLON TO THE PRICE OF GASOLINE AND GET THEIR MONEY BACK IN TWO WEEKS - WELL, I SOLD HIM A GOOD CORNER AND HE GAVE ME A GOOD CHECK - SO THAT'S ALL SETTLED -

New Globe Trotting Record Established By U. S. Sailor

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—A globe trotting record to be envied by the most inveterate traveler has been piled up [illegible] F. R. Raleigh, of this city, enlisted man in the United States Navy attached to the U. S. S. Cleveland, now home on furlough.

Raleigh in the last year visited Panama, San Bas Islands, Arica, Chile, Caratagena, Columbia, Bluefields, El Buff, Nicaragua, Puerta Cortez, Puerta Castilla, Honduras, Frontena, Progressa, Mexico, Port Limon, San Jose, Costa Rica and made eight trips through the Panama Canal.

Marketing of Grapes Halted by New Rule Of U. S. Government

CLEVELAND, O.—More than 100 carloads of California grapes are standing on Cleveland railroad sidings awaiting a purchaser. But no purchaser sufficiently brave to defy a federal edict has come forth.

Halt on expected sales is caused by a notice posted by Federal authorities saying that permits to manufacture 200 gallons of grape juice per year for each family have been rescinded and the manufacture must stop.

This order has struck a death blow at the grape market and brokers are offering the fruit at from 75 to 90 cents a crate, after paying between 62 and 65 cents a crate for freight.

CERAMIC BOOKS STOCK COMPANY

Broadway Successes Will be Featured Next Week.

Kirk G. Smith, advance representative for the Chicago Stock Company, which will hold the stage at the Ceramic theatre all next week, arrived here today.

The Chicago Stock company, which has toured the East for the past 31 years, is the largest and most completely equipped organization of its type and offers a sufficient variety of amusements to satisfy the most blase theater-goer.

Every style of playwriting is included in their repertoire, from melodrama to farce, and capably acted and beautifully staged hits of last season are their specialty.

"The Best People," a comedy drama, from the pen of Avery Hopwood, will be their opening bill. It is a diverting story dealing with the elite of upper Fifth Avenue, as well as Broadway's famous gold diggers, and abounds in opportunity to give every member of the cast a chance to display their histrionic ability.

Following this celebrated play the company will stage "Applesauce." As the title indicates, it is a snappy slangy story of the day and the whole wide world will love it.

The thriller of the week will be offered in "The Gorilla" from the pen of Ralph Spence and it has already enjoyed long runs in New York and Chicago as well as all the larger cities of the United States, and is full of the most amusing and thrilling situations imaginable.

A daring expose of the jazz life of today will be found in Martha Stanley's play, "Dance Mad," which the company will also produce. It is a tale of "Flaming Youth" and how a dance-mad flapper falls madly in love with a young Portugese.

"Puppy Love" is another corking comedy from the pen of the famous Ann Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose," "Puppy Love" tells of the trials and tribulations of two kids who go through everything but war before the culmination of their romance. It had a long run at the 48th street theater in New York.

The sixth and final production to be offered will be "Mama Loves Papa," which had Alice Brady as its star during its Broadway run at the Ritz theater. As the title implies, it is an up-to-the-minute farce.

An American firm is to dredge the mouth of the Magdalena river to permit steamers to dock at the city of Barranquilla, Colombia, instead of discharging cargo eighteen miles away as at present.

COME ON ADAM HERE'S YOUR EDEN
$6,000? YOU MUST THINK I WANT TO BUY YOUR ENTIRE SUBDIVISION - A CORNER IN THIS HAY FIELD IS NOT WORTH A CENT OVER $3,000 - WHY WE CAN BUY A CORNER IN THE HEART OF THE CITY FOR WHAT YOU ARE ASKING -
IT'S ONLY 25,000 MILES AROUND THE WORLD - JUST KEEP ON TRAVELING AND MAYBE YOU'LL FIND A CORNER TO SUIT YOU - AFTER YOU'VE CIRCLED THE GLOBE COME BACK AND YOU'LL FIND YOUR COMPETITOR HAS GRABBED THE CHANCE I GAVE YOU -
I KNOW HOW TO HANDLE THOSE FIVE AND TEN CENT STORE SHOPPERS - WHEN I MAKE A PRICE I'M AS EASY TO MOVE AS THE ROCK OF GIBRALTAR - HIS COMPANY CAN AFFORD TO PAY $6,000 - THEY'LL ADD TWO CENTS A GALLON TO THE PRICE OF GASOLINE AND GET THEIR MONEY BACK IN TWO WEEKS - WELL, I SOLD HIM A GOOD CORNER AND HE GAVE ME A GOOD CHECK - SO THAT'S ALL SETTLED -

New Globe Trotting Record Established By U. S. Sailor

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—A globe trotting record to be envied by the most inveterate traveler has been piled up by F. R. Raleigh, of this city, enlisted man in the United States Navy attached to the U. S. S. Cleveland, now home on furlough.

Raleigh in the last year visited Panama, San Bas Islands, Arica, Chile, Caratagena, Columbia, Bluefields, El Buff, Nicaragua, Puerta Cortez, Puerta Castilla, Honduras, Frontena, Progressa, Mexico, Port Limon, San Jose, Costa Rica, and made eight trips through the Panama Canal.

Marketing of Grapes Halted by New Rule Of U. S. Government

CLEVELAND, O.—More than 100 carloads of California grapes are standing on Cleveland railroad sidings awaiting a purchaser. But no purchaser sufficiently brave to defy a federal edict has come forth.

Halt on expected sales is caused by a notice posted by Federal authorities saying that permits to manufacture 200 gallons of grape juice per year for each family have been rescinded and the manufacture must stop.

This order has struck a death blow at the grape market and brokers are offering the fruit at from 75 to 90 cents a crate, after paying between 62 and 65 cents a crate for freight.

11 TO 10 ON CARDS TO LAND TODAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The St. Louis Cardinals were 2 to 1 favorites on Wall street today to win the world's series. The Cardinals are also favored to win today's game at odds of 11 to 10.

Almost Touched Bottom

"The past 4 years I have been going down, down, down with catarrh of the stomach and had to give up work a year ago because of my weakened condition. I suffered terribly from bloating and colic attacks. MAYR'S was recommended to me. I took a course of it and am now feeling fine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists everywhere.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 20 years of study.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

No more RHEUMATISM

But rheumatism will bring pain and misery to your joints and muscles just as long as you are without plenty of rich, red blood in your system.

It's the red-blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build that drive out of your system the impurities that cause rheumatism. And until you do build up your blood to where it is pure and rich and red, you simply can't get rid of rheumatism.

S. S. S. means millions of red-blood-cells—means health all over. No more rheumatism. Nights of rest—days of joy, filled with the happiness of accomplishment — made possible by a body brimful of red blooded life, energy and vitality.

S.S.S.

First!

In most everything in this wide world somebody or something just must be FIRST, if you don't believe it just read on thru this advertisement.

* * * * * * * * * * *

For example, take the recent mixup down Philly way, you'll remember, (especially if you bet) that when the smoke had cleared away that Gene Tunney was FIRST.

* * * * * * * * * * *

Another instance that comes to our mind is the Little World Series as played by Chester and Laughlins. Remember how Chester battled away? But it wasn't their day and Laughlin's were FIRST.

* * * * * * * * * * *

Take our home town and think how much pottery is produced elsewhere yet East Liverpool is FIRST by miles and miles when quality and quantity manufacture of dishes is considered.

* * * * * * * * * * *

And so it goes, case after case, instance after instance, somebody is always FIRST, even in gasoline because it has been proven that MARATHON is FIRST when measured by results and quality.

* * * * * * * * * * *

We will be pleased to tell you about the various tests that have been made which have proven conclusively that MARATHON is FIRST.
